Passamaneck,2011-01-01 Jewish tradition has a great deal to say about morals and ethics in various modern fields of public concern including police ethics In Police Ethics and the Jewish Tradition author Stephen Passamaneck explores three areas of interest loyalty bribery and gratuities and deception Loyalty will always be a part of police culture and administrators are faced with the task of minimizing its abuses Jewish tradition encourages the support of the whistleblower who exposes wrongdoing for the sake of the public good This can sometimes lead to a clash between tradition and the blue wall of silence In the area of bribery and gratuities Jewish law prohibits bribery but modest gratuities may be accepted Tradition allows a given class of persons to enjoy preferential treatment In police culture limits must be imposed on any gratuities Any expression of respect and appreciation must have no relation to the manner in which a police officer performs his or her duties In the area of deception Jewish tradition is very clear that misleading the innocent is morally wrong Police ethics accepts deception in an interrogation to obtain information to protect a life or to recover stolen property Deceptive tactics however have no place in a court of law Jewish legal tradition does not differ from modern western law in this respect This book takes a first look at the idea that Jewish tradition may offer benefit to the evolving world of police ethics Teaching

Criminal Justice Ethics John Kleinig,Margaret Leland Smith,1997 Case Studies in Family Violence Robert T.

Ammerman,Michel Hersen,2000-08-31 Since the publication of the first edition in 1991 there has been substantial progress in our understanding of the etiology and associated features of domestic violence As in the first edition this book elucidates and highlights the complex multidisciplinary issues facing clinicians who work with family violence cases Each chapter combines two illustrative cases with a broader discussion of the issues that are encountered by clinicians working with families that engage in abuse or neglect Policing and Public Trust Eccy de Jonge,2020-11-24 The treatment of victims and complainants by the police is examined in this pioneering new work Case studies based on interviews carried out at the University of Portsmouth s Institute of Criminal Justice Studies in the United Kingdom reveal that victims and complainants are routinely discredited by police agencies Whilst in the United States victims may include anyone subjected to police interrogation particularly those of African American origin complainants across the globe may include victims of rape bereaved families and individual officers The reason why certain victims and complainants are targeted by policing agencies is complex and leads to an investigation into police bias covert practices and one of the most common areas of policing road death investigations Consequently other members of the criminal justice system such as prosecutors coroners and hospital pathologists medical examiners are shown to often corroborate the police s version of events compromising victims rights and the very nature of justice Given recent miscarriages of justice and public relation campaigns on behalf of the police Eccy de Jonge argues that never before has a greater openness on the inner workings of the police been needed to fully support
