A Theory of Precedent Raimo Siltala, 2000-11-30 Analytical jurisprudence has been mostly silent on the role of precedent in legal adjudication What is the content of a judge's precedent ideology or the rule of precedent recognition by means of which the ratio of a case is to be distinguished from mere dicta In this study the author identifies six types of judicial precedent ideology among them judicial legislation systemic construction of the underlying reasons of law in the Dworkinian sense and a radical re-evaluation of the merits of a prior case in later adjudication as envisioned by the American Realists These competing models are tested against judicial experiences in the UK US France Italy Germany and Finland By this means Lon Fuller's famous internal morality of law is shown to function rather poorly in the context of precedents and the author therefore suggests a redefinition of the rule which makes it work for precedent This in turn leads the author to confront fundamental questions about the normative nature of law Is Kelsen's grundnorm or Hart's ultimate rule of recognition a valid rule in the image of legal rules proper or is it merely a social fact observable only in the practices and behaviour of judges and other officials The author claims that Hart is caught between Kelsen and J L Borges the late Argentinian fabulist in so far as the ontology and epistemology of the rule of recognition are concerned This leads the author to the conclusion that the two predicaments affecting analytical positivism namely the threat of endless self-referentiality or infinite regress can only be accounted for by means of recourse to the philosophy of deconstruction as posited by Jacques Derrida

Patterson,2024-07-26 As a traditional site of historical criticism medieval studies is particularly well placed to benefit from the recent reemergence of historicism in literary studies But this new critical historicism differs from the traditional criticism in both method and interests differences that are well illustrated by this collection A concern with politics a reliance on the materials of economic and social history a conception of writing as a form of social practices a focus upon the forces of change in medieval culture and unwillingness to observe the usual distinction between literary and historical texts and a historicization of their own activity these characteristics make these essays a significant contribution to medieval studies Moreover both in conception and execution the essays reject the barrier that the humanist account of history has erected between a Middle Ages stigmatized as distant and other and a Renaissance consecrated as the beginning of the modern world Thus they invite the attention of nonmedievalists especially Renaissance specialists who wish to test their assumptions about medieval literature against some of the best recent work in the field The authors consider a wide range of materials Three of the essays explore Chaucer's career as a bureaucrat a diplomat and a poet Other topics include Langland's self constitution in Piers Plowman the medieval production and modern reception of the mystery plays Hoccleve's innovative strategies for offering political advice to his king and the ideological and psychological interests that governed the idea of the city in sixteenth century Scotland All scholars and students of the Middle Ages comparative literature and literature and language programs generally will appreciate this ground breaking collection Contributors Anne Middleton Paul Strohm Lee Patterson David Wallace Larry Scanlon Theresa Coletti Louise Fradenburg This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived
