Assessment and Teaching of 21st Century Skills Esther Care, Patrick Griffin, Mark Wilson, 2017-11-07 This book provides a detailed description of research and application outcomes from the Assessment and Teaching of 21st Century Skills project which explored a framework for understanding the nature of these skills The major element of this new volume is the presentation of research information from the global assessment of two 21st century skills that are amenable to teaching and learning collaborative problem solving and learning in digital networks The outcomes presented include evidence to support the validity of assessment of 21st century skills and descriptions of consequent pedagogical approaches which can be used both to teach the skills and to use them to enhance key learning goals in secondary education systems The sections of the volume are connected through a focus on the degree to which innovative assessment tasks measure the constructs of interest This focus is informed by conceptual and methodological issues associated with affordances of 21st century computer based assessment How understanding of the nature of the skills as derived from these assessments can guide approaches to the integration of 21st century skills in the classroom is informed by initiatives adopted by participating countries The guiding questions in this volume are Do the assessment tasks measure the constructs and What are the implications for assessment and teaching in the classroom It is the third volume of papers from this project published by Springer

Test Scoring David Thissen, Howard Wainer, 2001-05-01 Test Scoring provides a summary of traditional true score test theory and modern item response theory related to scoring tests as well as novel developments resulting from the integration of these approaches The background material introduced in the first four chapters builds a foundation for the new developments covered in later chapters These new methods offer alternative psychometric approaches to scoring complex assessments Each of the book's contributors draws from the classic literature of traditional test theory as well as psychometric developments of the past decade The emphasis is on large scale educational measurement but the topics and procedures may be applied broadly within many measurement contexts Numerous graphs and illustrative examples based on real tests and actual data are integrated throughout This multi authored volume shows the reader how to combine the coded outcomes on individual test items into a numerical summary about the examinee's performance This book is intended for researchers and students in education and other social sciences interested in educational assessment and policy the design and development of tests and the procedures for test administration and scoring Prerequisites include an introduction to educational and psychological measurement and basic statistics Knowledge of differential and integral calculus and matrix algebra is helpful but not required

Assessment in Online and Blended Learning Environments Selma Koç, Xiongyi Liu, Patrick Wachira, 2015-03-01 Online and blended learning requires the reconstruction of instructor and learner roles relations and practices in many aspects Assessment becomes an important issue in non traditional learning environments Assessment literacy i.e understanding assessment and assessment strategies is critical for both instructors and students in creating online and blended environments that are effective for teaching and learning. Instructors need to identify and implement assessment strategies and methods appropriate to online or blended learning. This includes an understanding of the potential of a variety of technology tools for monitoring student learning and improving their teaching effectiveness. From the students perspective good assessment practices can show them what is important to learn and how they should approach learning hence engaging them in goal oriented and self regulatory cognitions and behaviors. The book targets instructors instructional designers and educational leaders who are interested in understanding and implementing either summative or formative assessment in online and blended learning environments. This book will assist the relevant audience in the theory and practice of assessment in online and blended learning environments. Providing both a research and practice perspective this book can help instructors make the connection between pedagogy and technology tools to maximize their teaching and student learning. Among the questions addressed in this book are: What assessment strategies can be used in online or blended learning? How can instructors design effective assessment strategies? What methods or technology tools can be used for assessment in online or blended learning? How does peer assessment work in online or blended learning environments?

Computer-Based Instruction in Military Environments Robert J. Seidel, P.D. Weddle, 2012-12-06. This collection of papers is the result of a symposium sponsored by NATO's Defense Research Group Panel VIII in the Spring of 1985. The symposium came into being when it became obvious to the NATO countries that research development and utilization of advanced technologies for training was the best means of increasing both training effectiveness and efficiency. This symposium was the second in a series of three devoted to training. The series was structured to cover all aspects of training. The first series addressed the value of training, the second one dealt with the application of training technologies, and the third and last of the series focused on academic issues concerned with the effect of prior learning on subsequent learning. The fact that a major American publisher has determined that computer based instruction is the technology of greatest interest to the NATO community is not surprising. Advances in microprocessor technology have revolutionized both how and where we train. During this symposium there were a limited number of carefully chosen exhibits to demonstrate the various applications of computer based training techniques. In the following papers you will find both a practical and scientific basis for the way current and future training and training systems should be designed, applied and utilized. We know that training must be done faster and more effectively.
