

The background of the book cover is a collage of warm, sepia-toned images. At the top, there is a close-up of a rolled-up document with handwritten text in cursive. Below this, the title is centered in a large, bold, dark purple font. Underneath the title is a horizontal orange band with the subtitle in white, sans-serif capital letters. The bottom half of the cover features a collage of images, including a globe and various abstract, textured shapes in shades of brown and orange.

dichotomy adding valuable insights into the textual contextual and pedagogical representations of marketing knowledge The history and future of marketing knowledge is examined with the aid of instructive illustrations and insightful first hand experience Drawing on extensive qualitative research from a broad range of influential producers and vital consumers Dr Smith presents a relevant exciting marketing knowledge framework which will be a vital resource for academics students and practitioners

Becoming Inummarik Peter Collings, 2014-04-01 What does it mean to become a man in the Arctic today Becoming Inummarik focuses on the lives of the first generation of men born and raised primarily in permanent settlements Forced to balance the difficulties of schooling jobs and money that are a part of village life with the conflicting demands of older generations and subsistence hunting these men struggle to chart their life course and become inummariit genuine people Peter Collings presents an accessible intelligent humorous and sensitive account of Inuit men who are no longer youths but not yet elders Based on over twenty years of research conducted in Ulukhaktok Northwest Territories Becoming Inummarik is a profound and nuanced look at contemporary Inuit life that shows not just what Inuit men do but who they are Collings recounts experiences from his immersion in the daily lives of Ulukhaktok s men from hunting and sharing meals to playing cards and grocery shopping to demonstrate how seemingly mundane activities provide revelations about complex issues such as social relationships status and maturity He also reflects on the ethics of immersive anthropological research the difficulties of balancing professional and personal relationships with informants and the nature of knowledge in Inuit culture Becoming Inummarik shows that while Inuit born into a modern society see themselves as different from their parents generation their adherence to traditional ideas about life ensures that they remain fully Inuit even as their community has witnessed drastic upheaval

The PhD Experience in African Higher Education John Mashayamombe, Ruth Murambadoro, uMbuso weNkosi, 2022-11-08 The PhD Experience in African Higher Education edited by Ruth Murambadoro John Mashayamombe and uMbuso weNkosi addresses the growing call to invest in the humanities and social sciences by exploring the nature of doctoral training in select institutions of higher learning in South Africa In the past two decades South Africa has become a key player in the global higher education landscape and dubbed the hub for doctoral training in Africa because of its developed educational infrastructure and highly ranked universities Given South Africa s positioning the contributors in this volume argue that the government donors universities and faculty have a socio legal duty to ensure that doctoral programs in the humanities and social sciences are not offered to amass numbers of African graduates but are grounded on equipping students with both hard and soft skills necessary to succeed This is achieved by offering skills training and research apprenticeships fostered in communities of practice because as the contributors show the humanities and social sciences are the backbone of society Furthermore they argue that treating doctoral candidates as equal partners is emancipatory because intellectual projects are best nurtured through collaborative learning
