Ethnographic Contributions To The Study Of Endangered Languages:

Ethnographic Contributions to the Study of Endangered Languages Tania Granadillo, Heidi A.

Orcutt-Gachiri, 2022-08-23 It is a feature of the twenty first century that world languages are displacing local languages at an alarming rate transforming social relations and complicating cultural transmission in the process This language shift the gradual abandonment of minority languages in favor of national or international languages is often in response to inequalities in power signaling a pressure to conform to the political and economic structures represented by the newly dominant languages In its most extreme form language shift can result in language death and thus the permanent loss of traditional knowledge and lifeways To combat this indigenous and scholarly communities around the world have undertaken various efforts from archiving and lexicography to the creation of educational and cultural programs What works in one community however may not work in another Indeed while the causes of language endangerment may be familiar the responses to it depend on highly specific local conditions and opportunities In keeping with this premise the editors of this volume insist that to understand language endangerment researchers and communities must come to understand what is happening to the speakers not just what is happening to the language The eleven case studies assembled here strive to fill a gap in the study of endangered languages by providing much needed sociohistorical and ethnographic context and thus connecting specific language phenomena to larger national and international issues The goal is to provide theoretical and methodological tools for researchers and organizers to best address the specific needs of communities facing language endangerment The case studies here span regions as diverse as Kenya Siberia Papua New Guinea Mexico Venezuela the United States and Germany The volume includes a foreword by linguistic anthropologist Jane Hill and an afterword by poet and linguist Ofelia Zepeda

Language Documentation and Revitalization in Latin American Contexts Gabriela Pérez Báez, Chris Rogers, Jorge Emilio Rosés Labrada, 2016-07-11 Up to now the focus in the field of language documentation has been predominantly on North American and Australian languages However the greatest genetic diversity in languages is found in Latin America home to over 100 distinct language families This book gives the Latin American context the attention it requires by consolidating the work of field researchers experienced in the region into one volume for the first time

Dialogue on Dialect Standardization Carrie Dyck, Tania Granadillo, Keren Rice, 2015-01-12 This volume provides a space for the development of dialogue between dialectologists language community activists and other researchers working on the development of orthographies regarding issues that arise during the creation of writing systems in places where there is dialect variation and an absence of writing systems or where there is a writing system for a national language but not for the particular related language The chapters in this volume address two major themes first the imperative for standardization is influenced by many social and political factors including identity age ease of use of the language and familiarity as well as the nature of the language itself The second theme investigated by the authors is the assumption of the value of standardization which in many cases leads to overt or covert negotiations or conflicts in the process of language planning and orthography development These themes are addressed through the experiences of the authors of working with languages and dialects in various parts of the world including Cyprus Poland Canada the Caribbean and Mexico among others The languages examined in this volume include both those for which there have long been writing systems for standard dialects such as Cypriot Greek and Podlachian which is sometimes said to be a Belarusian Ukrainian variety and those for which writing has been only recently introduced such as Cayuga Oneida and Mixean Transnational Southeast Asia Hannah Ming Yit Ho, Ying-kit Chan, 2025-04-19 This open access book presents Southeast Asia as an interesting and conceptually meaningful site to interrogate the transnational paradigm In featuring research from and across different nations in Southeast Asia it asks in what ways Southeast Asia lends itself to nuanced applications of transnationalism and what the wider cultural and collective implications of that might be Instead of viewing the past and the present as oppositional concepts of time a temporal continuum is applied to a time space compression that is fundamental to the workings of the transnational paradigm in the region that we call Southeast Asia The transnational paradigm a conceptual tool encompassing various configurations of transnationalism across disciplines becomes relevant for analysing global cultural flows but not without due consideration of the nuances shaped by spatio temporal trends A paradigm shift in transnationalism from historical connections to contemporary connectivity is afforded by increased mobility and accelerated cultural flows which have given rise to unprecedented economic productivity in the past century and digital connectivity in the new millennium a shift that the chapters collectively explore Relevant to advanced students and scholars across disciplines in the humanities and social sciences focused on Southeast Asia this book is a timely exploration that unpicks and unpacks this long discussed aspect within Asian area studies The Handbook of Language, Gender, and Sexuality Susan Ehrlich, Miriam Meyerhoff, Janet Holmes, 2017-10-10 Significantly expanded and updated the second edition of The Handbook of Language Gender and Sexuality brings together a team of the leading specialists in the field to create a comprehensive overview of key historical themes and issues along with methodologies and cutting edge research topics Examines the dynamic ways that women and men develop and manage gendered identities through their talk presenting data and case studies from interactions in a range of social contexts and different communities Substantially updated for the second edition including a new introduction 24 newly commissioned chapters ten updated chapters and a comprehensive index Includes new chapters on research in non English speaking countries from Asia to South America and cutting edge topics such as language gender and popular culture language and sexual identities and language gender and socio phonetics New sections focus on key themes and issues in the field such as methodological approaches to language and gender incorporating new chapters on conversation analysis critical discourse analysis corpus linguistics and variation theory Provides unrivalled geographic coverage and an essential resource for a wide range of disciplines from linguistics psychology sociology and anthropology to communication and gender studies Indigenous Multilingualism at Waruwi Ruth Singer, 2023-02-22

This book is an exploration of the role of language at Warruwi Community a remote Indigenous settlement in northern Australia It explores how language use and people s ideas about language are embedded in contemporary Indigenous life there Using an ethnographic approach the book examines what language at Warruwi means in the context of the history of the community ongoing social and political changes and the continuing importance of ancestral traditions Children growing up at Warruwi still learn to speak many small Indigenous languages This is remarkable not just in the Australian context where many Indigenous languages are no longer spoken but around the world as this kind of multilingualism in small languages persists only in a few remaining pockets The way that people use many languages in their daily life at Warruwi reveals how high levels of linguistic diversity can be maintained in a small community This detailed study of the creation of linguistic diversity is relevant to sociolinguistics linguistic typology historical linguistics and evolutionary linguistics More generally this book is for linguists anthropologists and anyone with an interest in contemporary Australian Indigenous lives

Researching Agency in Language Policy and Planning Gregory Paul Glasgow,Jeremie Bouchard,2018-12-21 This concise collection features seven studies on agency in language policy and planning across five different national contexts Building on themes explored in Agency in Language Policy and Planning this volume highlights the complex relationship between agency and broader ideological discourses integrating social theory toward contributing to and enhancing growing scholarship on language policy and planning This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars in language policy and planning language and education critical sociolinguistics and applied linguistics
