Dreaming in Chinese Deborah Fallows, 2011-09-20 Deborah Fallows has spent a lot of her life learning languages and traveling around the world But nothing prepared her for the surprises of learning Mandarin China's most common language or the intensity of living in Shanghai and Beijing Over time she realized that her struggles and triumphs in studying learning the language of her adopted home provided small clues to deciphering behavior and habits of its people and its culture's conundrums As her skill with Mandarin increased bits of the language a word a phrase an oddity of grammar became windows into understanding romance humor protocol relationships and the overflowing humanity of modern China Fallows learned for example that the abrupt blunt way of speaking which Chinese people sometimes use isn't rudeness but is in fact a way to acknowledge and honor the closeness between two friends She learned that English speakers trouble with hearing or saying tones the variations in inflection that can change a word's meaning is matched by Chinese speakers inability not to hear tones or to even take a guess at understanding what might have been meant when foreigners misuse them

Dreaming in Chinese is the story of what Deborah Fallows discovered about the Chinese language and how that helped her make sense of what had at first seemed like the chaos and contradiction of everyday life in China

The Power of Culture Priscilla Roberts, 2016-01-14 China and the United States two massive economic and military powers cannot avoid engaging with each other Enjoying what is often termed the most important bilateral relationship in the world the two sometimes cooperate but often compete as their interests come into conflict Both countries are separated not just by the Pacific Ocean but also by their very different histories experiences societies customs and outlooks Non governmental unofficial relationships and exchanges are often as important as formal dealings in determining the climate of Sino American relations For several decades in the mid twentieth century Chinese and Americans were virtually isolated from each other trapped in icy hostility Chinese scholars are now making up for lost time This assortment of essays most by mainland Chinese academics and students focuses upon the role of culture very broadly defined in Sino American affairs Taking a holistic approach in this collection over thirty authors focus on such topics as the influence of ideology the impact of geopolitics the use of rhetoric soft power educational encounters and exchanges immigration gender race identity literature television movies music and the press Cultural factors are as the authors demonstrate enormously significant in affecting how Chinese and Americans think about and approach each other both as individuals and at the state level

Our Towns James Fallows, Deborah Fallows, 2018-05-08 NATIONAL BESTSELLER James and Deborah Fallows have always moved to where history is being made They have an excellent sense of where world shaping events are taking place at any moment The New York Times The basis for the HBO documentary streaming on HBO Max For five years James and Deborah Fallows have travelled across America in a single engine prop airplane Visiting dozens of towns the America they saw is acutely conscious of its problems from economic dislocation to the opioid scourge but it is also crafting solutions with a practical minded determination at dramatic odds with the bitter paralysis of national politics At times of dysfunction on a national level reform possibilities have often arisen from the local level The Fallowses describe America in the middle of one of these creative waves Their view of the country is as complex and contradictory as America itself but it also reflects the energy the generosity and compassion the dreams and the determination of many who are in the midst of making things better Our Towns is the story of their journey and an account of a country busy remaking itself
