

CHILD DEVELOPMENT CASE STUDIES

Ashley Rowan
2016

Introduction

The case studies presented in this report are discussed in relation to development across the physical, cognitive and social-emotional domains. The strengths, needs and challenges of each child are examined, in order to identify for parents and carers the ways this information may be used to assist parents and carers in supporting the children to reach their full potential. The case studies are discussed with reference to development theories in relation to teaching and learning, and the learning environment.

Case Study 1: Johnnie

Johnnie is 23 months old, he speaks around ten words clearly and is just beginning to walk.

Cognitive Development

Johnnie is at the end of the infancy, the phase beginning at birth and ending around the second birthday. He may be said to be on the cusp between sensorimotor and pre-operational stages of Piaget's theory of cognitive development, a time when language begins to be used in a meaningful way (Peterson, 2004, p. 107).

From this constructivist viewpoint, mental development in infants may be conceptualised as a process of assimilation, or constructing mental schemata by modifying existing ideas to make them consistent with new information through accommodation. Within this theory, Johnnie falls into Piaget's sixth sub-stage in the growth of sensorimotor intelligence. Occurring between 18 to 24 months, this sub-stage is categorised by increased sophistication of motor action and perception, and the beginnings of symbolic representation.

Ammerman, Michel Hersen, 2013-06-29 The past 20 years have seen the emergence of family violence as one of the most critical problems facing society The alarming incidence figures of abuse and neglect directed toward family members justify this attention For example over 1 million children are thought to be abused and neglected each year Similarly almost 2 million women are victims of wife battering each year Annual rates of elderly mistreatment are thought to be as high as 32 per 1000 population Accurate epidemiological data only now are being compiled on more recently recognized forms of mistreatment such as psychological abuse ritualistic abuse of children and child witnessing of adult violence The pervasiveness of domestic mistreatment makes it a priority for clinicians and researchers alike For clinicians intrafamilial violence represents a formidable challenge with respect to assessment and treatment The etiology of abuse and neglect is multidetermined There are numerous pathways in the development of family violence and these interact and converge in a nonlinear fashion The consequences of family violence are equally complex and divergent Victims of mistreatment can display a variety of physical injuries and psychological disturbances No single psychiatric syndrome or symptom constellation has been consistently implicated in any form of family mistreatment The perpetrators of family violence are equally heterogeneous in their clinical presentations Illustrative dysfunctions in perpetrators include skill deficits substance abuse mental illness and impulse control disorders
