Hickey,2012 This ex post facto participatory action research study investigated the relationship between a criterion referenced inventory based reading assessment and the standardized Third Grade Reading Ohio Achievement Assessment OAA The study conducted in a suburban Ohio district where the Developmental Reading Assessment DRA has been used since 1998 was framed by Scriven s 1967 distinction between formative and summative evaluations of educational programs Scores from a sample population of 2 395 students in 83 third grade classrooms for school years ending in 2008 through 2010 for the DRA in the spring of both second and third grades and the Reading OAA in the spring of third grade were examined Bridging the gap between formative and summative assessments was explored to understand the effectiveness of the DRA as a predictive instrument and to determine whether it is differentially related to students categorized as below at or above grade level on the DRA. The correlation and regression analyses of test scores revealed that both the second and third grade DRA scores were strong predictors of the Third Grade OAA raw scores and each was a better predictor for students below grade level than for those at or above grade level. The results of the study suggest using the DRA as part of a formative feedback process at the end of second grade to identify students who may be at risk of failing the spring Third Grade Reading OAA in order to provide intervention.

One Child at a Time Pat Johnson, 2023-10-10 Every elementary teacher deals with students who struggle as readers on a daily basis. Each struggling child is complex and each has a unique history as a learner. In One Child at a Time, experienced literacy specialist and consultant Pat Johnson provides a framework she has used in numerous K-6 classrooms to help teachers understand and assist individual children. The four-step process outlined in the book enables teachers to focus carefully on specific strategies and behaviors, analyze them with theoretical and practical lenses, design targeted instruction in keeping with current research on reading process, and then assess and refine the teaching in conferences with the child. The framework is by no means an easy answer to a difficult problem, but through its use, teachers learn how the reading process works for proficient readers and how to support struggling readers as they construct their own reading process. The text is packed with examples of actual conferences with students, detailing how and when Pat and her colleagues intervene to instruct and assess. The examples of follow-up assessment and analysis of struggling readers over days and weeks provide an indispensable model for teachers. Pat shows how to use this framework successfully with a range of learners, including young children, English language learners, and students in the upper elementary grades who are stalled in their literacy progress. She builds upon her decades of work as a classroom teacher, literacy specialist, and consultant in schools with high poverty and diversity to demonstrate how this framework can be useful in any setting.
