The Comparative Law Yearbook of International Business Christian Campbell,2020-03-23 Conflict avoidance and resolution have always been primary purposes of the law Satisfaction with judicial processes has declined in many jurisdictions After the diversion of many disputes from courts to arbitral tribunals arbitration has now also become a target of intense criticism This dissatisfaction with binding third party adjudication of disputes coincides with rising tensions among citizens asking basic questions about what they can expect from each other and their governments in a constantly changing world One response has been the proliferation of processes between disputing parties that are structured and interactive negotiation and assisted by a neutral third party using specialized negotiation and communication techniques These processes have been labelled mediation While mediation is not focused on the identification and application of legal rights and duties in the way that adjudication is its success remains dependent on a legal framework which is still evolving in most jurisdictions and especially across borders In this edition of the Comparative Law Yearbook of International Business lawyers from nine jurisdictions examine developments relating not only to the framework for cross border mediation such as the Singapore Convention or inter State disputes or relating to their countries overall approaches to regulating this method of dispute resolution but also relating to specific issues such as mediator ethics and conflicts of interest and even exploring the neural science of conflict dynamics

Penny Brooker, 2013-10-23 In England mediation became a key part of the civil justice reform agenda after the Woolf Reforms of 1996 as disputants were deflected from litigation towards settlement outside the court system The Civil Procedure Rules CPR give courts the power to encourage mediation through judicial case management or use stronger measures by using costs to penalise parties who act unreasonably by refusing to use ADR or mediation One of the effects of this institutionalisation is an emerging case law that defines how mediation is practiced as it merges with the litigation process When mediation first began to be used in England the parties either agreed to mediate by a contract before a dispute happened or decided to attempt the process as a way of resolving disagreements Inevitably some disputants either refused to abide by their contractual obligations or would not follow through with the settlement agreements reached through the process This brought the authority of the law into a new area and the juridification process began This book explores how mediation law shapes the practice of mediation in the English jurisdiction It provides a comprehensive examination of the legal framework for mediation and explores the jurisprudence in order to analyse the extent that institutionalisation by the state and courts has led to the monopolisation by lawyers and a further juridification process results The book includes a comparative legal methodology on the framework underpinning mediation practise in other common law jurisdictions including the United States Australia and Hong Kong in order to explicate shared or distinctive approaches to mediation The book will be of great interest to academics and students of legal theory and dispute resolution Research Handbook on

Children and the European Union Helen Stalford, 2012-08-14 This book examines in detail the status of children in the EU Drawing on a range of disciplinary perspectives including the sociology of childhood and human rights discourse it offers a critical analysis of the legal and policy framework underpinning EU children s rights across a range of areas including family law education immigration and child protection Traditionally children s rights at this level have been articulated primarily in the context of the free movement of persons provisions inevitably restricting entitlement to migrant children of EU nationality In the past decade however innovative interpretations of EU law by the Court of Justice coupled with important constitutional developments have prompted the development of a much more robust children s rights agenda This culminated in the incorporation of a more explicit reference to children's rights in the Lisbon Treaty followed by the Commission's launch in February 2011 of a dedicated EU Agenda to promote and safeguard the rights of the child. The analysis presented in this book therefore comes at a pivotal point in the history of EU children's rights providing a detailed and critical overview of a range of substantive areas and making an important contribution to international children's rights studies. International Arbitration and EU Law Nikos Lavranos, Stefano Castagna, 2024-08-06 In this substantially revised and updated second edition this work examines the intersection of EU law and international arbitration based on the experience of leading practitioners in both commercial and investment treaty arbitration law. It expertly illustrates the depth and breadth of EU law's impact on party autonomy and on the margin of appreciation available to arbitral tribunals. Cross-Border Litigation in Europe Paul Beaumont, Mihail Danov, Katarina Trimmings, Burcu Yüksel Ripley, 2017-11-16 This substantial and original book examines how the EU Private International Law (PIL) framework is functioning and considers its impact on the administration of justice in cross-border cases within the EU. It grew out of a major project, i.e. EUPILLAR (European Union Private International Law Legal Application in Reality), financially supported by the EU Civil Justice Programme. The research was led by the Centre for Private International Law at the University of Aberdeen and involved partners from the Universities of Freiburg, Antwerp, Wrocław, Leeds, Milan, and Madrid Complutense. The contributors address the specific features of cross-border disputes in the EU by undertaking a comprehensive analysis of the Court of Justice of the EU (CJEU) and national case law on the Brussels I, Rome I, and II, Brussels IIa, and Maintenance Regulations. Part I discusses the development of the EU PIL framework. Part II contains the national reports from 26 EU Member States. Parts III (civil and commercial) and IV (family law) contain the CJEU case law analysis and several cross-cutting chapters. Part V briefly sets the agenda for an institutional reform which is necessary to improve the effectiveness of the EU PIL regime. This comprehensive research project book will be of interest to researchers, students, legal practitioners, judges, and policy makers who work or are interested in the field of private international law.
