Legislative Manual and Official Directory of the State of Michigan, for the Year ... ,1885 Shaping American Military Capabilities after the Cold War Richard Lacquement,2003-02-28 For more than 40 years U S defense policy and the design of military capabilities were driven by the threat to national security posed by the Soviet Union and its allies As the Soviet Union collapsed analysts wondered what effect this dramatic change would have upon defense policy and the military capabilities designed to support it Strangely enough this development would ultimately have little effect on our defense policy Over a decade later American forces are a smaller but similar version of their Cold War predecessors The author argues that despite many suggestions for significant change the bureaucratic inertia of comfortable military elites has dominated the defense policy debate and preserved the status quo with only minor exceptions This inertia raises the danger that American military capabilities will be inadequate for future warfare in the information age In addition such legacy forces are inefficient and inappropriately designed for the demands of frequent and important antiterrorist and peace operations Lacquement offers extensive analysis concerning the defense policymaking process from 1989 to 2001 including in particular the 2001 Quadrennial Defense Review This important study also provides a set of targeted policy recommendations that can help solve the identified problems in preparing for future wars and in better training for peace operations WNYF. ,1962

Ruston,2012-03-12 Islamic extremism is the dominant security concern of many contemporary governments spanning the industrialized West to the developing world Narrative Landmines explores how rumors fit into and extend narrative systems and ideologies particularly in the context of terrorism counter terrorism and extremist insurgencies Its concern is to foster a more sophisticated understanding of how oral and digital cultures work alongside economic diplomatic and cultural factors that influence the struggles between states and non state actors in the proverbial battle of hearts and minds Beyond face to face communication the authors also address the role of new and social media in the creation and spread of rumors As narrative forms rumors are suitable to a wide range of political expression from citizens insurgents and governments alike and in places as distinct as Singapore Iraq and Indonesia the case studies presented for analysis The authors make a compelling argument for understanding rumors in these contexts as narrative IEDs low cost low tech weapons that can successfully counter such elaborate and expansive government initiatives as outreach campaigns or strategic communication efforts While not exactly the same as the advanced technological systems or Improvised Explosive Devices to which they are metaphorically related narrative IEDs nevertheless operate as weapons that can aid the extremist cause Boating ,1962-01 Motorboating - ND ,1983-01 MotorBoating ,1996-04
