

Standard Operating Procedure Checklist

Use this checklist to walk through the steps of creating and maintaining effective and comprehensive standard operating procedures (SOPs) for your organization.

STEP 1: PLAN

- ☐ Identify all stakeholders in the process. This could include managers, employees, and technical advisors; you'll need a wide variety of knowledge and expertise to write an effective SOP.
- ☐ Identify the specific results and/or outcomes you would like to achieve through these procedures.
- ☐ Identify any long-term business goals associated with the SOP.
- ☐ Identify a way to measure your progress toward these goals (i.e. benchmarks, revenues, etc.).
- ☐ Set a specific time period in which you will review and revise the SOP—perhaps annually—and add it to your calendar.

STEP 2: FIRST DRAFT

- ☐ Observe the process from start to finish, and document the steps as they are currently implemented.
- ☐ Consider the appropriate format for describing the process (i.e. flowchart, hierarchical, graphic, etc.).
- ☐ Walk through the documented process step-by-step, describing each decision an employee will need to make and which action will follow in order to achieve the outcomes determined in step one. Don't forget to use visual aids and diagrams to help clarify process order and steps.

STEP 3: READ, REVISE, REPEAT

- ☐ Provide stakeholders with a copy of the first draft and offer opportunities for them to give input.
- ☐ Ask stakeholders to suggest improvements to anything that seems unclear, inaccurate, or inefficient.
- ☐ Encourage all feedback, both positive and negative; this makes your SOP more effective, but stakeholders are more willing to accept changes that they have been engaged in creating.
- ☐ Identify employees that seem especially knowledgeable or tuned-in to the purpose of the SOP; these folks can be great champions of organizational change when rolling out to the rest of the company.
- ☐ Solicit input from a few trusted advisors outside of the organization. By asking more objective parties, you might gain feedback you would have missed otherwise.
- ☐ Revise your first draft, and repeat the process of gathering feedback and process data.
