Essentials of Medical Transcription Cindy Destafano, Fran M. Federman, 2000 This modular based text builds competence for entry level medical transcription through scenario drills and a building block format It was conceived as a result of classroom experiences with student frustration Simulations provide students the opportunity to gain confidence and competence before they enter the workplace A free CD ROM is included with the text It provides realistic experiences through actual transcription exercises and personalized feedback from an automated error analysis chart and production for pay summary sheet Students experience the real world accountability of earning a paycheck Essentials of Medical Transcription Cindy Destafano, Fran M. Federman, 2003 This innovative hands on text guides readers through progressively more difficult scenario drills and office simulations helping them gain confidence as they master valuable transcription skills Using a building block format the first unit presents fundamental skills and knowledge that are essential to medical transcription practice and the second unit lets readers take on the role of a medical transcriptionist working at an outpatient health care center. Students gain real world feedback on their transcription skills with interactive exercises on CD ROM with a Production for Pay Summary feature that calculates their adjusted earnings per hour for each document they complete. An Error Analysis chart categorizes and tracks undetected errors by noting the occurrence of repeated types of mistakes so students can track their own progress and learn more effectively. The modular building block approach presents segments of information followed immediately by exercises that reinforce material so students can continually progress to new topics. Competency based programmed learning approach makes it easy to clearly identify and measure the student's progress. Real world practice scenarios place the student in a simulated employee role providing a sense of on the job training for a fictitious health care center with its own rules and procedures. An Error Analysis chart for each document categorizes and tracks undetected errors by noting the occurrence of repeated types of mistakes differentiating between medical language errors and English language errors so students can identify problem areas and improve performance. Production for Pay Summary feature replaces the traditional evaluation process recording how quickly the document was created subtracting credit for errors and calculating the student's adjusted earnings per hour for that document just like earning a paycheck. A Microsoft Word compatible CD ROM offers pre tests and post tests proofreading exercises and actual transcription exercises plus an office simulation program that offers additional transcription practice with a self correcting feature that gives automatic feedback on the student's accuracy.

The first part of the MIE 2008 conference theme eHealth Beyond the Horizon highlights the expectations for the future of ehealth and raises the question: What sort of developments in ehealth services can we imagine emerging above the horizon in the years to come? EHealth Beyond the Horizon contains a good number of high quality papers giving different perspectives of this future, some of them already available today in pilot scale, some of them outlined in visions. The second part of the theme Get IT There has triggered a large number of papers describing how to create, evaluate, adjust, and deliver products and deploy services in healthcare organizations for the necessary information technology as a basis for the ehealth applications that are essential in order to respond to the challenges of the health systems. The papers in the proceedings are grouped by themes according to the submission categories and the supplied keywords. As the last theme, three doctoral students from different areas of medical informatics were selected to present and discuss their research under the guidance of a panel of distinguished research faculties
