Values and the Rise of the Christian Right Seth Dowland, 2015-10-20 During the last three decades of the twentieth century evangelical leaders and conservative politicians developed a political agenda that thrust family values onto the nation's consciousness Ministers legislators and laypeople came together to fight abortion gay rights and major feminist objectives They supported private Christian schools home schooling and a strong military Family values leaders like Jerry Falwell Phyllis Schlafly Anita Bryant and James Dobson became increasingly supportive of the Republican Party which accommodated the language of family values in its platforms and campaigns The family values agenda created a bond between evangelicalism and political conservatism Family Values and the Rise of the Christian Right chronicles how the family values agenda became so powerful in American political life and why it appealed to conservative evangelical Christians Conservative evangelicals saw traditional gender norms as crucial in cultivating morality They thought these gender norms would reaffirm the importance of clear lines of authority that the social revolutions of the 1960s had undermined In the 1970s and 1980s then evangelicals founded Christian academies and developed homeschooling curricula that put conservative ideas about gender and authority front and center Campaigns against abortion and feminism coalesced around a belief that God created women as wives and mothers a belief that conservative evangelicals thought feminists and pro choice advocates threatened Likewise Christian right leaders championed a particular vision of masculinity in their campaigns against gay rights and nuclear disarmament Movements like the Promise Keepers called men to take responsibility for leading their families Christian right political campaigns and pro family organizations drew on conservative evangelical beliefs about men women children and authority These beliefs known collectively as family values became the most important religious agenda in late twentieth century American politics The Christian School in Secular Society William J. Wilson, 2009-07 William J Wilson The Christian School in Secular Society BOOK SUMMARY In this world according to Scripture there are two distinct kingdoms One is the Kingdom of Grace made up of the people of the light and the other is the Kingdom of Nature made up of the people of this world The Kingdom of Grace is an eternal kingdom with interests that transcend this world The Kingdom of Nature focuses only on this world Schools are powerful instruments that can be used to reflect the interests of either kingdom In a society that has become secularized there is an urgent need for Christians to increase their efforts to promote establish and maintain schools that will accurately reflect who they are and where they are going The Kingdom of Nature has taken full advantage of schools to promote humanistic naturalism The Kingdom of Grace needs to take equal advantage of schools to promote a biblical understanding of life within the context of the highest spiritual and academic standards

Russell Hawkins, 2021-05-13 Why did southern white evangelical Christians resist the civil rights movement in the 1950s and 1960s Simply put they believed the Bible told them so These white Christians entered the battle certain that God was on their side Ultimately the civil rights movement triumphed in the 1960s and with its success fundamentally transformed American society But this victory did little to change southern white evangelicals theological commitment to segregation Rather than abandoning their segregationist theology in the second half of the 1960s white evangelicals turned their focus on institutions they still controlled churches homes denominations and private colleges and secondary schools and fought on Focusing on the case of South Carolina The Bible Told Them So shows how despite suffering defeat in the public sphere white evangelicals continued to battle for their own institutions preaching and practicing a segregationist Christianity they continued to believe reflected God s will Increasingly caught in the tension between their sincere belief that God desired segregation and their reluctance to give voice to such ideas for fear of being perceived as bigoted or intolerant by the late 1960s southern white evangelicals embraced the rhetoric of colorblindness and protection of the family as measures to maintain both segregation and respectable social standing This strategy set southern white evangelicals on an alternative path for race relations in the decades ahead
