

A Contrast

Thy love thou sendest oft to me,
And still as oft I thrust it back;
Thy messengers I could not see
In those who everything did lack,
The poor, the outcast and the black.

Pride held his hand before mine eyes,
The world with flattery stuffed mine ears;
I looked to see a monarch's guise,
Nor dreamed thy love would knock for years,
Poor, naked, fettered, full of tears.

Yet, when I sent my love to thee,
Thou with a smile didst take it in,
And entertain'dst it royally,
Though grimed with earth, with hunger thin,
And leprous with the taint of sin.

Now every day thy love I meet,
As o'er the earth it wanders wide,
With weary step and bleeding feet,
Still knocking at the heart of pride
And offering grace, though still denied.

Parting Words Justin A. Sider, 2018-11-29 Valedictory addresses offer a way to conceptualize the relation of self to others private to public ephemeral to eternal Whether deathbed pronouncements political capitulations or seafaring farewells parting words played a crucial role in the social imagination of Victorian writing In this compelling new book Justin Sider traces these public addresses across a wide range of works from poems by Byron Tennyson and Browning to essays by Twain and Wilde to novels by Dickens and Eliot Ironically while the Victorian era saw the loss of faith in a unitary national public it asked poetry to address just such a public Attending to the form rather than the discursive content of poets engagement with public culture Parting Words explains how the valedictory allowed Victorian poets to explore the ways their poems might be received by distant and anonymous readers in an emergent mass culture Using a wide array of materials such as letters and reviews to describe the rapidly changing print culture in which poets were intervening Sider shows how the growing diversification and destabilization of the Victorian reading public was countered by the demand for a public poetry Characteristically the speakers of Tennyson s Ulysses and Matthew Arnold s Empedocles on Etna imagine their farewells as simultaneous entrances into a public space where they and their readers however distant might yet meet This new consciousness anticipated modernist poetry which in turn used the valedictory to underscore the futility and alienation of such hopes
