Report of the National Reading Panel : Teaching Children to Read : an Evidence-based Assessment of the Scientific Research Literature on Reading and Its Implications for Reading Instruction National Reading Panel (U.S.),2000 Report of the National Reading Panel : Teaching Children to Read : an Evidence-based Assessment of the Scientific Research Literature on Reading and Its Implications for Reading Instruction : Reports of the Subgroups National Reading Panel (U.S.),2000 In 1997 Congress asked the Director of the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development NICHD in consultation with the Secretary of Education to convene a national panel to assess the status of research based knowledge including the effectiveness of various approaches to teaching children to read The panel was charged with providing a report that should present the panel s conclusions an indication of the readiness for application in the classroom of the results of this research and if appropriate a strategy for rapidly disseminating this information to facilitate effective reading instruction in the schools p 1 1 Academic and Behavior Supports for At-Risk Students Melissa Stormont,Wendy M. Reinke,Keith C. Herman,Erica S. Lembke,2012-02-17 This user friendly volume provides evidence based tools for meeting the needs of the approximately 15% of K to 6 students who would benefit from more support than is universally offered to all students but do not require intensive individualized intervention With a unique focus on small group interventions for both academic and behavioral difficulties the book addresses externalizing behavior internalizing behavior reading and mathematics Step by step guidelines are presented for screening selecting interventions and progress monitoring Ways to involve families and ensure that practices are culturally responsive are described In a convenient large size format the book includes more than 20 reproducible handouts and forms This book is in The Guilford Practical Intervention in the Schools Series edited by Sandra M Chafouleas SYSTEMATIC INSTRUCTION IN READING FOR SPANISH-SPEAKING STUDENTS Elva Duran,2013-04-01 Students whose first language is not English are the fastest growing group in public schools in all regions of the United States Almost 10 million children between the ages of five and 17 live in the homes and communities in which a language other than English is spoken and presently most schools in the U S are under educating many English learners The achievement of Hispanic students needs to improve dramatically over the next five years and this book describes the cornerstone elements for bringing about this change The initial chapter introduces direct instruction to be used with reading and literacy programs Chapters 2 and 3 provide excellent review of the literature in language development and address developing language instruction listening and speaking with Spanish speaking students and offers what a comprehensive language development program should look like Chapter 4 reviews academic language and literacy instruction while the next addresses the components of instruction in Spanish Chapter 6 offers lesson plan suggestions for Spanish speaking students while the following two sections discuss components that transfer and do not transfer in Spanish to English reading instruction Chapter 9 reviews English language development and provides lesson plans for implementing SDAIE programs Finally Chapter 10 discusses two way bilingual immersion and shares actual classroom schedules and lessons This unique text will help in the preparation of primary grade teachers throughout the U S so that they may be successful with Hispanic students entering the public schools with little or no English background It will also be a useful tool for school districts staff development in addressing school improvement goals for increasing the achievement of Hispanic students Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading Peter

Afflerbach,2015-08-11 The central unifying theme of this state of the art contribution to research on literacy is its rethinking and reconceptualization of individual differences in reading Previous research focused on cognitive components of reading signaled the need for ongoing work to identify relevant individual differences in reading to determine the relationships of individual differences to reading development and to account for interactions among individual differences Addressing developments in each of these areas this volume also describes affective individual differences and the environments in which individual differences in reading may emerge operate interact and change The scant comprehensive accounting of individual differences in reading is reflected in the nature of reading instruction programs today the outcomes that are expected from successful teaching and learning and the manner in which reading development is assessed An important contribution of this volume is to provide prima facie evidence of the benefits of broad conceptualization of the ways in which readers differ The Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading moves the field forward by encompassing cognitive non cognitive contextual and methodological concerns Its breadth of coverage serves as both a useful summary of the current state of knowledge and a guide for future work in this area The Structured Literacy Planner Louise
