Asia Volume 1 pulls together regional experts in the field to look specifically at sustainability issues across the region to see what has been implemented what the impacts have been and what other options are available In the race to be a developed region many Southeast Asian countries have foregone natural resources through haphazard use As a result the people are faced with numerous environmental challenges particularly deforestation and forest degradation biodiversity loss and ecosystem degradation reduction in soil quality and decreases in the quantity of available water Community based forest management is the involvement of local communities in the protection conservation and management of public forests to prevent degradation through sustainable practices while still responding to the basic social and economic needs of local populations When the people who depend on forest resources for their livelihoods are jointly responsible for managing and protecting them they tend to do so in a more sustainable manner by focusing on the long term benefits rather than the immediate short term gains However when tenure rights are weak unclear or insecure or offer limited benefits people are incited in extracting more immediate benefits resulting in suboptimal forest management and the reduction of carbon stocks Features case studies that cover issues such as rising levels of deforestation forest degradation regional food security ecosystem degradation biodiversity loss conflicts over natural resource use water management issues and impacts on local communities Includes contributions from local researchers who are dealing with these issues first hand and on a daily basis Includes a comparative review on REDD implementation in different communities Focuses on sustainability issues across the region

Environmental Governance and Common Pool Resources Michael Faure, Peter Mascini, Jing Liu, 2017-09-07 This book analyses the drivers of specific common pool resource problems particularly in fisheries and forestry examining the way in which private and public regulation have intervened to fight the common pool resource problem by contributing to the establishment and maintenance of property rights. It focuses on the various forms of regulation that have been put in place to protect fisheries and forestry over the past decades both from a theoretical as well as from a policy perspective comparing the concrete interaction of legal and policy instruments in eight separate jurisdictions.

Redesigning the Global Seed Commons Christine Frison, 2018-11-08. There is much current controversy over whether the rights to seeds or plant genetic resources should be owned by the private sector or be common property. This book addresses the legal and policy aspects of the multilateral seed management regime. First it studies in detail the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture the Treaty in order to understand and identify its dysfunctions. Second it proposes solutions using recent developments of the theory of the commons to improve the collective seed management system of the Treaty a necessary condition for its member states to reach the overall food security and sustainable agriculture goals. Redesigning the Global Seed Commons provides a significant contribution to the current political and academic debates on agrobiodiversity law and governance and on food security and food sovereignty by analyzing key issues under the Treaty that affect the design and implementation of regulatory instruments managing seeds as a commons. It also examines the practical legal political and economic problems encountered in the attempt to implement these obligations in contemporary settings. In particular it considers how to improve the Treaty implementation by proposing ways for Contracting Parties to better reach the Treaty's objectives taking a holistic view of the human seed ecosystem. Following the tenth anniversary of the functioning the Treaty's multilateral system of access and benefit sharing which is currently under review by its Contracting Parties this book is well timed to examine recent developments in the field and guide the current review process to design a truly Global Seed Commons.

Working Together Amy Poteete, Marco A. Janssen, Elinor Ostrom, 2010-04-12. Advances in the social sciences have emerged through a variety of research methods: field based research, laboratory and field experiments and agent based models. However which research method or approach is best suited to a particular inquiry is frequently debated and discussed. Working Together examines how different methods have promoted various theoretical developments related to collective action and the commons and demonstrates the importance of cross fertilization involving multimethod research across traditional boundaries. The authors look at why cross fertilization is difficult to achieve and they show ways to overcome these challenges through collaboration. The authors provide numerous examples of collaborative multimethod research related to collective action and the commons. They examine the pros and cons of case studies, meta analyses, large N field research experiments and modeling and empirically grounded agent based models and they consider how these methods contribute to research on collective action for the management of natural resources. Using their findings the authors outline a revised theory of collective action that includes three elements: individual decision making, microsituational conditions and features of the broader social ecological context. Acknowledging the academic incentives that influence and constrain how research is conducted Working Together reworks the theory of collective action and offers practical solutions for researchers and students across a spectrum of disciplines Elinor Ostrom and the Bloomington School of Political Economy Daniel H. Cole, Michael D. McGinnis, 2015-09-04 In addition to winning the 2009 Nobel Prize in Economic Sciences for her path breaking research on economic governance especially the commons Elinor Lin Ostrom also made important contributions to other fields of political economy and public policy This four volume compendium of papers written by Lin often with coauthors most notably her husband Vincent along with papers by others expanding on her work brings together the strands of her entire empirical analytical theoretical and methodological research program Together with Vincent's important theoretical contributions they defined a distinctive Bloomington School of political economic thought Volume 2 examines Lin's work on the commons in which she demonstrated that in many cases local resource users can solve collective action problems through common property management regimes It comprises papers including some that are not well known related to and building on the findings of Governing the Commons 1990 Part I focuses on key attributes of biophysical resources and the institutions human communities have designed to govern them Part II shows how in various social and ecological circumstances different sets of institutions facilitate or impede the long run sustainability of resources Part III highlights Ostrom's first major research project on water resources in Southern California It was a topic she and her students returned to with the specific intention of gathering data more than 50 years worth for longitudinal analyses of combined institutional and ecological change In sum this volume contextualizes what is at present thought to be Lin's greatest legacy to social science the conditions under which resources can be sustainably managed over very long periods of time by the collective action of ordinary people beyond markets and states Marginalities in India

Asmita Bhattacharyya, Sudeep Basu, 2017-09-20 This volume engages with the renewed focus on various forms of persisting and new marginalities in globalising India The persistence of hunger in pockets of India forcible land acquisitions and their impact on deprived sections of society the effects of urban relocations material deprivation of minority groups and tribes as a result of conflicts continuing caste discrimination reported cases of atrocities against lower castes and tribes regional disparities gendered forms of exclusion and those related to disability and many other conditions suggest the need to rethink notions and practices of marginality and exclusion in India This volume critiques the principal ways of thinking about marginalities which primarily consist of a focus on normative principles and brings into focus the chasm between such principles and subjective notions and experiences of marginality and injustice The uniqueness of this edited volume is that it connects theoretical perspectives with empirical case studies and discussions and cases of exclusion are discussed within an overall inclusive and integrated framework This is a valuable resource for researchers scholars students public policy formulators and for social innovators from private sectors and non government organisations The Hindu Kush Himalaya Assessment Philippus Wester, Arabinda Mishra, Aditi Mukherji, Arun Bhakta Shrestha, 2019-01-04 This open access volume is the first comprehensive assessment of the Hindu Kush Himalaya HKH region It comprises important scientific research on the social economic and environmental pillars of sustainable mountain development and will serve as a basis for evidence based decision making to safeguard the environment and advance people s well being The compiled content is based on the collective knowledge of over 300 leading researchers experts and policymakers brought together by the Hindu Kush Himalayan Monitoring and Assessment Programme HIMAP under the coordination of the International Centre for Integrated Mountain Development ICIMOD This assessment was conducted between 2013 and 2017 as the first of a series of monitoring and assessment reports under the guidance of the HIMAP Steering Committee Eklabya Sharma ICIMOD Atiq Raman Bangladesh Yuba Raj Khatiwada Nepal Linxiu Zhang China Surendra Pratap Singh India Tandong Yao China and David Molden ICIMOD and Chair of the HIMAP SC This First HKH Assessment Report consists of 16 chapters which comprehensively assess the current state of knowledge of the HKH region increase the understanding of various drivers of change and their impacts address critical data gaps and develop a set of evidence based and actionable policy solutions and recommendations These are linked to nine mountain priorities for the mountains and people of the HKH consistent with the Sustainable Development Goals This book is a must read for policy makers academics and students interested in this important region and an essentially important resource for contributors to global assessments such as the IPCC reports
