Compelling Ethical Challenges in Critical Care and Emergency Medicine Andrej Michalsen, Nicholas Sadovnikoff, 2020-07-22 This book addresses the ethical problems that physicians have to face every day while caring for critically ill patients Advances in medical technology ageing societies worldwide and their increased demands on health care systems have on the one hand led to better care and remarkable longevity in many parts of the world On the other hand however improved treatments in many medical fields amongst others in emergency and critical care have resulted in more patients surviving with reduced quality of life This entails tradeoffs for many patients their families and the teams caring for them At the same time health care expenditures have risen dramatically and have to be balanced against costs for other public goods Finally the humane aspects of care have often failed to keep pace with the remarkable technological strides made in recent years In this book experts in their respective fields describe compelling ethical challenges resulting from these discrepancies and discuss potential solutions The book is primarily intended for clinicians who care for two of the most vulnerable patient subpopulations those being treated in ambulances or emergency rooms and those being treated at intensive care units due in part to the fact that they may be temporarily or permanently incapacitated Core medical skills such as diagnosis and predicting outcomes as well as implementing treatment remain challenging However without adequate communication and collaboration both within the inter professional treatment teams and between the teams and the patients their families delivering excellent care is difficult at best Therefore the so called soft skills are given the attention they deserve in order to overcome the gap between technological progress and interpersonal standstill Ethical Challenges in Multi-Cultural Patient Care

H. Russell Searight, 2019-08-13 This book provides an up to date description of cross cultural aspects of end of life decision making The work places this discussion in the context of developments in the United States such as the emphasis on patient informed consent right to die legal cases and the federal Patient Self Determination Act With the globalization of health care and increased immigration from developing to developed countries health care professionals are experiencing unique challenges in communicating with seriously ill patients and their families about treatment options as well as counselling all patients about advance medical care planning While many Western countries emphasize individual autonomy and patient centered decision making cultures with a greater collectivist orientation have historically often protected patients from negative health information and emphasized family centered decision making In order to place these issues in context the history of informed consent in medicine is reviewed Additionally cross cultural issues in health care decision making are analysed from the perspective of multiple philosophical theories including deontology utilitarianism virtues principlism and communitarian ethics This book is a valuable addition to courses on end of life care death and dying cross cultural health medical anthropology and medical ethics and an indispensable guide for healthcare workers dealing with patients coming from various cultural backgrounds Fundamentals of Nursing - E-Book

The Alzheimer's Disease Challenge, Volume II Mohammad Amjad Kamal, Athanasios Alexiou, Asma Perveen, 2024-04-15

Given the success of Volume I of this Research Topic we are pleased to announce the launch of Volume II The Alzheimer's Disease Challenge The repeated failure of clinical trials on the amyloid based medications and the pessimistic calculations of Alzheimer's disease cost burden for the next few decades present a severe challenge to humankind with severe social implications In recent years several alternative diagnostic and treatment procedures have been presented to treat and manage Alzheimer's disease as it has been nearly impossible to suggest a holistic solution Several revelations in human biology have highlighted the multiparametric character of the disease Besides the amyloid aggregation and neurofibrillary tangles that result in A toxicity and tau phosphorylation processes such as Gene Mutations Proteins Misfolding Brain Biochemical and Histopathological Changes Behavioral Changes Nutrition and Metabolism Alterations and Autonomic Dysfunctions due to Central Nervous System dysregulations are common signs and probably early diagnostic biomarkers in most of the Alzheimer s classification categories

Opportunities and Challenges of Interprofessional Collaboration and Education Jill Thistlethwaite, Peter Musaeus, Martina Mueller-Schilling, Sophie Schlosser, 2024-04-01

Interprofessional collaboration is essential in meeting today s health challenges which demand high flexibility and innovation Many health organizations including the World Health Organization WHO demand that interprofessional collaboration should be taught and learned globally Even so interprofessional education tools have not yet been widely implemented in the curricula of medical professions incl physicians nurses pharmacists physiotherapists etc this training usually takes place separately Collaboration is necessary in health professions education as it can allow professionals to increase their skills and help them achieve more than they would at an individual level Collaboration also allows for more open minded approaches when facing new ways of thinking When knowledge is shared healthcare employees are more encouraged to share their own ideas and concerns These achievements of interprofessionalism within health profession education not only benefit the student and employee but also optimize patient care and increase patient safety Productivity can also be increased and therefore reduce costs overall
