Ethics And Values In Archaeology:

Ethics and Values in Archaeology Ernestene L. Green,1984 Ethical Issues in Archaeology Larry J. Zimmerman,Karen D. Vitelli,Julia J. Hollowell,2003-04-02 Edited volume exploring key issues in ethics for archaeologists Visit our website for sample chapters The Ethics of Cultural Heritage Tracy Ireland,John Schofield,2014-11-01 It is widely acknowledged that all archaeological research is embedded within cultural political and economic contexts and that all archaeological research falls under the heading heritage Most archaeologists now work in museums and other cultural institutions government agencies non government organisations and private sector companies and this diversity ensures that debates continue to proliferate about what constitutes appropriate professional ethics within these related and relevant contexts Discussions about the ethics of cultural heritage in the 20th century focused on standards of professionalism stewardship responsibilities to stakeholders and on establishing public trust in the authenticity of the outcomes of the heritage process This volume builds on recent approaches that move away from treating ethics as responsibilities to external domains and to the discipline and which seek to ensure ethics are integral to all heritage theory practice and methods The chapters in this collection chart a departure from the tradition of external heritage ethics towards a broader approach underpinned by the turn to human rights issues of social justice and the political economy of heritage conceptualising ethical responsibilities not as pertaining to the past but to a future focused domain of social action Embedding Ethics Lynn Meskell,Peter Pels,2020-05-27 Anthropologists who talk about ethics generally mean the code of practice drafted by a professional association for implementation by its members As this book convincingly shows such a conception is far too narrow A more radical approach is to recognize that moral judgments are made at every juncture of scientific practice and they require a negotiation of responsibility with all stakeholders in the research enterprise Embedding Ethics questions why ethics have been divorced from scientific expertise Invoking different disciplinary practices from biological archaeological cultural and linguistic anthropology contributors show how ethics should be resituated at the heart of rather than exterior to scientific activity Positioning the researcher as a negotiator of significant truths rather than an adjudicator of a priori precepts enables contributors to relocate ethics in new sets of social and scientific relationships triggered by recent globalization processes from new forms of intellectual and cultural ownership to accountability in governance and the very ways in which people are studied Case studies from ethnographic research museum display archaeological fieldwork and professional monitoring illustrate both best practice and potential pitfalls This important book is an essential guide for all anthropologists who wish to be active contributors to the discussion on ethics and the ethical practice of their profession

Metaarchaeology Lester Embree,2012-12-06 An idea of the philosophy of archaeology can best be gained by showing what it is what the issues are who is working in the field and how they proceed Reading Lester Embree s Metaarchaeology provides the best possible introduction to the field since in it several leading archaeologists show how accessible and interesting the current archeological literature is and currently active philosophers of archaeology reveal something of the current state of discussion on the subject Bibliographies have also been developed of the philosophy of archaeology as well as of selected parts of the component that can be called metaarchaeology Finally an historical introduction has been included to show the variety of metascientific as well as orientational standpoints that philosophers of archaeology have had recourse to for over two decades followed by speculation about the future of the discipline within the philosophy of science The Ethics of Cultural Appropriation James O. Young, Conrad G. Brunk, 2012-02-13 The Ethics of Cultural Appropriation undertakes a comprehensive and systematic investigation of the moral and aesthetic questions that arise from the practice of cultural appropriation Explores cultural appropriation in a wide variety of contexts among them the arts and archaeology museums and religion Questions whether cultural appropriation is always morally objectionable Includes research that is equally informed by empirical knowledge and general normative theory Provides a coherent and authoritative perspective gained by the collaboration of philosophers and specialists in the field who all participated in this unique research project

Archaeological Theory and the Politics of Cultural Heritage Laurajane Smith, 2004 This is a much needed survey of how relationships between indigenous peoples and the archaeological establishment have got into difficulties and a pointer towards how things could move forward The Presented Past B. L. Molyneaux, P. G. Stone, 2003-09-02 The Presented Past is concerned with the differences between the comparatively static well understood way in which the past is presented in schools museums and at historic sites compared to the approaches currently being explored in contemporary archaeology It challenges the all too frequent representation of the past as something finished understood and objective rather than something that is constructed and therefore open to co existing interpretations and constant re interpretation Central to the book is the belief that the presentation of the past in school curricula and in museum and site interpretations will benefit from a greater use of non documentary sources derived from archaeological study and oral histories The book suggests that a view of the past incorporating a larger body of evidence and a wider variety of understanding will help to invigorate the way history is taught The Presented Past will be of interest to teachers archaeologists cultural resource managers in fact anyone who is concerned with how the past is presented Indigenous Archaeology Joe Watkins, 2001-01-17 As a practicing archaeologist and a Choctaw Indian Joe Watkins is uniquely qualified to speak about the relationship between American Indians and archaeologists Tracing the often stormy relationship between the two Watkins highlights the key arenas where the two parties intersect ethics legislation and archaeological practice Watkins describes cases where the mixing of indigenous values and archaeological practice has worked well and some in which it hasn't both in the United States and around the globe He surveys the attitudes of archaeologists toward American Indians through an inventive series of of hypothetical scenarios with some eye opening results And he calls for the development of Indigenous Archaeology in which native peoples are full partners in the key decisions about heritage resources management as well as the practice of it

Watkins book is an important contribution in the contemporary public debates in public archaeology applied anthropology cultural resources management and Native American studies The Future of the Past Tamara Bray,2012-10-12 To date the notion of repatriation has been formulated as a highly polarized debate with museums archaeologists and anthropologists on one side and Native Americans on the other This volume offers both a retrospective and a prospective look at the topic of repatriation By juxtaposing the divergent views of native peoples anthropologists museum professionals and members of the legal profession it illustrates the complexity of the repatriation issue Defining Memory Amy K. Levin,2007 Defining Memory uses case studies of exhibits from around the country to examine how local museums defined as museums whose collections are local in scope or whose audiences are primarily local have both shaped and been shaped by evolving community values and sense of history Levin and her contributors argue that these small institutions play a key role in defining America s self identity and should be studied as seriously as more national institutions like the Smithsonian and the Metropolitan Museum of Art Milestones in Archaeology Tim Murray,2007-04-13 This engaging work uses key discoveries events people techniques and controversies to give the general reader a rich history of archaeology from its beginnings in the 16th century to the present The history of archaeology leads from the musty collections of dilettante antiquarians to high tech science The book identifies three major developmental periods Birth of Archaeology 16th 18th centuries Archaeology of Origins and Empires 19th century and World Archaeology 20th century An introductory essay acquaints the reader with the essence of the science for each period The short entries comprising the balance of the book expand on the themes introduced in the essays Organized around personalities techniques controversies and conflicts the encyclopedia brings to life the history of archaeology It broadens the general reader s knowledge by detailing the professional significance of widely known discoveries while introducing to wider knowledge obscure but important moments in archaeology Archaeology is replete with the visionaries and swashbucklers of popular myth it is also filled with careful and dedicated scientists Reader in Archaeological Theory David S. Whitley,1998 This Reader in Archaeological Theory presents sixteen articles of key theoretical significance in a format which makes this notoriously complex area easier for students to understand This volume provides an intellectual history of different approaches to archaeology which contextualizes the complex traditions of cognitive archaeology and postprocessualism on which it focuses organizes theories of archaeology the meanings of things the prehistoric mind and cognition gender ideology and social theory and archaeology s relationship to today s society and politics includes lucid section introductions to each section which provide context explain why the papers are so significant and summarize their key points emphasizes research from the New World making archaeological theory especially relevant and accessible to students in North America Heritage Under Pressure - Threats and Solution Michael Dawson,Edward James,Mike Nevell,2019-09-20 Heritage under Pressure examines the relationship between the political perspective of the UK government on soft power and the globalising effect of projects carried out by archaeologists and heritage professionals working in the historic environment It exemplifies the nature of professional engagement and the role of the profession in working towards a theory of practice based on the integrity of data the recovery and communication of information and the application of data in real world situations Individual papers raise complex and challenging issues such as commemoration identity and political intervention A further aim of the volume is to illustrate the role of professionals adhering to standards forged in the UK in the context of world heritage under pressure Papers also contribute to the emerging agenda developing as a result of the re orientation of the UK following the Brexit vote at once emphasising the global aspiration of the UK's professional archaeological body the Chartered Institute for Archaeologists in relation to the global reach of UK academic practice By implication the volume also addresses the relationship between professional practice and academic endeavour The volume as a whole contributes to the emerging debate on the authorised heritage discourse and provides an agenda for the future of the profession

The Dead and Their Possessions Cressida Fforde, Jane Hubert, Paul Turnbull, 2004 Repatriation of human remains has become a key international heritage concern This extensive collection of papers provides a survey of the current state of repatriation in terms of policy practice and theory

Thinking Across Cultures Donald M. Topping, Doris C. Crowell, Victor N. Kobayashi, 2013-09-05 This volume compares and contrasts contemporary theories of cognition modes of perception and learning from cross cultural perspectives The participants were asked to consider and assess the question of whether people from different cultures think differently Moreover they were asked to consider whether the same approaches to teaching and development of thinking will work in all cultures as well as they do in Western literate societies

Excavation David L. Carmichael, Robert H. Lafferty III, Brian Leigh Molyneaux, 2003-10-22 Excavation is traditionally considered the heart of the archaeological enterprise But it is an activity transformed over the past two decades of increasingly contract based work Carmichael and Lafferty lay out the basics of this brand of excavation for the novice reader in this handy practical guide After outlining the ethical concerns in archaeological excavation and the history of the endeavor the authors walk the reader through the steps of contemporary excavation site identification remote sensing test excavation and various scales of recovery They also deal with the complex issues of human burials uncovered in excavation Written in an accessible practical way Carmichael and Lafferty's guide will be useful to students field school attendees and other novice fieldworkers
