Reading the Architecture of the Underprivileged Classes Nnamdi Elleh, 2016-04-01 The expansion of cities in the late C19th and middle part of the C20th in the developing and the emerging economies of the world has one major urban corollary it caused the proliferation of unplanned parts of the cities that are identified by a plethora of terminologies such as bidonville favela ghetto informal settlements and shantytown Often the dwellings in such settlements are described as shacks architecture of necessity and architecture of everyday experience in the modern and the contemporary metropolis This volume argues that the types of structures and settlements built by people who do not have access to architectural services in many cities in the developing parts of the world evolved simultaneously with the types of buildings that are celebrated in architecture textbooks as modernism It not only shows how architects can learn from traditional or vernacular dwellings in order to create habitations for the people of low income groups in public housing scenarios but also demonstrates how the architecture of the economically underprivileged classes goes beyond culturally inspired tectonic interpretations of vernacular traditions by architects for high profile clients Moreover the essays explore how the resourceful dwellings of the underprivileged inhabitants of the great cities in developing parts of the world pioneered certain concepts of modernism and contemporary design practices such as sustainable and de constructivist design Using projects from Africa Asia South and Central America as well as Austria and the USA this volume interrogates and brings to the attention of academics students and practitioners of architecture the deliberate disqualification of the modern architecture produced by the urban poor in different parts of the world

Design Ecologies Lisa Tilder, Beth Blotstein, 2012-03-20 Contemporary architects are under increasing pressure to offer a sustainable future But with all the focus on green building there has been little investigation into the meaningful connections between architectural design ecological systems and environmentalism A new generation of architects landscape architects designers and engineers aims to recalibrate what humans do in the world according to how the world works as a biophysical system Design in this sense is a larger concept having to do as much with politics and ethics as with aesthetics and technology This recasting of the green movement for the twenty first century transforms design into a positive agent balancing societal values with environmental needs Design Ecologies is a ground breaking collection of never before published essays and case studies by today s most innovative designers and critics Their design strategies social material and biological run the gamut from the intuitive to the highly technological One essay likens window unit air conditioners in New York City to weeds in order to spearhead the development of potential design solutions Latz Partner s Landscape Park integrates vegetation and industry in an urban park built amongst the monumental ruins of a former steelworks in Duisburg Nord Germany The engineering firm Arup presents its thirty three square mile masterplan for Dongtan Eco City an energy independent city that China hopes will house half a million people by 2050 An essay by designer Bruce Mau leads off a stellar list of emerging designers including Jane Amidon Blaine Brownell David Gissen Gross Max Robert Sumrell and Kazys Varnelis Stephen Kieran and James Timberlake R Sie n Studio 804 and WORKac
