Safe Design and Construction of Machinery Elizabeth Bluff,2017-03-02 The origin of this book is the compelling evidence that a high proportion of machinery related deaths and injuries are attributable to genuine and serious risks originating within machine design and construction This trend continues despite significant legal obligations notably the European regulatory regime giving effect to the Machinery Directive among others and a substantial body of specialist knowledge originating in the disciplines of human factors and safety engineering Grounded in empirical research with machinery manufacturers this book aims to elucidate the factors and processes shaping firms performance for machinery safety and considers their compatibility with legal obligations Through a unique blending of rich empirical data coupled with safety human factors socio legal and learning scholarship the book provides both a nuanced account of firms performance for machinery safety and makes conceptual and theoretical contributions to understanding and explaining their performance Specifically the book elucidates the role of knowledge and motivational factors and how these are constituted in shaping firms performance It reveals the multiple state and non state influences that create plural responses among manufacturing firms which typically operate in supply chains and networks and often globally These insights provide the foundations to enhance regulatory design and the book s conclusion recommends some innovative directions for regulatory interventions to sustain the safe design and construction of machinery How to Restore Classic Farm Tractors Tharran E. Establishing residue supply chains to reduce open burning - The case of rice straw and renewable energy in Punjab, India Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2022-06-03 Open burning of crop residues in India is a serious issue that not only impacts human health but is also detrimental to soil health in the long term According to the estimates from the Ministry of New and Renewable Energy about 500 million tonnes of crop residues are generated annually While a portion of these residues is used for various purposes a larger portion is burnt in the fields The problem seems to be specifically severe in Punjab where a large quantity of rice straw is burnt after harvesting rice to prepare the field quickly and cheaply for wheat cultivation It is in this background that the project aimed to support the local government in Punjab and the national government of India to use rice straw productively and avoid open burning Rice straw is a useful resource that can be used in situ to maintain soil fertility as well as ex situ to produce value added products including energy However a key challenge in using crop residues including rice straw is to mobilize it in systematically This report presents a model crop residue value chain that can support the collection transport storage of rice straw which can enable productive uses of rice straw Moreover it estimates the quantity of rice straw produced in each district in Punjab and further estimates the investment needed in developing a crop residue supply chain in the state Finally it also undertakes a techno economic assessment of energy technologies to identify the most profitable way to use rice straw to produce sustainable energy
