Ishmael Beah was born in Sierra Leone, a country in Africa. He is a New York Times best-selling author of A Long Way Gone: Memoirs of a Boy Soldier and Radiance of Tomorrow: A Novel.

Skill Focus:

In this lesson, you'll practice analyzing how an author develops their point of view. This means determining what the author thinks and believes about a person or situation. It also includes examining how specific sections of the text develop the author's point of view (e.g. through actions, dialogue, or thoughts). As you read, take notes on the author's point of view about sharing his identity.

The narrator says he came to the U.S. with a passport, so he is an immigrant.

He did not come to the U.S. with a lot.

He was adopted when he was older and could fly on a plane alone.

(1) I came to New York City in 1998. I was seventeen.

I entered the United States with just a passport in my hand, because somehow the baggage that I'd checked when I boarded the flight from Ivory Coast (which was tattered in ways unimaginable) didn't make it.

I stood there at the luggage rack watching all these huge bags go by, and mine didn't come. This bag held all my possessions at this point: two pairs of pants and two shirts — one long-sleeved and one short. So I just started laughing, and I didn't even bother going to the lost-baggage section to claim it.

I just walked right out to meet my new adoptive mother, who was standing there with a beaming smile, waiting for me. And I explained to her what had happened, and we laughed some more.

(2) We left and went into Manhattan, and that evening we went to Kikuji. (After we had had Chinese food and a fortune cookie that said, "You're about to have new clothes.")

1. What is the author's point of view about sharing his background?

ELA

- A. He believes that sometimes it's fun to pretend to be a different person.
- B. He believes that a person should be careful not to share anything with people.
- C. He believes that in order to live the life he wants, he needs to hide certain things from others.
- D. He believes that in order to live the life he wants, he should share his background with everyone.

Commonlit Answers:

40 Strategies for Guiding Readers through Informational Texts Barbara Moss, Virginia Loh-Hagan, 2016-04-05
Gaining the skills to critically read a wide variety of informational texts is more important than ever for today's K-12 students. This carefully crafted book offers 40 standards-based instructional activities that teachers can immediately put to use in the classroom. Clear rationales and step-by-step instructions are provided for implementing each strategy together with helpful classroom examples and suggested texts for different grade levels. In a large size format for easy photocopying, the book includes 44 reproducible worksheets. Purchasers get access to a Web page where they can download and print the reproducible materials. Prior edition title: 35 Strategies for Guiding Readers through Informational Texts. New to This Edition: Now features more strategies including 16 that are completely new. Explicit links throughout to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) and other current standards. Two additional strands of activities: Reading Closely and Discussion. Numerous new and revised reproducible tools, all downloadable. K-12 Teacher Inquiry and Reflections Marjori Krebs, Cheryl A. Torrez, 2022-03-25
K-12 Teacher Inquiry and Reflections: A Pathway to Enduring Transformation features the key components of a five-semester graduate program with a focus on Reflective Practice (MARP) for K-12 classroom teachers. In this program, students focus on the study of their own teaching, action research, implementation, and analysis, reflective practice experiences, and transformations teachers experienced because of their participation in this program. The book is divided into three sections and an introduction. The Introduction explains the historical foundations of MARP with an in-depth exploration of the key elements of MARP, featuring the voices of its founders. Section One features detailed explanations of action research PK teachers conducted, followed by a long-term reflection of their MARP experiences and its effects on them as teachers. Section Two includes chapters written by teachers explaining how they thoughtfully transformed their teaching practices and their overall teaching philosophies. In Section Three, faculty who teach in this five-semester graduate program describe their own collaborative teaching experiences for students, key assignments, course objectives, classroom activities, readings, and discussions that are the foundation of the MARP experience for students. Closing the Literacy Gap Thomas G. Gunning, 2022-05-13
Packed with practical tools, this book provides K-6 educators with a research-based framework for accelerating the reading and writing growth of underperforming students. Strategies and resources are included for building foundational skills, comprehension, and vocabulary; engaging students with independent reading and periodicals; developing writing; and implementing tutoring and other extra supports. The book gives special attention to helping those most affected by the literacy gap: Black and Latinx students, students living in poverty, and students with reading disabilities. It describes dozens of high-quality intervention programs, assessments, activities, and materials, many of which can be accessed for free at the companion website. Reproducible forms and handouts can be downloaded and printed in a convenient 8 1/2 x 11 size.

Family Policy Matters Karen Bogenschneider, 2024-02-23
This new edition captures the evolving post-pandemic

landscape of family policy the transformational changes that have occurred within contemporary families and the social economic and racial ethnic disparities that have grown across families The book draws on policies from around the globe to make an evidence based case for family policy and its contributions to families and to society Bogenschneider tackles a significant challenge of our times the polarization of politics including why it occurs and how professionals can bridge the divide Beyond the basics the book provides best practices for turning analysis into action by drawing on cutting edge research and a point of view often overlooked in policy books the voice of policymakers themselves Imbued with hope yet fundamentally realistic Bogenschneider applies a relationship based and strikingly nonpartisan approach for those who want to make a positive difference for families whether they engage local policymakers in towns cities and counties state national lawmakers or decision makers in businesses nonprofits and philanthropy Accompanied by updated web based teaching materials and a family impact toolkit this is core reading for undergraduate and or graduate courses in family or social policy taught in human development and family studies psychology counseling social work sociology public policy political science and education It is also essential reading for professionals and policymakers interested in pursuing better public policy for families in all their diversity across the lifespan
