Foundational Practices of Online Writing Instruction Beth L. Hewett, Kevin Eric DePew, 2015-04-15 Foundational Practices in Online Writing Instruction addresses administrators and instructors questions for developing online writing programs and courses Written by experts in the field this book uniquely attends to issues of inclusive and accessible online writing instruction in technology enhanced settings as well as teaching with mobile technologies and multimodal compositions

Designing Web-Based Applications for 21st Century Writing Classrooms George Pullman, Gu Baotong, 2016-12-05 Designing Web Based Applications for 21st Century Writing Classrooms brings together for the first time a group of scholars and teachers who have been developing on their own initiative web based solutions to technical and professional writing instructional problems In industry the perennial question is whether to buy or build but in academia for various reasons buy is rarely an option Individual faculty members do not have the money to pay for software solutions and often their interests are too local or small scale to warrant institutional level involvement In addition the design of commercial applications from vendors typically does not take into account the unique needs and considerations of teachers of writing and often reflects a design ideology quite different from theirs This is why so many writing teachers have turned to open source solutions and in the process of learning how to tweak them to make them more responsive to their specific needs why so many of these teachers have developed programming and design skills Beyond exigency the motivation for becoming proficient at interface and database design comes from the observation that the nature of writing is changing dramatically Text is no longer an object It has become a place of interaction consumers are becoming producers And the work of technical and professional communication indeed the work of writing teachers more generally is becoming increasingly involved in the design and implementation of places of interaction Words have become data texts are becoming communities

Handbook of Research on Writing Charles Bazerman, 2009-03-04 The Handbook of Research on Writing ventures to sum up inquiry over the last few decades on what we know about writing and the many ways we know it How do people write How do they learn to write and develop as writers Under what conditions and for what purposes do people write What resources and technologies do we use to write How did our current forms and practices of writing emerge within social history What impacts has writing had on society and the individual What does it mean to be and to learn to be an active participant in contemporary systems of meaning This cornerstone volume advances the field by aggregating the broad ranging interdisciplinary multidimensional strands of writing research and bringing them together into a common intellectual space Endeavoring to synthesize what has been learned about writing in all nations in recent decades it reflects a wide scope of international research activity with attention to writing at all levels of schooling and in all life situations Chapter authors all eminent researchers come from disciplines as diverse as anthropology archeology typography communication studies linguistics journalism sociology rhetoric composition law medicine education history and literacy studies The Handbook's 37 chapters are organized in five sections The History of Writing Writing in Society Writing in Schooling Writing and the Individual Writing as Text This volume in summing up what is known about writing deepens our experience and appreciation of writing in ways that will make teachers better at teaching writing and all of its readers better as individual writers It will be interesting and useful to scholars and researchers of writing to anyone who teaches writing in any context at any level and to all those who are just curious about writing

Remixing Composition Jason Palmeri, 2012-03-19 In Remixing Composition Jason Palmeri challenges the notion that composition has historically been focused on words alone Looking closely at how past compositionists responded to new media Palmeri shows a substantial history of teachers engaging analog technologies in the teaching of composition long before the rise of personal computers or the graphical web

Girl Wide Web 2.0 Sharon R. Mazzarella, 2010 From social networking sites to game design from blogs to game play and from fan fiction to commercial web sites Girl Wide Web 2.0 offers a complex portrait of millennial girls online Grounded in an understanding of the ongoing evolution in computer and internet technology and in the ways in which girls themselves use that technology the book privileges studies of girls as active producers of computer Internet content and incorporates an international intercultural perspective so as to extend our understanding of girls the Internet and the negotiation of identity      Electronic Collaboration in the Humanities James A. Inman, Cheryl Reed, Peter Sands, 2003-10-03 This volume provides an informed view of how information technology is shaping the contemporary humanities It specifically reflects five ideals humanities scholars with all levels of access are doing important work with technology humanities scholars projects with technology reflect significant diversity both across and within disciplinary bounds using information technology in the humanities is a continuous conversation information technology offers new options for humanities education and just as collaboration changes the nature of any project so does information technology change the nature of collaboration its speed character methods and possible implementations The first to explore new and important ways for humanities scholars to collaborate across disciplines via electronic media this book redefines electronic collaboration presents insightful models of student collaboration provides important models of faculty collaboration with special emphasis on professional development and offers a look at the future of electronic collaboration and the overall future of the humanities Featuring the voices of humanities teacher scholars at all stages of their professional careers the chapters emphasize pedagogy outlining contemporary issues and options Electronic Collaboration in the Humanities speaks directly to anyone involved with interdisciplinary initiatives in colleges and universities such as writing across the curriculum and communication across the curriculum programs and to specific populations within the humanities including literacy and technology language and literature literacy studies professional writing and English education      Posthuman Praxis in Technical Communication Kristen R. Moore, Daniel P. Richards, 2018-01-19 This collection aimed at scholars teachers and practitioners in technical communication focuses on the praxis based connections between technical communication and theoretical movements that have emerged in the past several decades namely new materialism and posthumanism It provides a much needed link between contemporary theoretical discussions about new materialisms and posthumanism and the practical everyday work of technical communicators The collection insists that where some theoretical perspectives fall flat for practitioners posthumanism and new materialisms have the potential to enable more effective and comprehensive practices methodologies and pedagogies      Microhistories of Composition Bruce McComiskey, 2016-04-01 Writing studies has been dominated throughout its history by grand narratives of the discipline but in this volume Bruce McComiskey begins to explore microhistory as a way to understand enrich and complicate how the field relates to its past Microhistory investigates the dialectical interaction of social history and cultural history enabling historians to examine uncommon sites objects and agents of historical significance overlooked by social history and restricted to local effects by cultural history This approach to historical scholarship is ideally suited for exploring the complexities of a discipline like composition Through an introduction and eleven chapters McComiskey and his contributors including major figures in the historical research of writing studies such as Louise Wetherbee Phelps Kelly Ritter and Neal Lerner develop focused narratives of particular significant moments or themes in disciplinary history They introduce microhistorical methodologies and illustrate their application and value for composition historians contributing to the complexity and adding momentum to the emerging trend within writing studies toward a richer reading of the field's past and future Scholars and historians of both composition and rhetoric will appreciate the fresh perspectives on institutional and disciplinary histories and larger issues of rhetorical agency and engagement enacted in writing classrooms that are found in Microhistories of Composition Other contributors include Cheryl E Ball Suzanne Bordelon Jacob Craig Matt Davis Douglas Eyman Brian Gogan David Gold Christine Martorana Bruce McComiskey Josh Mehler Annie S Mendenhall Kendra Mitchell Antony N Ricks David Stock Kathleen Blake Yancey Bret Zawilski and James T Zebroski

Rhetorical Accessibility Lisa Meloncon, 2014-11-30 Rhetorical Accessibility is the first text to bring the fields of technical communication and disability studies into conversation The two fields also share a pragmatic foundation in their concern with accommodation and accessibility that is the material practice of making social and technical environments and texts as readily available easy to use and or understandable as possible to as many people as possible including those with disabilities Through its concern with the pragmatic theoretically grounded work of helping users interface effectively and seamlessly with technologies the field of technical communication is perfectly poised to put the theoretical work of disability studies into practice In other words technical communication could ideally be seen as a bridge between disability theories and web accessibility practices While technical communicators are ideally positioned to solve communication problems and to determine the best delivery method those same issues are compounded when they are viewed through the dual lens of accessibility and disability With the increasing use of wireless expanding global marketplaces increasing prevalence of technology in our daily lives and ongoing changes of writing through and with technology technical communicators need to be acutely aware of issues involved with accessibility and disability This collection will advance the field of technical communication by expanding the conceptual apparatus for understanding the intersections among disability studies technical communication and accessibility and by offering new perspectives theories and features that can only emerge when different fields are brought into conversation with one another and is the first text to bring the fields of technical communication and disability studies into conversation with one another

Online Matchmaking M. Whitty, A. Baker, J. Inman, 2007-03-14 Online Matchmaking examines the joys fears and disappointments of hooking up with people in cyberspace Unlike many other books in the field this collection includes studies by experts from a range of disciplines including Communications Cultural Studies Health Journalism Psychology Rhetoric and Sociology

Why Reading Books Still Matters Martha C. Pennington, Robert P. Waxler, 2017-08-29 Bringing together strands of public discourse about valuing personal achievement at the expense of social values and the impacts of global capitalism mass media and digital culture on the lives of children this book challenges the potential of science and business to solve the world's problems without a complementary emphasis on social values The selection of literary works discussed illustrates the power of literature and human arts to instill such values and foster change The book offers a valuable foundation for the field of literacy education by providing knowledge about the importance of language and literature that educators can use in their own teaching and advocacy work

The War on Learning Elizabeth Losh,2024-02-06 An examination of technology based education initiatives from MOOCs to virtual worlds that argues against treating education as a product rather than a process Behind the lectern stands the professor deploying course management systems online quizzes wireless clickers PowerPoint slides podcasts and plagiarism detection software In the seats are the students armed with smartphones laptops tablets music players and social networking Although these two forces seem poised to do battle with each other they are really both taking part in a war on learning itself In this book Elizabeth Losh examines current efforts to reform higher education by applying technological solutions to problems in teaching and learning She finds that many of these initiatives fail because they treat education as a product rather than a process Highly touted schemes video games for the classroom for example or the distribution of iPads let students down because they promote consumption rather than intellectual development Losh analyzes recent trends in postsecondary education and the rhetoric around them often drawing on first person accounts In an effort to identify educational technologies that might actually work she looks at strategies including MOOCs massive open online courses the gamification of subject matter remix pedagogy video lectures from Randy Pausch to the Baked Professor and educational virtual worlds Finally Losh outlines six basic principles of digital learning and describes several successful university based initiatives Her book will be essential reading for campus decision makers and for anyone who cares about education and technology

Teacher Education in CALL Philip Hubbard,Mike Levy,2006-01-01 This volume addresses the need for a more considered and systematic approach to teacher education and training in Computer Assisted Language Learning CALL in all its forms Technology Enhanced Language Learning Network Based Language Learning Information and Communication Technologies for Language Learning and so on The 20 chapters of the book are divided into five parts 1 foundations of teacher education in CALL 2 CALL degree programs 3 CALL pre service courses 4 CALL in service projects courses and workshops 5 alternatives to formal CALL training The chapters cover a broad range of levels environments countries and languages Rather than simply offering inspired speculation the chapters provide practical information to readers reporting on what has actually been done in a wide variety of teacher education programs and courses around the world In many cases the chapters describe how programs and courses have evolved and include either qualitative or quantitative research or both to inform the structure of CALL courses tasks and activities
