Contrastive Studies In Construction Grammar Constructional Approaches To Language:

Contrastive Studies in Construction Grammar Hans C. Boas, 2010-11-11 The papers in this volume provide a contrastive application of Construction Grammar By referencing a well described constructional phenomenon in English each paper provides a solid foundation for describing and analyzing its constructional counterpart in another language This approach shows that the semantic description including discourse pragmatic and functional factors of an English construction can be regarded as a first step towards a tertium comparationis that can be employed for comparing and contrasting the formal properties of constructional counterparts in other languages Thus the meaning pole of constructions should be regarded as the primary basis for comparisons of constructions across languages the form pole is only secondary This volume shows that constructions are viable descriptive and analytical tools for cross linguistic comparisons that make it possible to capture both language specific idiosyncratic properties as well as cross linguistic generalizations Construction Grammar Thomas Hoffmann, 2022-07-28 What do speakers of a language have to know and what can they figure out on the basis of that knowledge in order for them to use their language successfully This is the question at the heart of Construction Grammar an approach to the study of language that views all dimensions of language as equal contributors to shaping linguistic expressions The trademark characteristic of Construction Grammar is the insight that language is a repertoire of more or less complex patterns constructions that integrate form and meaning This textbook shows how a Construction Grammar approach can be used to analyse the English language offering explanations for language acquisition variation and change It covers all levels of syntactic description from word formation and inflectional morphology to phrasal and clausal phenomena and information structure constructions Each chapter includes exercises and further readings making it an accessible introduction for undergraduate students of linguistics and English language

Constructional Approaches to Syntactic Structures in German Hans C. Boas, Alexander Ziem, 2018-07-09 This book provides a state of the art collection of constructional research on syntactic structures in German The volume is unique in that it offers an easily accessible yet comprehensive and sophisticated variety of papers Moreover various of the papers make explicit connections between grammatical constructions and the concept of valency which has figured quite prominently in Germanic Linguistics over the past half century

Romance Perspectives on Construction Grammar Hans C. Boas, Francisco González-García, 2014-08-15 The chapters in this book show how the different flavors of Construction Grammar provide illuminating insights into the syntax semantics pragmatics and discourse functional properties of specific phenomena in Romance languages such as Castilian Spanish French Romanian and Latin from a synchronic as well as a diachronic viewpoint The phenomena surveyed include the role of constructional meanings in novel verb noun compounds in Spanish the relevance of lexicalization for a constructionist analysis of complex prepositions in French the complementariness of fragments patterns and constructions as theoretical and explanatory constructs in verb complementation in French Latin and

Spanish non constituent coordination phenomena e.g. Right Node Raising Argument Cluster Coordination and Gapping in Romanian and variable type framing in Spanish constructions of directed motion in the light of Leonard Talmy's 2000 typological differences of lexicalization between satellite framed and verb framed languages Exploring Functional-Cognitive Space Christopher S. Butler, Francisco González-García, 2014-08-28 This book intended primarily for researchers and advanced students expands greatly on previous work by the authors exploring the topography of the multidimensional functional cognitive space within which functional cognitive and/or constructionist approaches to language can be located. The analysis covers a broad range of 16 such approaches with some additional references to Chomskyan minimalism and is based on 58 questionnaire items each rated by 29 experts on particular models for their importance in the model concerned. These ratings are analysed statistically to reveal overall patterns of dissimilarity across models. The questionnaire ratings and experts' comments are then used together with the authors' close reading of the literature in detailed discussion leading to a final dichotomous rating for each feature in each model, the results again being analysed statistically. The final chapter presents the overall conclusions and suggests how existing collaborations between approaches could be strengthened and new ones created in future research. Exploring Functional Cognitive Space has been awarded the 2016 prize of the Spanish Association for Applied Linguistics Asociaci3n Espa3ola de Ling3stica Aplicada AESLA for work by experienced researchers.

Changing Structures Mark Kaunisto, Mikko Höglund, Paul Rickman, 2018-05-15 This book is a collection of eleven research articles which altogether serve as a contribution to the study of verb complementation and other constructions, an area of investigation which bridges observations on the spectrum of lexico-grammar, syntax and semantics. In terms of methodological approaches and the types of linguistic patterns examined, the chapters cast light on the subject from a variety of perspectives and the volume is structured in a way that groups the various perspectives under three main themes according to their main focus and/or methodological approaches: namely, the semantic and functional descriptions of constructions, the investigation into the distribution of complementation patterns and the study of innovative patterns in ESL contexts and languages other than English. All chapters in this volume employ data from large electronic corpora where possible: the BNC, COCA, COHA, GloWbE, NOW and newly compiled corpora representing regional varieties of English.

Language-Specific Factors in First Language Acquisition Anne-Katharina Harr, 2012-12-06 A growing number of studies have begun to examine the influence of language-specific factors on language acquisition. During language acquisition, German children from six years on use structures that are similar to those of adults in their language group and also encode all semantic components from an early age. In striking contrast, French children up to ten years have difficulties producing some of the complex structures that are necessary for the simultaneous expression of several semantic components. Nonetheless, in addition to these striking cross-linguistic differences, the results of this study also clearly show similar developmental progressions in other respects, suggesting the impact of general developmental determinants. The Oxford

Handbook of Construction Grammar Thomas Hoffmann, Graeme Trousdale, 2013-04-18 This Handbook is the first authoritative reference work solely dedicated to the theory method and applications of Construction Grammar and will be a resource that students and scholars alike can turn to for a representative overview of its many sub theories and applications

Corpus Approaches to Language, Thought and Communication Wei-lun Lu, Naděžda Kudrnáčová, Laura A.

Janda, 2021-08-16 The studies in the present volume illustrate the current state of the art in the corpus based approach in cognitive linguistics which seeks to motivate linguistic phenomena through the combination of quantitative and qualitative analysis By focusing on language use in different contexts from a variety of perspectives each of the contributions in this volume presents its own unique take on the intertwined relationship between language thought and communication Thus each article shows how a combination of quantitative and qualitative analytical techniques helps shed new light on old issues reflecting the usage based nature of cognitive linguistics and illustrating the explanatory adequacy of corpus based methods Originally published as special issue of Review of Cognitive Linguistics 17 1 2019

Language Contact, Continuity and Change in the Genesis of Modern Hebrew Edit Doron, Malka Rappaport Hovav, Yael Reshef, Moshe Taube, 2019-09-18 The emergence of Modern Hebrew as a spoken language constitutes a unique event in modern history a language which for generations only existed in the written mode underwent a process popularly called revival acquiring native speakers and becoming a language spoken for everyday use Despite the attention it has drawn this particular case of language shift which differs from the better documented cases of creoles and mixed languages has not been discussed within the framework of the literature on contact induced change The linguistic properties of the process have not been systematically studied and the status of the emergent language as a discontinuous stage of its historical sources has not been evaluated in the context of other known cases of language shift The present collection presents detailed case studies of the syntactic evolution of Modern Hebrew alongside general theoretical discussion with the aim of bringing the case of Hebrew to the attention of language contact scholars while bringing the insights of the literature on language contact to help shed light on the case of Hebrew

Frame-Constructional Verb Classes Ryan Dux, 2020-11-15 While verb classes are a mainstay of linguistic research the field lacks consensus on precisely what constitutes a verb class This book presents a novel approach to verb classes employing a bottom up corpus based methodology and combining key insights from Frame Semantics Construction Grammar and Valency Grammar On this approach verb classes are formulated at varying granularity levels to adequately capture both the shared semantic and syntactic properties unifying verbs of a class and the idiosyncratic properties unique to individual verbs In depth analyses based on this approach shed light on the interrelations between verbs frame semantics and constructions and on the semantic richness and network organization of grammatical constructions This approach is extended to a comparison of Change and Theft verbs revealing unexpected lexical and syntactic differences across semantically distinct classes Finally a range of contrastive German English analyses demonstrate how verb classes can inform the cross linguistic comparison of verbs and constructions English Comparative Correlatives Thomas Hoffmann, 2019-05-02 Explores how comparative correlative constructions behave in English and how these change over time and space Conceptual Transfer as an Areal Factor Stefanie Siebenhütter, 2019-11-18 By analyzing conceptual transfer this volume offers new insight in areal linguistics Mainland Southeast Asia unifies great linguistic richness consisting of numerous languages and countless varieties of genetically diverse language families Nevertheless the area is known as a prime example for linguistic convergence Exemplified by spatial reference in Thai Khmer Lao and Vietnamese this study reveals conceptual borrowing due to language contact as an areal defining feature The results from the field based data analysis may help answer what extent cultural impact can be used as evidence for the existence of linguistic areas A speaker's cultural background might have a stronger impact on the choice of spatial language encoding than expected Method and structure of argumentation can provide a model for similar questions addressing the existence of linguistic areas as well as to other cognitive dimensions within the Southeast Asian area under consideration Therefore the study can be seen as a significant contribution to analyze possibly existing conceptual areas empirically and exemplarily Additionally the investigation can serve as an important complement to empirical assumptions of conceptual transfer Space in Diachrony Silvia Luraghi, Tatiana Nikitina, Chiara Zanchi, 2017-08-14 Space is a fundamental dimension of human life and is pervasive in human experience Research on space has highlighted the possible asymmetrical nature of spatial relations Differences in the encoding of goals and sources of motion are a case in point and cross linguistic coding tendencies show that path is less frequently flagged by a dedicated case than goal source origin and static location locative Interestingly such asymmetries may correlate with certain types of landmark as in the case of toponyms or of animate entities Even though these issues have been focused upon both in typological and psycholinguistic research they remain largely open The papers in this collection aim to show that a diachronic approach may shed light on the way in which asymmetries in the space domain come about over time thus contributing to the clarification of synchronically puzzling facts Language Contact and the Development of Modern Hebrew, 2015-11-16 Language Contact and the Development of Modern Hebrew is a first rigorous attempt by scholars of Hebrew to evaluate the syntactic impact of the various languages with which Modern Hebrew was in contact during its formative years Twenty four different innovative syntactic constructions of Modern Hebrew are analysed and shown to originate in previous stages of Hebrew which since the third century CE solely functioned as a scholarly and liturgical language The syntactic changes in the constructions are traced to the native languages of the first Modern Hebrew learners and later to further reanalysis by the first generation of native speakers The contents of this volume was also published as a special double issue of Journal of Jewish Languages 3 1 2 2015 Contributors are Vera Agranovsky Chanan Ariel Elitzur Bar Asher Siegal Miri Bar Ziv Isaac Bleaman Nora Boneh Edit Doron Keren Dubnov Itamar Francez Roey Gafter Ophira Gamliel Yehudit Henshke Uri Horesh Olga Kagan Samir Khalaily Irit Meir Yishai Neuman Abed al

Simon-Vandenberg, 2022-05-16 Building on the first volume in the Studies in Pragmatics series which clearly set out the differences and similarities in approaches to discourse markers Pragmatic Markers in Contrast continues the debate through offering a unique and thorough examination of the methods and theories for studying pragmatic markers cross linguistically As a result of internationalisation and new developments in linguistics there has been an increasing interest in cross linguistic studies Aijmer and Simon Vandenberg have assembled experts in this field to explore the comparison of pragmatic markers across languages in order to offer important insights into the similarities and differences between languages Contrastive studies can also shed more light on the pragmatic and discourse functions that pragmatic markers fulfil in the languages compared Another issue is to what extent pragmatic markers which have evolved from the same lexical source have developed similar functions in different languages An impressively large number of different approaches are represented in this volume as well as a wide range of languages including English Swedish Spanish Dutch German French Norwegian and Solv a dialect of Finland Swedish
