Events are an essential element of society Advancing digital technologies and the ongoing globalization has put forward a variety of different business leisure or scientific events that need to be managed in order to take place As a result of the proliferation of digital technology IT systems are an indispensable part of this management process Amid this pandemic crisis these systems have become increasingly important due to the relocation of events into the virtual sphere Since every event entails different requirements event management systems need to be very flexible In contrast to other application systems this flexibility is needed during use as the requirements of future events are not known during the initial selection and roll out of the software This calls for an intensified dialogue between the business and IT to match technical possibilities with practical requirements Currently adequate means to support this dialogue are lacking To this end this dissertation presents a reference model that encompasses the essential processes and data structures in the domain In 36 application cases the reference model is instantiated and evaluated Practitioners and researchers are the intended audiences of this work Researchers may use it as a foundation to design novel IT artifacts in the domain Practitioners benefit from the first comprehensive tool to support the design and use of digital technology in event management
