Child and Adolescent Life Stories Marguerite G. Lodico, Katherine H. Voegtle, 2005-01-10 The uniqueness of Child and Adolescent Life Stories lies in the multiple perspectives drawn from youth their parents and their teachers These perspectives provide a range of lenses through which a student or beginning teacher may view child and adolescent development The complex processes of development occur within a social context and therefore a professional teacher administrator or school psychologist will need to be able to view developmental stages from youths perspectives as well as from their various social settings

Child and Adolescent Development for Educators Judith L. Meece, 1997 As the title suggests this text is designed specifically for students preparing for teaching or other education related careers It is the only text to date that focuses entirely on the development of school age children and youth and whose examples are taken entirely from schools and classrooms Likewise its topical coverage reflects the developmental concerns of real life educators that is there is a heavy treatment of cognitive language and social emotional development during the school years Child and Adolescent Life Stories Marguerite G. Lodico, Katherine H. Voegtler, 2005-01-10 The uniqueness of Child and Adolescent Life Stories lies in the multiple perspectives drawn from youth their parents and their teachers These perspectives provide a range of lenses through which a student or beginning teacher may view child and adolescent development The complex processes of development occur within a social context and therefore a professional teacher administrator or school psychologist will need to be able to view developmental stages from youths perspectives as well as from their various social settings Teaching Human Development for Educators M Cecil Smith, Carlton J. Fong, Russell N. Carney, 2024-01-01 In an age where the quality of teacher education programs has never been more important educators need a fundamental understanding of human growth development and change at different ages and stages across the life span The present volume draws upon the latest research to help teacher preparation instructors select and convey essential content on human development Such efforts serve to prepare education professionals to work with infants children adolescents and adults across diverse educational settings The chapters included in this volume summarize empirical research that supports the teaching of human development as it applies to PreK 12 and postsecondary settings describe instructional practices used in college courses that are effective for teaching teachers in training about human development and provide a systematic discussion of issues that influence the teaching of human development theories research and classroom applications The contributing authors are accomplished educational and developmental psychologists that have years of experience in teacher preparation Their respective chapters provide insights into the challenges that teachers in training confront in learning about human growth and development and how novice teachers can apply knowledge of human development in their professional practice
