Figuring The Sacred Religion Narrative And Imagination:

Figuring the Sacred Paul Ricoeur, The thought of Paul Ricoeur continues its profound effect on theology religious studies and biblical interpretation The 28 papers contained in this volume constitute the most comprehensive overview of Ricoeur s writings in religion since 1970 Ricoeur s hermeneutical orientation and his sensitivity to the mystery of religious language offer fresh insight to the transformative potential of sacred literature including the Bible Refiguring the Sacred Joseph A. Edelhait,James Moore,James F. Moore,Mark I. Wallace,2024-06-18 Refiguring the Sacred Conversations with Paul Ricoeur offers perspectives on the twenty one papers collected by Mark I Wallace in Paul Ricoeur s Figuring the Sacred translated by David Pellauer this new collection by Joseph A Edelhait James Moore and Mark I Wallace gives Ricoeur scholars an opportunity to reflect and engage on critical issues of Ricoeur s religious ideas Contributions by several significant Ricoeur scholars prompt questions and invite new conversations more than 15 years after Ricoeur s death His life long engagement with texts illuminates his embrace of the Sacred his significant thinking and writings on Religious imagination Theology the Bible Hope and Praxis are all ideas that beg more reading reflection and refiguring of our understanding of Ricoeur Wallace brings two additional essays that could not be included in his original collection and reflects on why they are essential to our understanding of Ricoeur and the Sacred Refiguring the Sacred also provides a model of the interfaith and multidisciplinary dialogue that were foundational to Paul Ricoeur s scholarship Paul in Israel's Story John L. Meech,2006-08-10 It is commonplace that postmodern thought has problematized the concept of the self This poses a particularly sharp problem for Christian theologians for whom the idea of the person as a Christian self must be central In this book John Meech addresses this problem by means of a theological hermeneutics that brings together cutting edge scholarship in biblical interpretation and constructive theology The book comprises three major parts In the first Meech reflects on St Paul s construal of Christian identity in light of what has become known as the new paradigm in Pauline studies This movement identified with N T Wright James Dunn and Terence Donaldson stresses the communal aspects of Paul s thought and his narrative understanding of the self In the second part Meech offers a pivotal analysis of Rudolf Bultmann s phenomenology of the self and its impact on his demythologizing interpretation of Paul s writings In the third part Meech engages Paul Ricoeur s late work Oneself as Another as a guide to the postmodern problem of selfhood and as a heuristic resource for interpreting Paul s writings He does not restrict himself to a textual treatment of Ricoeur s work on selfhood and narrative nor does he stop at an abstract reflection on its significance for theology Instead he explores in considerable detail the contributions and implications of Ricoeur s later writings for biblical hermeneutics and theology Investigating the unthematized hints about community presupposed in Ricoeur s work Meech reconfigures his ontology of the self as an ontology of the self in community Finally he correlates Paul s communal understanding of the I with this ontology articulating a self that is constituted in community but not reduced to a mere locus of community He argues that the community posited in his study can be understood as the community of the living and dead in Christ Paul Ricoeur and the Poetic Imperative W. David Hall, 2012-02-01 This book addresses the thought of Paul Ricoeur 1913 2005 paying particular attention to the creative tension between love and justice as principle themes in his work Dealing with these issues chiefly in his writings on religion Ricoeur explored the tension between the biblical ideals of the golden rule the religious formulation of a principle of justice and the love command Author W David Hall shows how these ideals continually speak to each other in Ricoeur's work how they operate creatively on each other and how each serves as a corrective to the perversions of the other Hall maintains that although issues of love and justice became prominent comparatively late in Ricoeur's corpus they provide a sustained trajectory throughout his work and are an important interpretive key for understanding Ricoeur's intellectual project as a whole "The Eyes of Your Heart" Alison Searle, 2009-04-01 This book develops a theory of imagining biblically that explores the contributions scripture can make to a new way of thinking about creativity reading interpretation and criticism The methodology employed in order to demonstrate this thesis consists of a theoretical exploration of current theological understandings of the imagination and their implications within the fields of literary studies The biblical texts locates the function generally defined as imagination in the heart the eyes of your heart Ephesians 1:18 This book assesses what the biblical text as a literary and religious document contributes to the concept of imagination Due to the eclectic nature of the individual books that comprise the scriptural canon the text is considered primarily in terms of its overarching metanarrative language genres and theological propositions Tracing the various trajectories the biblical text opens up and the ways in which they intersect with and modify post Romantic assumptions about the imagination reconfigures traditional definitions of this concept A Calvinistic evangelical hermeneutic is deployed to establish a theoretical concept of what it means to imagine biblically This is further substantiated by a comparative study of authors ranging from the seventeenth to the twentieth centuries John Bunyan Samuel Rutherford Jane Austen Charlotte Bronte and C S Lewis Each author's chapter incorporates a close reading of a key text which concretely examines various trajectories of imagining biblically including creativity faith morals narrative Romanticism and eschatology The conclusion returns to the biblical text and draws these elements together with a definition of the concept of imagining biblically and its implications for literary studies Paul Ricoeur and the Hope of Higher Education Daniel Boscaljon, Jeffrey F. Keuss, 2021-01-14 The essays in Paul Ricoeur and the Hope of Higher Education The Just University discuss diverse ways that Paul Ricoeur's work provides hopeful insight and necessary provocation that should inform the task and mission of the modern university in the changing landscape of Higher Education This volume gathers interdisciplinary scholars seeking to reestablish the place of justice as the central function of higher education in the twenty first century The contributors represent diverse backgrounds including teachers scholars and administrators from R1 institutions seminary and divinity schools as well as undergraduate teaching colleges This collection edited by Daniel Boscaljon and Jeffrey F Keuss offers critical and practical visions for the renewal of higher education The first part of the book provides an internal examination of the university system and details how Ricoeur's thinking assists on pragmatics from syllabus design to final exams to daily teaching. The second portion of the book examines the Just University's role as a social institution within the broader cultural world and looks at how Ricoeur's description of values informs how the university works relative to religious belief, prisons, and rural poverty.

In Other Words Charles H. Cosgrove, W. Dow Edgerton, 2007-04-26 Foreword by Don Wardlaw This exceptional book by Charles Cosgrove and Dow Edgerton will be a rich resource for pastors wanting to reach their congregations in a fresh way. Rather than discussing preaching in general or even a specific approach to preaching, it focuses on a new way of engaging the biblical text for preaching. In Other Words combines Cosgrove and Edgerton's critical acumen, creative imagination, and pastoral discernment to present contemporizing restatements of Scripture speaking timeless truths in modern speech. In describing their incarnational translation, the authors invite readers to imagine what the text might have looked like if produced in the preacher's own culture, time, and place. Drawing on translation theory, genre studies, and recent hermeneutical theory, they offer both a comprehensive theory of incarnational translation and a set of specific guidelines and examples for carrying it out.

Confessing Christ in a Post-Holocaust World Henry F. Knight, 2006-05-01 Proposes a new model of Christian faithfulness in a post-Holocaust world.

Preaching as Spiritual Leadership Michael E. Connors, CSC, 2021-05-15 In this unique resource, Fr. Michael E. Connors, CSC, gathers and expertly guides the collective wisdom of experienced preachers and homilists to provide a unique resource that examines the preacher's unique role as shepherd and a spiritual leader. The chapters will investigate these dual roles according to the roots of the Catholic spiritual tradition and provide practical advice for priests, deacons, seminarians, in homiletics classes or preaching classes, retreat leaders, RCIA catechists, all who preach. Preaching as Spiritual Leadership provides solutions to the following questions: How is preaching embedded in the Church's pastoral mission? What does it mean to be a shepherd and spiritual leader for others? How can a preacher flourish in the role of spiritual leader? How can we lead others into committed discipleship through preaching? To be a shepherd and spiritual leader, the preacher must be in some sense a mystic who is filled with the Lord's gracious presence, a presence to be shared with others. Homilists are a sacramental people; they must also be mystagogues, ministers who can both lead the community's ritual celebrations and help the People of God to plunge into the liturgy with lively faith to touch the holy realities behind them.

The Identity of Christian Morality Ann Marie Mealey, 2016-03-03 This book argues that moral theology has yet to embrace the recommendations of the Second Vatican Council concerning the ways in which it is to be renewed. One of the reasons for this is the lack of consensus between theologians regarding the nature, content, and uniqueness of Christian morality. After highlighting the strengths and weaknesses of the so-called autonomy and faith-ethic schools of thought, Mealey argues that there is little dividing them and that in some instances both schools are simply defending one aspect of a hermeneutical dialectic. In an attempt to move away from the divisions between proponents of the faith-ethic and autonomy positions, Mealey enlists the help of the hermeneutical theory of Paul Ricoeur She argues that many of the disagreements arising from the Christian proprium debate can be overcome if scholars look to the possibilities opened up by Ricoeur's hermeneutics of interpretation Mealey also argues that the uniqueness of Christian morality is more adequately explained in terms of a specific identity self that is constantly subject to change and revision in light of many often conflicting moral sources She advocates a move away from attempts to explain the uniqueness of Christian morality in terms of one specific unchanging context motivation norm divine command or value By embracing the possibilities opened up by Ricoeurian hermeneutics Mealey explains how concepts such as revelation tradition orthodoxy and moral conscience may be understood in a hermeneutical way without being deemed sectarian or unorthodox

Secularism and the Pursuit of Transcendence, Volume II Stanley E. Porter, Wendy J. Porter, 2025-02-19 We live in a secular age or so we have been told Nevertheless the Christian church strongly believes that we still experience and in fact are surrounded by acts of transcendence encounters with God that often defy imagination and explanation And yet we do try to explain such phenomena whether theologically experientially biblically historically philosophically literarily or even or especially artistically These two volumes are more than just papers from a major conference on secularism and the pursuit of transcendence held at McMaster Divinity College in Hamilton Ontario They contain genuine attempts by people deeply engaged with their secular surroundings to explain what we mean by transcendence Transcendence has been a longstanding topic among the best thinkers of this and previous ages and the same is true for these volumes which include contributions by Charles Taylor Robert Wuthnow Merold Westphal and Christina Gschwandtner but also by a wide range of others who address the question from divergent vantage points The responses vary as much as the orientations of those involved in the pursuit of defining not only what it means to live in our secular age but to be involved in the pursuit of transcendence or even to perceive the Transcendent's pursuit of us

Finding Grace with God Rose Ellen Dunn, 2014-07-30 Finding Grace with God A Phenomenological Reading of the Annunciation engages in an interweaving of phenomenology mystical theology and feminist philosophy to unfold a theopoetic interpretation of the narrative of the Annunciation in the Gospel of Luke It begins with a discussion of the foundational phenomenologies of Edmund Husserl and Martin Heidegger and then moves to the more recent work of several French phenomenologists including Paul Ricoeur Jean Louis Chretien and Michel Henry The interpretation is then expanded through the philosophies of Luce Irigaray Jean Luc Marion and Jacques Derrida Finally the phenomenologies of Maurice Merleau Ponty and Martin Heidegger provide a means to interpret the Annunciation through theopoetics as a text that is infused with possibility Mary filled with grace is beckoned by the divine into possibility responding in grace she in turn beckons the divine into possibility Transgressing the limits of language this possibility slips into apophysis into a moment of Gelassenheit a mutual letting be or releasement of Mary and the divine into a mystical union of love a love that becomes manifest through a gift of life

Is Faith Rational? Wessel Stoker, 2006 Is faith rational Some respond by providing proofs for God's existence

Others hold that no reasons for the Christian faith can be given This book discusses different ways of accounting for faith i e classical apologetics the transcendental view that faith is part of human nature and the view that argues for the rationality of faith on the basis of direct perceptions of God that appear to be objective The author subsequently proposes a rational accounting for the Christian faith in our secularized and religiously pluralistic society His starting point is the lasting religious experience of believers in everyday life He also discusses the question of how this accounting for faith can function in a world of both secular worldviews and other religions Religious experience is not subjective or arbitrary but rational In these experiences human beings are involved with God Religious experience can be described phenomenologically as an experience that transcends our capacities God reveals himself to people primarily in narratives Narratives have a rational structure and the Gospel narratives provide in narrative form arguments for faith The assent to faith involves the whole person and stamps his life story and conduct Assent to faith is thus affective but that does not exclude its being rational The positive reason for faith lies in experience itself There are no reasons for faith outside the faith itself but this does not mean that there are no points of contact in human existence for the Christian faith

Theology of the Old Testament

Walter Brueggemann, 2012-06-01 In this powerful book Walter Brueggemann moves the discussion of Old Testament theology beyond the dominant models of previous generations Brueggemann focuses on the metaphor and imagery of the courtroom trial in order to regard the theological substance of the Old Testament as a series of claims asserted for Yahweh the God of Israel This provides a context that attends to pluralism in every dimension of the

interpretive process and suggests links to the plurality of voices of our time Phenomenology and Forgiveness Marguerite La Caze, 2018-10-05 This book develops and demonstrates in depth and breadth the contribution of phenomenologists to understanding forgiveness Featuring all new material from a diverse mix of philosophical authors the book will be of interest to students and scholars in both phenomenology and moral psychology A Theology of Compassion Oliver Davies, 2016-08-05 The wholesale rejection of metaphysics today has become the test of the postmodern In this groundbreaking volume Oliver Davies argues for a renewal of metaphysics as the language of createdness based not in a return to outmoded concepts of essence but in a dynamic new understanding of ontology as narrative and performance This repairing of the Western metaphysical tradition is grounded both in the divine self naming in Exodus which for the rabbis identified God's presence in the world with God's compassionate acts and in the compassionate resistance of Etty Hillesum and Edith Stein to the violence of the Holocaust Building on a new metaphysics of compassion that is attentive to the histories of the contemporary world Davies offers a renewed systematic theology of divine speech and relation focused in Jesus Christ who as the triadic Word of God speaks creatively at the heart of human culture and action and who as the redeeming Compassion of God regenerates the world The Three Dynamisms of Faith Louis Roy, 2017-12-15 Fr Roy shows how The Three Dynamisms of Faith are lived in today's culture and how they are systematically related sometimes in alliance and sometimes in apparent opposition Having led the reader to a plausible answer to the human condition in Catholicism in his final chapter he discusses some classic issues that result possible tensions between meaning and truth between feelings and insight and about the role of religious experience in becoming attuned to Christian revelation Migrant Spirituality Dorris van Gaal, 2021-01-07 Migrant Spirituality makes visible the migration stories of African born migrants to the USA analyzes their experiences and appreciates them as a source for theological reflection The correlation of these narratives with John of the Cross narrative of The Dark Night reveals that the dynamic between the concepts of vulnerability spiritual humility and God's transformative agency is central to understanding the spiritual dimension of the process of transformation in both narratives Dorris van Gaal studied theology at the Radboud University in Nijmegen She works in religious education and teaches at Loyola and Notre Dame of Maryland in Baltimore MD Her research interests are in Migration Theology Spirituality and World Christianity
