Charles Spurgeon Lectures To My Students Volume 1:

Charles Spurgeon: Lectures to My Students, Volume 1 Spurgeon, Charles, 2015-03-24 Charles Spurgeon 19 June 1834 31 January 1892 is one of the church's most famous preachers and Christianity's foremost prolific writers. Called the Prince of Preachers, he was one of England's most notable ministers for most of the second half of the nineteenth century and he still remains highly influential among Christians of different denominations today. His sermons have spread all over the world and his many printed works have been cherished classics for decades. Spurgeon preached to more than 10 million people in his lifetime and many times each week. For 38 years in London, he was the pastor of the congregation of the New Park Street Chapel, later known as Metropolitan Tabernacle. He was a prolific writer and produced many kinds of works, including sermons, commentaries, and autobiography, as well as books on prayer, devotionals, magazines, poetry, hymns, and much more. His ability to speak and provoke thought with divine inspiration has amazed audiences in his lifetime, as well as now. Spurgeon's messages have been considered the best literature worldwide. While he is most remembered for being a minister and having a church, his most powerful influence was that he exercised on his fellow ministers and theological students. He organized a college, trained approximately 850 students, spoke at an annual conference of ministers, and looked at this as just part of life's labour and delight, and these facts are not known as well today. These lectures are filled with down-to-earth practical points and advice for young ministers. His sense of humor seasons his lectures with an air of refreshment that cannot be found elsewhere. Spurgeon's Lectures to my Students contains the substance of Spurgeon's regular Friday afternoon addresses to the college students. This new complete and unabridged publication by Delmarva Publications offers a linked table of contents and a new format for ease of reading. Lectures to My Students Charles H. Spurgeon, 2022-05-03. Though best remembered as the most popular preacher of the Victorian era, C. H. Spurgeon was also founder and president of the Pastors' College in London. He supervised the training of over 800 students, presided at an annual conference for ministers, and on Friday afternoons delivered regular lectures on every aspect of pulpit ministry. Featuring such gems as The Ministers Fainting Fits, Posture Action Gesture, etc., and On the Choice of a Text, this unabridged edition of 28 of Spurgeon's classroom discourses on homiletics overflows with practical wisdom, discerning wit, and sage advice. Covering the call, open-air preaching, ordinary conversations, using illustrations, and conduct outside the church, Spurgeon's words are as rich and nourishing for pastors and students today as they were more than a century ago. CHAPTERS INCLUDE: The Ministers Self, Watch Our Public Prayer, On Spiritualizing The Blind Eye and the Deaf Ear, On Conversion as Our Aim, The Sciences as Sources of Illustration. Lectures to My Students Charles Haddon Spurgeon, 1954. Charles Spurgeon: Lectures to My Students, Volume 4 Spurgeon, Charles, 2015-03-24 Charles Spurgeon 19 June 1834 31 January 1892 is one of the church's most famous preachers and Christianity's foremost prolific writers. Lectures to My Students Charles H. Spurgeon, 2021-02-01 The solemn work of Christian ministry demands a man s all and that all should be at its best To engage in ministry halfheartedly is an insult to God and man Sleep must leave our eyelids before men are allowed to perish Yet we are all prone to sleep and students among the rest are apt to act the part of the foolish virgins Therefore I have sought to speak out my whole soul in the hope that I might not create or foster any dullness in others and to this end my lectures are colloquial familiar full of anecdote and often humorous May He in whose hand are the churches and their pastors bless these words to younger brethren in the ministry and if so I will count it more than a full reward and will gratefully praise the Lord Charles H Spurgeon Includes lectures 1 7 from Volume 3 Table of Contents Ch 1 Illustrations in Preaching Ch 2 Anecdotes from the Pulpit Ch 3 The Uses of Illustrations and Anecdotes Ch 4 Where Can We Find Anecdotes and Illustrations Ch 5 Cyclopedia of Anecdotes and Illustrations Ch 6 Books of Fables Emblems and Parables Ch 7 The Sciences As Sources of Illustration

LECTURE V SERMONS THEIR MATTER SERMONS should have real teaching in them and their doctrine should be solid substantial and abundant We do not enter the pulpit to talk for talk s sake we have instructions to convey important to the last degree and we cannot afford to utter pretty nothings Our range of subjects is all but boundless and we cannot therefore be excused if our discourses are threadbare and devoid of substance If we speak as ambassadors for God we need never complain of want of matter for our message is full to overflowing The entire gospel must be presented from the pulpit the whole faith once delivered to the saints must be proclaimed by us The truth as it is in Jesus must be instructively declared so that the people may not merely hear but know the joyful sound We serve not at the altar of the unknown God but we speak to the worshippers of him of whom it is written they that know thy name will put their trust in thee To divide a sermon well may be a very useful art but how if there is nothing to divide A mere division maker is like an excellent carver with an empty dish before him To be able to deliver an exordium which shall be appropriate and attractive to be at ease in speaking with propriety during the time allotted for the discourse and to wind up with a respectable peroration may appear to mere religious performers to be all that is requisite but the true minister of Christ knows that the true value of a sermon must lie not in its fashion and manner but in the truth which it contains Nothing can compensate for the absence of teaching all the rhetoric in the world is but as chaff to the wheat in contrast to the gospel of our salvation However beautiful the sower's basket it
