Equality Opportunity Marginalized Roma Development:

Being Fair, Faring Better Roberta Gatti, Sandor Karacsony, Kosuke Anan, Celine Ferré, Carmen de Paz Nieves, Valerie Morrica, Carmen de Paz, Abla Safir, 2016-02-05 In Central and Eastern European countries inequalities for Roma families living in marginalized communities start early and are striking Some of these inequalities reflect hard wired family circumstances such as being born in poverty Others reflect lack of opportunities such as limited access to those basic goods and services that are necessary not only for realizing one's potential in life but also for living with dignity Gaps between Roma and non Roma widen over the lifecycle in a way that reinforces and perpetuates disadvantage and translates into significantly unequal outcomes despite the fact that Roma report having similar aspirations to those of their non Roma neighbors Promoting equal opportunities for disadvantaged Roma is not only an imperative for societies that want to call themselves fair but it is also a smart economic choice especially in those countries where populations are aging rapidly Investing early with a particular emphasis on supporting healthy and cognitive development for disadvantaged Roma children is likely to go a long way in promoting fair chances However leveling the playing field in childhood is likely not enough disadvantaged Roma continue being exposed to unequal opportunities at key nodes in their lives such as when pursuing education or when looking for a job Therefore it is as important that a broader set of policies address some of the circumstances in which a large share of Roma children grow up including access to employment and decent living conditions for their families Implementing interventions that help overcome these interrelated barriers will require strong ownership at the national level coordinated policies across different ministries and government levels and an integrated delivery system that is grounded in approaches that are customized to local conditions and implemented in a participatory manner Good practices in Europe and elsewhere show that inclusion of the most disadvantaged including many Roma is possible and the current programming cycle for European Funds represents a unique opportunity to fund such interventions The Palgrave Handbook of Innovative Community and Clinical Psychologies Carl Walker, Sally Zlotowitz, Anna Zoli, 2022-02-01 This handbook highlights a range of ground breaking radical and liberatory clinical and critical community psychology projects from around the world The disciplines of critical community psychology and clinical psychology are currently experiencing radical innovations that in this book are characterised as moving from the individualising practice realm toward an altogether more contextualising orientation Both fields are responding to an array of political social and economic injustices and a global political context Community and clinical psychologists have found themselves reorienting their practice to confront resist and subvert the structures that are so damaging to the lives of the vulnerable people they work with This text posits that these approaches refute and resist the psychologising that has strengthened oppressive structures Such practices are starting to engage in the political character of power knowledge relationships that demand a more action oriented and less clinical psychology praxis and there is a growing interest in and commitment to social justice in the field of mental wellbeing Using examples of scholar activist and practitioner work from around the world this collection explores and documents those practices where the traditional remits of community and clinical psychology have been subverted altered stretched changed and reworked in order to reframe practice around human rights creativity political activism social change space and place systemic violence community transformation resource allocation and radical practices of disruption and direct action

Equality and justice on the sidelines: Comparative report on discrimination against Roma and their access to justice in Slovakia and Slovenia Štefan Ivanco,Jerica Lorenci,Andrea Spitätszky,2022-11-10 From an early age Roma in Slovenia and Slovakia face widespread discrimination in various areas of their lives including housing education employment health care and policing driven by persistent negative attitudes among the majority population towards Roma Roma women often face multiple and intersectional discrimination based on their ethnicity and gender in both countries The Covid 19 pandemic also amplified ongoing shortcomings in the protection of Roma rights As members of the European Union EU both countries have anti discrimination legislation in place and an established equality body in compliance with the EU Racial Equality Directive In practice however implementation remains poor the number of cases of discrimination against Roma resolved by courts is still very low in both countries Even among legal personnel knowledge of anti discrimination law is limited and Roma themselves are often reluctant themselves to report incidents due to lack of awareness mistrust of the judicial system or a generalized disbelief that their situation will change This publication Equality and justice on the sidelines Comparative report on discrimination against Roma and their access to justice in Slovakia and Slovenia provides an overview of the current scope of discrimination against Roma especially women their lived experience and access to justice in Slovakia and Slovenia Based on a combination of desk research and empirical study namely a series of semi structured interviews conducted with different stakeholders in both countries it also includes a series of recommendations to achieve greater inclusion and equality in line with the stated commitment of both countries to protect their Roma populations

Positive Youth Development, Mental Health, and Psychological Well-Being in Diverse Youth Nora Wiium, Laura Ferrer-Wreder, Jennifer E. Lansford, Lene Arnett Jensen, 2023-06-15 In this Research Topic our aim is to examine how personal resources related to competencies skills and self perception as well as environmental contextual and relational features of the social contexts of diverse youth directly or indirectly are important to mental health and psychological well being As previous research on young people has mainly focused on youth s weaknesses rather than their strengths our use of Positive Youth Development PYD in working with culturally diverse youth and their well being in this Research Topic is novel We invite contributions from researchers that were initially presented their papers in a meeting that was held by research partners of the Cross National Project on Positive Youth Development CN PYD and who represent an international and multidisciplinary panel of experts on PYD The CN PYD was initiated in 2014 at the University of Bergen and has an ongoing data collection that involves approximately 10 000 minority and majority youth and emerging adults ages 16 to 29 living in Africa Asia Australia Europe New Zealand and South America CN PYD uses a strengths based approach to the conceptualization of youth as resources and agentic which is in opposition to the view of the developmental period of adolescence as being a period inherently fraught with problems and risks The goal of the cross national project is to assess personal strengths and contextual resources considering how these resources come together to facilitate youth thriving and to document how young people make positive and valued contributions to themselves and others We also advance research on the complex interplay between personal and contextual resources and their connections with risk behaviors and problems in essence taking a perspective of the whole child both in terms of strengths and problems
