

Dawn

A Journey to the Beginning of the Solar System

Exploring a new frontier, the Dawn mission will journey back in time over 4.5 billion years to the beginning of our Solar System. How is this "time travel" possible? Many thousands of small bodies orbit the Sun in the asteroid belt—a large region between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter. They formed at the same time and in similar environments as the bodies that grew to be the rocky planets (Mercury, Venus, Earth, and Mars). Scientists theorize that the asteroids were budding planets and never given the opportunity to grow, due to gravitational stirring by massive Jupiter. Sometimes called minor planets, asteroids contain clues that reveal the conditions and processes acting at the Solar System's earliest epoch. By investigating two very different asteroids, Ceres and Vesta, the Dawn mission seeks to unlock some of the mysteries of planetary formation.

Why Vesta and Ceres?

Caught up in a cosmic tug-of-war between the Sun and Jupiter, two of the largest inhabitants of the main asteroid belt, Vesta and Ceres, survived the collisional environment of the region and have remained intact since their formations. Furthermore, evidence shows that each has distinct characteristics; therefore, each must have followed a different evolutionary path. Vesta appears to be dry, evolved, and differentiated with surface features ranging from basaltic lava flows to a deep crater near its southern pole. Ceres, in contrast, has a dusty, clay-like surface and evidence of water, which has led scientists to suspect the presence of a thick water-ice mantle. Vesta's physical characteristics reflect those of the inner planets, whereas Ceres' are more like the icy moons of the outer planets. By studying these contrasts and comparing these two minor planets, scientists will develop an understanding of the transition from the rocky inner regions to the icy outer regions of the Solar System.
