Consuming the Romantic Utopia Eva Illouz, 2023-04-28 To what extent are our most romantic moments determined by the portrayal of love in film and on TV Is a walk on a moonlit beach a moment of perfect romance or simply a simulation of the familiar ideal seen again and again on billboards and movie screens In her unique study of American love in the twentieth century Eva Illouz unravels the mass of images that define our ideas of love and romance revealing that the experience of true love is deeply embedded in the experience of consumer capitalism Illouz studies how individual conceptions of love overlap with the world of clichés and images she calls the Romantic Utopia This utopia lives in the collective imagination of the nation and is built on images that unite amorous and economic activities in the rituals of dating lovemaking and marriage Since the early 1900s advertisers have tied the purchase of beauty products sports cars diet drinks and snack foods to success in love and happiness Illouz reveals that ultimately every cliché of romance from an intimate dinner to a dozen red roses is constructed by advertising and media images that preach a democratic ethos of consumption material goods and happiness are available to all Engaging and witty Illouz's study begins with readings of ads songs films and other public representations of romance and concludes with individual interviews in order to analyze the ways in which mass messages are internalized Combining extensive historical research interviews and postmodern social theory Illouz brings an impressive scholarship to her fascinating portrait of love in America To what extent are our most romantic moments determined by the portrayal of love in film and on TV Is a walk on a moonlit beach a moment of perfect romance or simply a simulation of the familiar ideal seen again and again on billboards and movie screens Consuming the Romantic Utopia Eva Illouz, 1997

The study begins with readings of ads songs films and other public representations of romance and concludes with individual interviews in order to analyze the ways in which mass messages are internalized Love and the Politics of Intimacy

Stanislava Dikova, Wendy McMahon, Jordan Savage, 2023-01-12 Love and the Politics of Intimacy articulates the concept of love within the relationship between the intimate and the social rethinking how intimacy is conceived and experienced in the context of 21st century neoliberalism Reflecting on experiences of intimate romantic and sexual love and the role of individual identity these essays explore historical trajectories that have culminated in particular contemporary experiences of intimate love Politically this work links identity and articulation of the self to liberatory practices in the arenas of friendship romance and sex This interdisciplinary exploration of what love means in the 21st century incorporates academic writing and original creative work from established and emerging scholars around the globe Essays from across the humanities and social sciences including literary studies sociology psychology philosophy and gender studies interrogate the role of relational intimacy on topics of Love and Romance Love and Liberation and Love and Technologies of Intimacy The volume looks at the past present and future in search of inspiration for transforming and re charting the pathways of love seeking a more diverse and emancipatory model of social life and what it would take to restore love to social and institutional spaces

Love and the Politics of Care Stanislava Dikova, Wendy McMahon, Jordan Savage, 2022-11-03 This edited volume offers a contemporary rethinking of the relationship between love and care in the context of neoliberal practices of professionalization and work Each of the book's three sections interrogates a particular site of care where the affective political legal and economic dimensions of care intersect in challenging ways These sites are located within a variety of institutionally managed contexts such as the contemporary university the theatre hall the prison complex the family home the urban landscape and the care industry The geographical spread of the case studies stretches across India Vietnam Sweden Brazil South Africa the UK and the US and provides broad coverage that crosses the divide between the Global North and the Global South To address this transnational interdisciplinary field of study the collection utilises insights from across the humanities and social sciences and includes contributions from literature sociology cultural and media studies philosophy feminist theory theatre art history and education These inquiries build on a variety of conceptual tools and research methods from data analysis to psychoanalytic reading Love and the Politics of Care delivers an attentive and widely relevant examination of the politics of care and makes a compelling case for an urgent reconsideration of the methods that currently structure and regulate it

Love Letters Michelle Janning, 2018-06-14 In today's world of Tinder and texting do we write and save love letters anymore Are we more likely to save a screenshot of a text exchange or a box of paper letters from a lover How might these different ways to store a love letter make us feel Sociologist Michelle Janning's Love Letters Saving Romance in the Digital Age offers a new twist on the study of love letters what people do with them and whether digital or paper format matters Through stories a rich review of past research and her own survey findings Janning uncovers whether and how people from different groups including gender and age approach their love letter curatorial practices in an era when digitization of communication is nearly ubiquitous She investigates the importance of space and time showing how our connection to the material world and our attraction to nostalgia matter in actions as seemingly small and private as saving storing stumbling upon or even burning a love letter Janning provides a framework for understanding why someone may prefer digital or paper love letters and what that preference says about a person's access and attachment to powerful cultural values such as individualization taking time in a hectic world longevity privacy and keeping cherished things in a safe place Ultimately Janning contends the cultural values that tell us how romantic love should be defined are more powerful than the format our love letters take Love in Contemporary British Drama Korbinian Stöckl, 2021-01-18 Despite the recent turn to affects and emotions in the humanities and despite the unceasing popularity of romantic and erotic love as a motif in fictional works of all genres the subject has received surprisingly little attention in academic studies of contemporary drama Love in Contemporary British Drama reflects the appeal of love as a topic and driving force in dramatic works with in depth analyses of eight pivotal plays from the past three decades Following an interdisciplinary and historical approach the study collects and condenses theories of love from philosophy and sociology to derive persisting discourses and to examine their reoccurrence and transformation in contemporary plays Special emphasis is put on narratives of love's compensatory function and precariousness and on how modifications of these narratives epitomise the peculiarities of emotional life in the social and cultural context of the present Based on the assumption that drama is especially inclined to draw on shared narratives for representations of love the book demonstrates that love is both a window to remnants of the past in the present and a proper subject matter for drama in times in which the suitability of the dramatic form has been questioned After "Happily Ever After" Maria San Filippo, 2021-05-18 This volume is intended for all readers with an interest in film media and gender studies Dissent with Love Parul Bhandari, 2024-08-30 This book presents a unique rendering of love in South Asia by reading love through the specific lens of dissent It presents multiple articulations of dissenting love in contemporary South Asia including negotiations with parents to assert choice of partner migration elopement live in relationships singlehood new ideas of masculinities and embracing diverse sexual identities It studies these forms of dissent in the context of changing legal discourses impact of media in everyday life and transforming social attitudes As such this book is the first of its kind to analyse the myriad ways in which love and dissent constitute each other shaping the social political and cultural mores and movements of South Asia The contributions are based on ethnographic research cutting across diverse religious ethnic and gender and sexual identities of South Asia Part of the Social Movements and Transformative Dissent series this book will be of interest to students and researchers of sociology anthropology history geography political science gender studies and media studies It will also appeal to academics who study South Asia with a special focus on love intimacy sexuality marriage migration history politics and media Emotions in Culture and Everyday Life Michael Hviid Jacobsen, 2022-08-15 This volume describes and analyses a series of emotions prevalent in everyday life and culture with each chapter exploring the main facets of a particular emotion and considering the ways in which it manifests itself in and informs our culture and lives. Considering our expression, conception, management and sanctioning of emotions and the ways in which these have changed over time as well as the ways in which we can theorise particular emotional states, authors ask how certain emotions are linked to culture and society and what roles they play in politics and contemporary life. With examples and case studies taken from research into media culture and social life, Emotions in Culture and Everyday Life will appeal to scholars of sociology, anthropology, psychology, media and cultural studies and philosophy with interests in the emotions.

African-Australian Marriage Migration Henrike A. Hoogenraad, 2021-09-13. In African Australian Marriage Migration: An Ethnography of Unhappiness, Henrike A. Hoogenraad follows journeys of marriage migration among African Australian couples. The study narrates these journeys as happiness projects since for cross-border couples happiness is connected to dreams for a life-long partnership that begins with the visa application. Yet happiness is invoked as an aspired state rather than an achieved goal. The obstacles of government bureaucracy, institutional and everyday racism and unrealistic expectations of romance prevent the hoped-for happy endings. This monograph upsets a scam artist narrative that generalises migrant men and their sponsoring partners and which obscures the difficult process of crossing borders both physical and intimate. Hoogenraad's work is a welcome contribution to anthropological literature on marriage migration.

The Communism of Love Richard Gilman-Opalsky, 2020-12-01. Exploring the meanings and powers of love from ancient Greece to the present day, Richard Gilman-Opalsky argues that what is called love by the best thinkers who have approached the subject is in fact the beating heart of communism understood as a way of living, not as a form of government. Along the way he reveals with clarity that the capitalist way of assigning value to things is incapable of appreciating what humans value most. Capitalism cannot value the experiences and relationships that make our lives worth living and can only destroy love by turning it into a commodity. The Communism of Love follows the struggles of love in different contexts of race, class, gender and sexuality and shows how the aspiration for love is as close as we may get to a universal communist aspiration.

Love in Contemporary Cinema Benjamín de la Pava Vélez, 2021-07-18. This book looks at social representations of romantic love as portrayed in films and interpreted by their audiences, using cinema as a means for analysing the state of romantic love today and the touchpoints and disconnects between its representation on screen and the lived experiences of film audiences. Through a media sociology lens, the book draws on analysis of five contemporary romantic films and the meanings brought to and made from them by socially and economically diverse audiences. Employing both textual analysis and primary interviews, the book contests overly pessimistic perspectives on modern intimacy while acknowledging and exploring some of the challenges, woes and changes that romantic love is experiencing in late capitalism. Concerns and debates over monogamy, the teleology of romantic love and the division of labour in relationships percolate in this book's examination of how audiences' responses to these films reflect their attitudes and expectations regarding romantic love. This book will have great resonance for scholars and students of not just film studies and media studies but also audience studies media sociology philosophy gender and sexuality

Love and Intimacy in Contemporary Society Ann Brooks, 2019-12-06 Love and Intimacy in Contemporary Society reflects on relationships in contemporary society and the role of love and intimacy in framing lives The book draws on sociological perspectives cultural sociology and gender theory perspectives It looks at how love and intimacy is experienced differently and intersected by gender ethnicity race and sexuality This book aims to encourage people to understand theories of intimacy emotions and desire by examining these concepts contemporaneously and cross culturally It also explores how love and intimacy is experienced by young people and how it is impacted by age It looks at its representation in the media and film and focuses on how gender ethnicity and sexuality offer different perspectives on love and intimacy The book shows how relationships are impacted by social networking and new technologies and the opportunities and challenges posed by these new platforms for building relationships Finally the book examines how intimacy has become commercialised in late capitalism and how that acts to change relationships The book is written in an accessible way and explores a range of theoretical debates and contemporary research around emotions which can be useful for undergraduate postgraduate and doctoral study

The Materiality of Love Anna Malinowska, Michael Gratzke, 2017-09-27 Drawing on love studies and research in material cultures this book seeks to re-examine love through materiality studies especially their recent incarnations new materialism and object oriented philosophy to spark a debate on the relationship between love objects and forms of materializing affection It focuses on love as a material form and traces connections between feelings and materiality especially in relation to the changing notion of the material as marked by digital culture as well as the developments in understanding the nature of non human affect It provides insight into how materiality in its broadest sense impacts the understanding of the meanings and practices of love today and reversely how love contributes to the production and transformation of the material world

Queering Desire Róisín Ryan-Flood, Amy Tooth Murphy, 2024-04-05 Queering Desire explores with unprecedented interdisciplinary scope contemporary configurations of lesbian bi queer women's and non binary people's experiences of identity and desire Taking an intersectional feminist and trans inclusive approach and incorporating new and established identities such as non binary masculine of centre MOC butch and femme this collection examines how the changing landscape for gender and sexual identities impacts on queer culture in productive and transformative ways Within queer studies explorations of desire longing and eroticism have often neglected AFAB transfeminine and non binary people's experiences Through 25 newly commissioned chapters a diverse range of authors from early career researchers to established scholars stage conversations at the cutting edge of sexuality studies Queering Desire advances our understanding of contemporary lesbian and queer desire from an inclusive perspective that is supportive of trans and non binary identities This innovative interdisciplinary collection is an excellent resource for scholars undergraduate and postgraduate students interested in gender sexuality and identity across a range of fields such as queer studies feminist theory anthropology media studies sociology psychology history and social theory In foregrounding female and non binary experiences this book constitutes a timely intervention Love and Society Swen Seebach,2017-04-21 Why does love matter Love and Society discusses the meaning and importance of love for contemporary society Love is not only an emotion that occurs in our intimate relationships it is a special emotion that allows us to relate to each other in a lasting fashion to create out of our individual pasts a shared past which enables us to project a shared future Bringing together the idea of Simmel s second order forms with theories of love this insightful volume shows that the answer to why love is so central to society can be found in the social transformation of the last two centuries It also explains how we can build our strongest social bonds on the fragility of an emotions thanks to the creation of special moments love rituals and intimate stories love myths that are central to the weaving of lasting social bonds Going to the cinema reading a book together or sharing songs are forms of weaving bonds of love and part of the cycle of love But love is not only shared between two people the desire and the search for love is something we share with almost all members of society With rich empirical data an analysis of love s transformation in modernity and a critical engagement with classical and contemporary theorists this book provides a lively discussion on the meaning and importance of love for today s society It will be of interest to undergraduate and postgraduate students and postdoctoral researchers who are interested in fields such as Sociology of Emotions Sociological Theory and Sociology of Morality Rethinking Fiction after the 2007/8 Financial Crisis Mirosław Aleksander Miernik,2021-03-31 This book provides insight into the impact the 2007 8 financial crisis and subsequent Great Recession had on American fiction Employing an interdisciplinary approach which combines literary studies with anthropology economics sociology and psychology the author attempts to gauge the changes that the crisis facilitated in the American novel Focusing on four books Elizabeth Strout s My Name Is Lucy Barton Philipp Meyer s American Rust Sophie McManus s The Unfortunates and William Gibson s The Peripheral the study traces how they present such issues as poverty wealth equality distinction opportunity and how they relate both to traditional criticisms of consumer culture and the US economy particularly those issues that have received more attention as a result of the crisis It also tackles the issue of genre and interpretation in this period as well as what methods the analyzed novels employ in order to highlight the decreasing social mobility of Americans Matchmaking in Middle Class India Parul Bhandari,2020-02-01 This book is an extensive and thorough exploration of the ways in which the middle class in India select their spouse Using the prism of matchmaking this book critically unpacks the concept of the modern and traces the importance of moralities and values in the making of middle class identities by bringing to the fore intersections and dynamics of caste class gender and neoliberalism The author discusses a range of issues romantic relationships among youth use of online technology and of professional services like matrimonial agencies and detective agencies encounters of love and heartbreak impact of experiences of pain and humiliation on spouse selection and the involvement of family in matchmaking Based on this comprehensive account she elucidates how the categories of love and arranged marriages fall short of explaining in its entirety and essence the contemporary process of spouse selection in urban India Though the ethnographic research has been conducted in India this book is of relevance to social scientists studying matchmaking practices youth cultures modernity and the middle class in other societies particularly in parts of Asia While being based on thorough scholarship the book is written in accessible language to appeal to a larger audience
