Pillai, Rizwan Romee, 2023-09-13 Adoptive cellular immunotherapy of cancer particularly chimeric antigen receptor transduced T cell CAR T therapies have enjoyed an explosion of clinical trials and translational and basic research in the past decade The concept and design of the CAR though originally intended to optimize targeting of innate natural killer cells NK cells to tumor specific antigens was laterally applied in the past decade to conventional autologous and later third party allogeneic T cells with first in kind successes in leukemia immunotherapy in both adults and children This approach also spawned the development of an entire industry focused on cancer immunotherapy laying the foundation for the current paradigm shifts away from toxic chemo radiotherapy to immune targeting Aside from cytokine release toxicities specific obstacles plaguing existing CAR T cell therapies include suboptimal killing by fatigued or senescent autologous patient derived T cells derived acquisition of tumor resistance to T cell based immune therapies and graft versus host disease GVHD associated with allogeneic conventional T cell therapies Advances in Comparative Immunology Edwin L. Cooper, 2018-08-07 Immunologists perhaps understandably most often concentrate on the human immune system an anthropocentric focus that has resulted in a dearth of information about the immune function of all other species within the animal kingdom However knowledge of animal immune function could help not only to better understand human immunology but perhaps more importantly it could help to treat and avoid the blights that affect animals which consequently affect humans Take for example the mass death of honeybees in recent years their demise resulting in much less pollination poses a serious threat to numerous crops and thus the food supply There is a similar disappearance of frogs internationally signaling ecological problems among them fungal infections This book aims to fill this void by describing and discussing what is known about non human immunology It covers various major animal phyla its chapters organized in a progression from the simplest unicellular organisms to the most complex vertebrates mammals Chapters are written by experts covering the latest findings and new research being conducted about each phylum Edwin L Cooper is a Distinguished Professor in the Laboratory of Comparative Immunology Department of Neurobiology at UCLA s David Geffen School of Medicine

Beyond Archigram Hadas A. Steiner, 2013-09-13 Beyond Archigram is the first study of the prehistory of digital representation to focus on the magazine Archigram the magazine published in London irregularly between 1961 and 1970 and the name of the group that created it Archigram is among the most significant phenomena to emerge in post war architectural culture The wired environments first advertised on its pages formulated an architectural vocabulary of metamorphosis and obsolescence that cross pollinated industrial and digital technology at the same time as complex systems were becoming commercially available Through archival theoretical and visual analysis Hadas Steiner explores the process through which this model was envisaged and disseminated within an international network of practitioners and shows how the assimilation of Archigram imagery set the course for the visual output of what are now commonplace tools in architectural practice This book will provide a foundation for further inquiry into the integration of digital technology at every level of design

Internet Co-Regulation Christopher T. Marsden, 2011-08-18 Chris Marsden argues that co regulation is the defining feature of the Internet in Europe Co regulation offers the state a route back into questions of legitimacy governance and human rights thereby opening up more interesting conversations than a static no regulation versus state regulation binary choice The basis for the argument is empirical investigation based on a multi year European Commission funded study and is further reinforced by the direction of travel in European and English law and policy including the Digital Economy Act 2010 He places Internet regulation within the regulatory mainstream as an advanced technocratic form of self and co regulation which requires governance reform to address a growing constitutional legitimacy gap The literature review case studies and analysis shed a welcome light on policymaking at the centre of Internet regulation in Brussels London and Washington revealing the extent to which states firms and increasingly citizens are developing a new type of regulatory bargain Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1997
