Checkpoint to Heaven William Touzani, 2010 Christ at the Checkpoint Paul Alexander, 2012-02-01 What does the evangelical church in Palestine think about the land the end times the Holocaust peace in the Middle East loving enemies Christian Zionism the State of Israel and the possibilities of a Palestinian state For the first time ever Palestinian evangelicals along with evangelicals from the United States and Europe have converged to explore these and other crucial topics Although Jews Muslims and Christians from a variety of traditions have participated in discussions and work regarding Israel and Palestine this book presents theological biblical and political perspectives and arguments from Palestinian evangelicals who are praying hoping and working for a just peace for both Israelis and Palestinians Checkpoint David Albahari, 2018-09-11 From the award winning Serbian author David Albahari comes a devastating and Kafkaesque war fable about an army unit sent to guard a military checkpoint with no idea where they are or who the enemy might be Atop a hill deep in the forest an army unit is dropped off to guard a checkpoint The commander doesn't know where they are what border they're protecting or why Their map is useless The radio crackles with a language no one can recognize A soldier is found dead in a latrine and the unit vows vengeance but the killer like the enemy is unknown Amid orgies and massacres the commander struggles to maintain order and keep his soldiers alive but he can't be sure whether they're fighting a war or caught in some bizarre military experiment Equal parts Waiting for Godot and Catch 22 David Albahari's Checkpoint is a haunting and hysterical confrontation with the absurdity of war Praise for Checkpoint A satirical take on war in the vein of Catch 22 and Slaughterhouse Five Serbian author David Albahari's Checkpoint is shocking and comic in equal turns skillfully pulled together by the force of Albahari's wit Visceral wild and often hilarious Checkpoint is a dark delight Ho Lin Foreword Reviews Starred Review A worthy descendant of The Good Soldier Svejk and Catch 22 Kirkus Reviews Checkpoint is a tornado of a book David Albahari a noted Serbian author who lives in Canada muscles this Kafkaesque short novel into the war is absurd literary tradition in one tremendous 183 page paragraph Stylistically JP Donleavy and Gary Shteyngart come to mind at times while imaginatively one might think of Goya Picasso or the Surrealists But Albahari has a distinctive voice and it comes through vividly in Ellen Elias Bursa's able translation from the Serbian Jon Sobel Blogcritics Between adventure and apocalypse Kafka and Kubrick combining in grotesque comical manner all the ridiculousness beauty horror subtlety and extravagance that literature can hold Neue Zürcher Zeitung LIFE, 1965-09-24 LIFE Magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th Century It now lives on at LIFE.com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet Users can browse search and view photos of today's people and events They have free access to share print and post images for personal use Power to put the enemy to shame Dr. D. Zoom In, Zoom Out Sandra

Barriaes-Bouche, Marjorie Attignol Salvodon, 2009-03-26 In the context of the transformations that Europe is undergoing Zoom in Zoom out Crossing Borders in Contemporary European Cinema attempts to serve as a testimony to the multiple ways in which European filmmakers are questioning the many borders of the continent European films have become a vital cultural space where the relationship between borders and identity is being renegotiated The films discussed here self consciously address the question of European identity while overtly crossing geographic cultural linguistic and aesthetic borders While all the articles explore the crossing of borders in Contemporary European films the volume maintains diverse themes and perspectives as subtopics It includes articles not only about films that deal thematically with border crossings but also articles that examine movies that cross borders in genres and techniques The articles have different theoretical approaches Film theory Cultural Studies History Sociology Philosophy and Psychoanalysis and cover films from well known cinematic traditions French Spanish German and Italian as well as lesser known cinematic traditions Yugoslavian Greek and Irish As a whole the essays frame the self conscious gesture by European filmmakers to define European cinema as a work in progress or at the very least as a project that like Europe itself raises as many questions as it answers This volume is a welcome addition to the growing critical literature on the evolution of the conception and practice of national cinema in Europe over the last two decades Sandra Barriaes Bouche and Marjorie Attignol Salvodon have chosen a solid selection of representative case studies that reflects different critical approaches to the problem of maintaining local or national cinema production in Europe during a period of intense globalization Their insightful introduction formulates the theme of unsettled borders and renegotiated identities that will resonate in the nine essays that follow With a focus on the critical concept of these unsettled borders the various authors explore the ways that the traditional mark of national space has been transformed through political and economic realignments as well as new technologies and the emergence of a new generation of filmmakers for whom national cinema no longer means what it did even twenty years ago The volume provides a good balance of critical approaches that includes auteur studies descriptions of state policies and the particular practices of filmmakers and producers in different parts of the continent Spain Germany Ireland the Balkans and finally useful appendices that provide a close up view of the complex nature of international co productions Marvin D Lugo Professor of Spanish Clark University This is an interesting collection of essays that has been well conceived and organised The standard of writing is high and I recommend publication I particularly commend the conceptual framework underpinning the volume This marries a cultural studies approach which still dominates the study of film in Area Studies and language departments across Europe and the US where filmic texts are increasingly used as teaching tools with the more industry based focus one tends to find adopted by Media and Screen Studies departments Thus this collection will appeal to a wide range of students and academics The introduction sets out the volume s overarching framework cogently and clearly giving a nuanced exploration of the way that the notion of the border can be used as a dynamic prism to help define and explore the limits of our understanding of Europe European identity and European culture within which cinema has long played a key role The editors give a good account for example of the way film has been employed as a space to explore the possibilities of European integration by EU politicians as well as highlighting the flaws inherent within this project They do however perhaps suggest a certain Western European North American centric view in their suggestion that the cinema of Yugoslavia Greece or Ireland is somehow less well known than other national and transnational cinemas explored here Less well known to whom However from the broad range of cinemas explored in the rest of the volume clearly this is not the case Particular high points for me are the chapters on the work of Fatih Akin by Janis Little Solomon and John Davidson s discussion of Schulze gets the Blues as well as Olivier Asselin s fascinating account of Database Cinema This will be a good addition to scholarship on European film and I look forward to receiving my copy Professor Paul Cooke University of Leeds Stormproof Matt Cruz,2025-08-05

Hilton,2011-07-31 For almost three decades the Cold War was focused on Berlin where the two nuclear armed sides were kept apart by a twelve foot wall which had appeared almost overnight in August 1961 For a generation until its fall in November 1989 it not only divided the city of Berlin but also symbolised the confrontation between capitalist West and socialist East In this astonishing book journalist Christopher Hilton has collected together the individual stories of those whose lives it affected including international politicians American and British soldiers East German border guards and most importantly the citizens of Berlin itself West and East Weaving their memories together into a remarkable narrative this is the extraordinarily vivid occasionally harrowing and often touching story of a city divided and of how it affected the lives of
