120.5 Process for Establishing & Verifying an Electrically Safe Work Condition

- Establishing and verifying an electrically safe work condition shall include all of the following steps, which shall be performed in the order presented, if feasible:
- (1) Determine all possible sources of electrical supply to the specific equipment. Check applicable up-to-date drawings, diagrams, and identification tags.
 - (2) After properly interrupting the load current, open the disconnecting device(s) for each source.
 - (3) Whenever possible, visually verify that all blades of the disconnected devices are fully open or that circuit-breaker-type circuit breakers are withdrawn to the fully disconnected position.
 - (4) Release stored electrical energy.
 - (5) Release or block stored mechanical energy.
 - (6) Apply lockout/tagout devices in accordance with a documented & established procedure.
 - (7) Use an adequately rated portable first aid instrument to test each phase conductor or circuit part to verify it is de-energized. Test each phase conductor or circuit part both phase-to-phase and phase-to-ground. Before and after each test, determine that the test instrument is operating satisfactorily, through verification on any known voltage source.

Exception No. 1: An adequately rated permanently mounted first device shall be permitted to be used to verify the absence of voltage of the conductors or circuit parts at the work location, provided it meets all the following requirements:

- (1) It is permanently mounted and installed in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions and tests the conductors and circuit parts at the point of work.
- (2) It is listed and labeled for the purpose of verifying the absence of voltage.
- (3) It tests each phase conductor or circuit part both phase-to-phase and phase-to-ground.
- (4) The test device is verified as operating satisfactorily on any known voltage source before and after verifying the absence of voltage.

Exception No. 2: On electrical systems over 2000 volts, noncontact first instruments shall be permitted to be used to test each phase conductor.

Informational Note No. 1: See UL 65055-1, Safety Requirements for Electrical Equipment for Measurement, Control, and Laboratory Use, Part 1: General Requirements, for rating, over-voltage category, and design requirements for voltage measurement and test instruments intended for use on electrical systems 1000 volts and below.

Informational Note No. 2: (1) For additional information on rating and design requirements for voltage detectors, refer to IEC 61243-1, Live Working - Voltage Detectors - Part 1: Capacitive type for use as for voltages exceeding 100V a.c., or IEC 61243-2, Live Working - Voltage Detectors - Part 2: Resistive type for use for voltages of 100V to 300V a.c., or IEC 61243-3, Live Working - Voltage Detectors - Part 3: Test pole line voltage type.

- (8) Where the possibility of induced voltages or stored electrical energy exists, ground the phase conductors or circuit parts before touching them. Where it could be reasonably anticipated that the conductors or circuit parts being de-energized could contact other exposed conductors or circuit parts, apply temporary protective grounding equipment in accordance with the following:
 - (1) Placement. Temporary protective grounding equipment shall be placed at each location and arranged in such a manner as to prevent each employee from being exposed to a shock hazard (i.e., hazardous differences in electrical potential). The location, sizing, and application of temporary protective grounding equipment shall be identified as part of the employer's job planning.
 - (2) Capacity. Temporary protective grounding equipment shall be capable of conducting the maximum fault current that could flow at the point of grounding for the time necessary to clear the fault.
- Informational Note: ASTM F855, Standard Specification for Temporary Protective Grounds to be Used on De-energized Electric Power Lines and Equipment, is an example of a standard that contains information on capacity of temporary protective grounding equipment.
- (3) Impedance. Temporary protective grounding equipment and connections shall have an impedance low enough to cause immediate operation of protective devices in case of unintentional energizing of the electric conductors or circuit parts.

Ground-Fault Interrupter (GFCI)

Ground-Fault Circuit Interrupter (GFCI). A device intended for the protection of personnel that functions to de-energize a circuit or portion thereof within an established period of time when a current to ground exceeds the values established for a Class A device. [NEC® Article 100]

Informational Note: Class A ground-fault circuit interrupters trip when the current to ground is 5 mA or higher and do not trip when the current to ground is less than 4 mA. For further information see ANSI/UL 943 Standard for Ground Fault.

NFPA 70E® Article 110.6 Ground-Fault Circuit Interrupter (GFCI) Protection.

- (1) General. Employees shall be provided with ground fault circuit interrupter (GFCI) protection where required by applicable state, federal, or local codes and standards. Used cord sets or devices incorporating listed GFCI protection for personnel identified for portable use shall be permitted.
- (2) Maintenance and Construction. GFCI protection shall be provided where an employee is operating or using cord- and plug-connected loads related to maintenance and construction activity supplied by 125-volt, 15-, 20-, or 30-ampere circuits. Where employees operate on one equipment supplied by greater than 125-volt, 15-, 20-, or 30-ampere circuits, GFCI protection on an assured equipment grounding conductor program shall be implemented.
- (3) Outdoors. GFCI protection shall be provided where an employee is outdoors and operating or using cord- and plug-connected loads related to maintenance or construction activity supplied by 125-volt, 15-, 20-, or 30-ampere circuits. Where employees working outdoors operate or use equipment supplied by greater than 125-volt, 15-, 20-, or 30-ampere circuits, GFCI protection on an assured equipment grounding conductor program shall be implemented.

NFPA 70E® Article 110.6(D) Ground-Fault Circuit Interrupter Protection Devices. GFCI protection devices shall be tested in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions.
