Daniel,1998 In the early years the main struggle was to achieve a legitimate place for MBA programs in the hostile universities where the idea of teaching a practical and mercenary subject like commerce seemed to educators nothing short of appalling Once the programs found acceptance moreover business education had to face yet another struggle figuring out what to teach Managers Not MBAs Henry Mintzberg,2005-06-02 In this sweeping critique of how managers are educated and how as a consequence management is practiced Henry Mintzberg offers thoughtful and controversial ideas for reforming both The MBA trains the wrong people in the wrong ways with the wrong consequences Mintzberg writes Using the classroom to help develop people already practicing management is a fine idea but pretending to create managers out of people who have never managed is a sham Leaders cannot be created in a classroom They arise in context But people who already practice management can significantly improve their effectiveness given the opportunity to learn thoughtfully from their own experience Mintzberg calls for a more engaging approach to managing and a more reflective approach to management education He also outlines how business schools can become true schools of management Managers Not MBAs (Volume 1 of 2) (Easyread Edition) Henry Mintzberg,2008 The Executive Way Calvin Morrill,1996-10 What causes conflict among high level American corporate executives How do executives manage their conflicts Based on remarkably candid interviews with over two hundred executives and their support personnel Calvin Morrill provides an intimate portrait of these men and women as they cope with problems usually hidden from those outside their exclusive ranks
