Buyers and Borrowers Charles D Emery, Peter Gellatly, 2018-10-24 Learn a practical new approach to some long standing and significant problems that librarians are continually called upon to address such as Is the library reaching its target audience What do shifts in use patterns reflect How often can users be expected to visit the library on the average Can users be identified by category by the way they use the library Author Charles D Emery takes a close look at some methods which can be used to answer these questions accurately Using the analogy of repeat buying which has been shown to follow consistent and regular patterns across a wide range of consumers brands products time periods and other conditions Mr Emery applies the same concepts of research to the investigation and analysis of library use There are remarkable similarities between library borrowing and consumer purchasing patterns Thus not only does the consumer purchasing model provide us with a means of investigating and predicting library user behavior but it furnishes an appropriate mechanism for the more sophisticated analysis of that behavior through the application of marketing concepts such as product mix and brand switching By drawing the comparison between library borrowing and consumer purchasing Mr Emery has identified what library administrators have hitherto lacked a readily accessible corpus of theory and practical example upon which to base a coherent and cumulative body of research into the behavior of library users The results will be useful as input to planning and distribution of resources in matters of budgets services hours personnel and programming      Explaining Buyer Behavior John O'Shaughnessy,1992

This monograph attempts to apply the philosophy of social science to the study of buyer behaviour It encompasses ideas from various disciplines such as philosophy and psychology      Sustainable Consumer Behavior Gerrit Antonides,2018-07-06 This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue Sustainable Consumer Behavior that was published in Sustainability
Occasional Papers ,1984      Occasional Papers - University of Illinois Graduate School of Library Science University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Graduate School of Library Science,1976      Proceedings of the 1998 Conference on the History and Heritage of Science Information Systems Mary Ellen Bowden,Trudi Bellardo Hahn,Robert Virgil Williams,1999
The conference on the History and Heritage of Science Information Systems was held October 23 25 1998 in Pittsburgh pa prior to the ASIS annual meeting The conference papers explored the history and heritage of the nature development and influence of all types of science information systems world wide It was co sponsored by ASIS the ASIS SIG History and Foundations of Information Science IG HFIS and the Chemical Heritage Foundation This was the first conference to explore this topic and this volume will be of great interest to both historians and current practitioners      The eBook Revolution Kate Sheehan,2013-01-03 The book ecosystem is radically changing and libraries must change with it This book tackles the controversial discussion about eBooks and explores librarian driven solutions and visions for the future of libraries in the 21st century The eBook Revolution A Primer for Librarians on the Front Lines is exactly what its title promises an essential resource for librarians facing the formidable task of coordinating the library wide transition to eBooks and fielding questions from patrons about eBooks on a daily basis After an introduction that covers the basics of eBooks and current eBook technology the author puts things into perspective documenting the changes that have occurred over the past decade She also delves into important eBook issues identifying librarian driven solutions and providing glimpses of what libraries in the near future will likely be like The book examines perennially critical issues such as accessibility resource sharing and the digital divide within the context of eBook technology and provides a clear framework for discussing eBooks thereby enabling readers to make informed decisions regarding their own organizations      Youth Information-seeking Behavior II Mary K. Chelton,Colleen Cool,2007 Presents an historical overview of the literature on children s use and understanding of electronic information systems      Choice ,2009      Patron-Driven Acquisitions David A. Swords,2011-10-27 About 40 percent of the books academic libraries purchase in traditional ways never circulate and another 40 percent circulate fewer than three times By contrast patron driven acquisition allows a library to borrow or buy books only when a patron needs them In a typical workflow the library imports bibliographic records into its catalogue at no cost When a patron finds a patron driven record in the course of research a short term loan can allow him to borrow the book and the transaction charge to the library will be a small percentage of the list price Typically a library will automatically buy a book on a third or fourth use The contributions in this volume written by experts describe the genesis and brief history of patron driven acquisitions its current status and its promise

Contemporary Marketing and Consumer Behavior John F. Sherry, 1995-05-02

Scholarly and extensively footnoted the book is meant to be used as a sourcebook for anthropological research. The book's primary audience should be marketing and anthropology researchers and graduate students, faculty and researchers. P. G. Kishel in Choice As a business person responsible for the development of advertising strategies and advertising campaigns, I was impressed with the contributors' willingness and desire to apply anthropological principles to real world problems. John Sherry Jr.'s comment sums it up nicely: Anthropology is a practical discipline anchoring the blue sky thinking; it encourages firmly to the local ground it inhabits. We need to encourage blue sky thinking so we don't repeatedly get the same answers to our inquiries. Anthropologists can help us with these issues. This book gives me enormous hope that applied anthropology will help restore the tremendous value that can be gained through qualitative research techniques. Today in marketing and advertising, focus groups are grossly overused, misused, and underanalyzed. I was encouraged and excited about the authors' discussions of good ethnographies and focus groups that, for example, instead of simply asking respondents whether or not EMF causes cancer, a far more creative and insightful exercise was performed with consumers and then was intensely analyzed by anthropologists. All too often today, qualitative research is carelessly and quickly administered and the analysis consists of a 30 minute debriefing at the end of the last focus group. In the last few years, the need for cross cultural consumer understanding has grown rapidly. This phenomenon makes it imperative that not only must we fully understand the meanings of brands and products to our domestic consumers, but we must know which meanings are transportable to consumers in other cultures. John Sherry Jr.'s book suggests that anthropologists could and should have a major role in cross cultural consumer understanding. Patricia A. Cafferata, President and Chief Executive Officer, Young Anthropologists, as consumer researchers have been a powerful underground force for the past 15 years of innovative marketing. Major companies as well as government and private institutions have looked to anthropologists to help when other research has failed. John Sherry Jr. has collected outstanding anthropological practitioners in this volume and they have written cutting edge chapters on product symbolism, consumer culture, advertising efficacy, and international marketing. The power of this collection lies in the fresh insights to each of these themes and the ability to reframe old problems to re-perceive what it means to live the life of a consumer as we approach the next century. Steve Barnett, Managing Director, Global Business Network, containing original articles and empirical substance. Contemporary Marketing and Consumer Behavior responds to a growing demand for scholarship more tuned to the empirical and practical realities of consumer culture. Written by leading anthropologists who specialize in marketing and consumer research, it is intended as a sourcebook for readers interested in consumption and its managerial consequences. The topics and their treatments run a gamut of concerns including elements of the marketing mix such as goods and services, advertising and promotion, relationship management, managerial intervention, and development, class and gender linked consumer behaviors, and the production of consumption. Anthropological perspectives and methods employed by the authors range from materialistic to semiotic and both qualitative and quantitative methods are employed Contributors range across time space and topics in pursuit of understanding The result is a multifaceted perspective of marketing and consumer behavior Also the remarks of eminent senior Fellows of the Association for Consumer Research who have drawn upon anthropology to make their own seminal contributions to a number of disciplines punctuate this exceptional volume A remarkable and extraordinary text Contemporary Marketing and Consumer Behavior is ideal for scholars students and professionals in marketing cultural studies gender studies psychology sociology anthropology and communication

Innovations in the Designing and Marketing of Information Services Jesubright, John Jeyasekar, Saravanan, P, 2019-11-29 Compounded with the emergence of information technology information services have become more complex In order to break the bottleneck in providing information services the information behavior of the user community must be studied and library staff must be effectively trained to identify adapt and satisfy the information needs of every type of information seeker Innovations in the Designing and Marketing of Information Services provides emerging research exploring the theoretical and practical aspects of improving and expanding information resources and services in a cost effective way and enables librarians to plan and present information services for the betterment of civil society Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as e resources knowledge ethics and user friendly technology this book is ideally designed for librarians information scientists behavioral scientists information technologists marketers marketing executives academicians researchers and students

Library Data Darby Orcutt, 2009-11-19 Numerical evidence is everywhere and how best to handle and leverage it is a growing concern in the academic world in general and the academic library world in particular Libraries are not only storehouses and key contacts for library patrons in accessing numbers but are also collectors and users of their own data which is integral to the functioning of the library itself The essays in Library Data Empowering Practice and Persuasion focus on interpreting and using library generated and outside data in support of data driven practice and data strengthened persuasion The collection includes such topics as how to make data presentations appealing and effective applying capital budgeting models to libraries and using data for evaluation and improvement of collections and services Articles also cover specialized scenarios including reference collection development serial acquisitions institutional repositories web site design interlibrary loan and bibliographic instruction
