Inequality for All William Schmidt, Curtis McKnight, 2015-04-17 Inequality for All makes an important contribution to current debates about economic inequalities and the growing achievement gap particularly in mathematics and science education The authors argue that the greatest source of variation in opportunity to learn is not between local communities or even schools but between classrooms They zero in on one of the core elements of schooling coverage of subject matter content and examine how such opportunities are distributed across the millions of school children in the United States Drawing on data from the third TIMSS international study of curriculum and achievement as well as a six district study of over 500 schools across the United States they point to Common Core State Standards as being a key step in creating a more level playing field for all students William H Schmidt is University Distinguished Professor at Michigan State University and co director of the

Education Policy Center Curtis C McKnight is emeritus professor of mathematics at the University of Oklahoma

The Dynamics of Opportunity in America Irwin Kirsch, Henry Braun, 2016-01-22 Across the country our children are beginning life from very different starting points Some have aspirations and believe they can be achieved For too many others aspirations are tempered if not dashed by the sobering realities of everyday life These different starting points place children on distinctly different trajectories of growth and development ultimately leading to vastly different adult outcomes How did we get to a place where circumstances of birth have become so determinative And what must we do within communities and across our country to better equalize opportunity for more Americans both young and old The editors of this volume contend that if as a nation we do nothing then we will continue to drift apart placing an unsustainable strain on the nation's social fabric and the character of its democracy Consequently understanding the dynamics governing the distribution and transmission of opportunity and transforming this understanding into policies and programs is critical for not only the life outcomes of individual Americans and their children but also the country as a whole The goal of Educational Testing Service's Opportunity in America initiative is to explore these powerful dynamics and to describe and convey them in a way that advances the national conversation about why we must take action and how best to do so This volume contains 14 chapters including an epilogue written by leaders from a range of fields including education economics demography and political science Collectively they not only illuminate key aspects of the problem but also offer suggestions of what policies programs and changes in practices could begin to reverse the trends we are seeing Written in an engaging style this volume constitutes an essential foundation for informed discussion and strategic analysis

Integrating Virtual and Traditional Learning in 6-12 Classrooms Sandra Schamroth Abrams, 2014-09-19 Integrating Virtual and Traditional Learning in 6-12 Classrooms introduces a model of layered literacies as a framework for describing and illustrating how students' digital experiences can inform educational methods Through the lens of layered literacies educators can envision opportunities to draw upon adolescents' out-of-school interests and activities to meaningfully integrate digital practices within academic contexts Such an approach facilitates innovative teaching inspired learning and successful pedagogy and it thoughtfully highlights the role of technology within mandated standards-based instruction in public schools Combining foundational and contemporary theories supported by data from multiple studies of adolescent learning and honoring teachers and students' experiences and resources this text helps educators reconceptualize the ways students learn through and with digital texts and negotiate the connection between online and offline spaces A companion website extends the discussion onto the screen engaging readers in an intertextual approach to learning that complements the concept of layering literacies across disciplines With a foreword by Jennifer Rowsell and an afterword by Bill Cope and Mary Kalantzis it will be of interest to experienced educators and administrators as well as postgraduate graduate and undergraduate students of education

Off the Clock Fred Bramante, Rose Colby, 2012-03-14 How to base learning on mastery instead of time What if you could remove time and space pressures from the process of teaching and learning The authors of Off the Clock not only suggest this but they have implemented it in New Hampshire Due in part to their work the New England Consortium won the 2011 Frank Newman Award for State Innovation through the Education Commission of the States This book s core idea is that student achievement should be based on mastering competencies instead of seat time In addition learning does not need to be restricted to a school building or traditional school calendar Fred Bramante and Rose Colby describe a uniquely 21st century learning environment in which Every student is engaged Parents and students have more control over learning Dropouts are all but eliminated Curriculum becomes virtually limitless project based and interdisciplinary This text for educators policymakers parents and community members provides a comprehensive approach to implementing a large scale competency based reform initiative Wherever this model is applied public education will be vastly improved more efficient and quite possibly less expensive The ultimate beneficiaries will be our nation s children Teaching STEM Literacy
