Zachs, Sharon Halevi, 2014-11-14 The Nahda lit the Awakening was one of the most significant cultural movements in modern Arab history By focusing on the neglected role of women in the intellectual Islamic renaissance of the late Ottoman Period

Fruma Zachs and Sharon Halevi provide a refreshingly interdisciplinary exploration of gender and culture in the Arab World. Focusing mainly on Greater Syria, this book re-examines the cultural by-products of the Nahda such as scientific debates, journal articles, essays, short stories, and novels, and provides a new framework for rethinking the dynamics of cultural and social change in what today we know as Syria and Lebanon. The lasting impact of the Nahda is given an innovative and thoroughly unique interpretation, providing an indispensable perspective to studying the nuanced roles of the construction and development of gender ideologies in the nineteenth-century Middle East. The authors explore contemporary ideas concerning modern gender roles in the Middle East and the extent to which these emerged in nineteenth-century Greater Syria. How were these ideas incorporated into daily lives, consumer patterns, and cultural activities? Was class a determining factor in the creation of gender relations in the Muslim world? How were the subjectivities of gender moulded and articulated in fictional and non-fictional texts? The authors delineate both the evolution of a discourse on gender as well as the real-life activities of men and women as writers, readers, and participants in philanthropic and cultural societies, literary salons, and educational enterprises. This book reemphasizes the position of the Nahda in the worlds of Damascus, Aleppo, and Beirut as an innovative, deeply influential, and significant socio-cultural and political movement in its own right, which played a major role in shaping modern Arab culture, worldviews, and self-perception. Zachs and Halevi here provide a new framework for rethinking the dynamics of cultural and social change and present a groundbreaking new interpretation of the cumulative impact of the Nahda on gender perception in the late Ottoman Period. Performing the Pied-Noir Family Aoife

Connolly, 2020-10-16. The impact of the Algerian War 1954-1962 continues to resonate in France, where the subject was long repressed in the collective psyche. This book sheds new light on a memory community at the heart of the conflict: the million European settlers known as the pieds noirs, who migrated to France as the war reached its bloody end. Aoife Connolly draws on theories of performativity to explore autobiographical and fictional narratives by the settlers in over 30 canonical and non-canonical works of literature and film produced from the colony's imminent demise up to the present day. Connolly focuses on renewed attachment to the family in exile in a comprehensive analysis of settler masculinity, femininity, childhood, and adolescence that uncovers neglected representations, including homosexual and Jewish voices. Findings on the construction of a post-independence identity and collective memory have broader implications for communities affected by colonization and migration. Scholars of French Studies, Postcolonial Studies, Cultural Studies, Gender and Identity Studies, Memory Studies, and Migration Studies will find this book particularly useful. Masculinities and Literary Studies Josep M. Armengol, Marta Bosch Vilarrubias, Àngels Carabí, Teresa Requena, 2017-02-03. As more and more work is being done in the name of the ever-growing field of study of literary representations of masculinities, it seems timely to not only review its development and main contributions to the larger field of masculinity studies but also to look at its latest advances and new directions. These are precisely the two main aims of Masculinities and Literary Studies, which seeks to explore the conjunction between these two fields while exploring some of the latest developments and new directions resulting from such intersections. If much of the existing masculinity scholarship has traditionally been grounded in a specific discipline, this volume also seeks to provide an innovative methodological approach to the subject of literary masculinities by proving the applicability of the latest interdisciplinary masculinity scholarship, namely sociology, social work, psychology, economics, political science, ecology, etc. to the literary analysis, thus crossing the traditional boundary between the Social Sciences and the Humanities in new and profound ways. Presenting the latest advances in masculinity scholarship, this interdisciplinary book will appeal to gender and masculinity scholars from a wide variety of fields including sociology and social work, psychology, philosophy, political science, and cultural and literary studies.

Men in Color Josep M. Armengol, 2011-01-18. Comprising seven different chapters, the collection Men in Color attempts to analyze and revisit the representation of ethnic masculinities, both white and non-white, in and through contemporary U.S. literature and cinema. If most of the existing studies on masculinity and race have centered on one specific model of racialized masculinities, Men in Color attempts to provide an introductory perspective on different racialized masculinities simultaneously, including African American, Asian American, Chicano, Arab American, and also white masculinity, which is analyzed as another ethnic and gendered construct rather than as a paradigm of normalcy and universality. By exploring several ethnic masculinities in relation to each other, the present volume aims to highlight both the differences and the similarities between different patterns of masculinity, showing how even as gender is inflected by race, certain aspects or features of masculinity remain unchanged across the ethnic board. Ultimately, the volume as a whole illustrates both the changing nature of masculinities as well as the recurrence of certain stereotypes, such as the hypersexualization and/or the feminization of ethnic males, which recur in and across several ethnicities. The constant tension and intersection between gender and race is the subject of this book, which hopes to contribute some notes and reflections on ethnic masculinities to the much more complex and larger discussion about gender and racial identities in our increasingly multicultural and globalized 21st-century world.

Ecomasculinities Rubén Cenamor, Stefan Brandt, 2019-01-25. While there exist numerous studies on ecocriticism and ecofeminism, much less has been written about ecomasculinities. This volume contributes to filling this gap by examining models of fictional ecomasculinity in and through contemporary U.S. literature and cinema. Our study examines ecomasculinities as practices of masculinity which are deeply conservationist and can embrace non-masculine traits. In this line of thought, a main goal of the volume is to interrogate the potential of ecomasculinities to elicit in men a desire to become engaged in other practices of masculinity that are counter-hegemonic and have as their main goal to achieve equality on different strata of society. Bridging the gap between the Social Sciences and the Humanities, the book interrogates intersections between ecomasculinities and masculinities beyond capitalism, ecomasculinities and aging, and ecomasculinities and queerness, among others.

Televised Presidential Debates in a Changing Media Environment Edward A. Hinck, 2018-11-26. This two-volume set examines recent presidential and vice presidential debates addresses how citizens make sense of these events in new media and considers whether the evolution of these forms of consumption is healthy for future presidential campaigns and for democracy The presidential debates of 2016 underscored how television highlights candidates and campaigns messages which provide fodder for citizens widespread use of new media to talk back to campaigns and other citizens Social media will continue to affect the way that campaign events like presidential debates are consumed by audiences and how they shape campaign outcomes This two volume study is one of the first to examine the relationship between debates as televised events and events consumed by citizens through social media It also assesses the town hall debate format from 1992 to 2016 uses the lens of civil dialogue to consider how citizens watch the debates and considers the growing impact of new media commentary on candidate images that emerge in presidential and vice presidential debates Televised Presidential Debates in a Changing Media Environment features contributions from leading political communication scholars that illuminate how presidential debates are transforming from events that are privately contemplated by citizens to events that are increasingly viewed and discussed by citizens through social media The first volume focuses on traditional studies of debates as televised campaign events and the second volume examines the changing audiences for debates as they become consumed and discussed by viewers outside the traditional channels of newspapers cable news channels and campaign messaging Readers will contemplate questions of new forms problems and possibilities of political engagement that are resulting from citizens producing and consuming political messages in new media

Richard Ford and the Fiction of Masculinities Josep M. Armengol, 2010 Richard Ford and the Fiction of Masculinities demonstrates how contemporary U S novelist Richard Ford winner of the Pulitzer Prize for literature rewrites gender and in particular masculinity from highly subversive and innovative perspectives Josep M Armengol analyzes the construction as well as the de construction of masculinity in all of Ford s major fictional texts to date ranging from A Piece of My Heart to The Sportswriter to The Lay of the Land Given its simultaneous critique of traditional masculinity and its depiction of alternative models of being a man Ford s fiction is shown to be particularly interesting from a men s studies perspective which aims not only to undermine patriarchal masculinity but also to look for new non hierarchical and more egalitarian models of being a man in contemporary U S culture and literature By framing Ford s contemporary representations of masculinity within a more general context of American literature this book reveals how his texts continue along a trajectory of earlier American fiction while they also re examine masculinity in new more complex ways Richard Ford and the Fiction of Masculinities contributes to the much needed revision of men and masculinities in U S literature and especially Richard Ford s fiction where constructions of gender and masculinity remain paradoxically enough largely unexplored

Rewriting White Masculinities in Contemporary Fiction and Film Josep M. Armengol, 2024-03-25 This book focuses on the construction of hegemonic masculinity as well as its representations in literature culture and film Although white heterosexual masculinity continues to be the dominant model it remains paradoxically largely invisible in gender terms While the first three chapters thus offer introductory theoretical perspectives on the latest research on white masculinities the following chapters concentrate on applying masculinity theory to the analysis of both social constructions and cultural i e literary and film representations of men s emotions with a special focus on new fatherhood models friendships between men as well as gender based violence Beyond the Hijab Debates Tanja Dreher,Christina Ho,2009-03-26 Headscarves in schools Ethnic gang rapists Domestic violence in Indigenous communities Polygamy Sharia law It seems that in public debates around the world concerns about marginalised communities often revolve around issues of gender and women s rights Yet all too often discussions about complex matters are reduced to simplistic debates such as hijab to ban or not to ban or Muslim women oppressed or liberated This collection provides a space for in depth analyses on the politics of gender race and religion As well as critical reflections on images and experiences of Muslim women chapters also explore the relationships between gender violence and protection and offer innovative possibilities for intellectual and practical understandings at the intersection of gender race and religion Essential reading for scholars and students of gender and women s studies cultural studies racial and ethnic studies religious studies and an educated public interested in understanding the challenges and possibilities of tackling both racism and the oppression of women The Video Game Debate 2 Rachel Kowert,Thorsten Quandt,2020-11-29 This student friendly book provides an accessible overview of the primary debates about the effects of video games It expands on the original The Video Game Debate to address the new technologies that have emerged within the field of game studies over the last few years Debates about the negative effects of video game play have been evident since their introduction in the 1970s but the advent of online and mobile gaming has revived these concerns reinvigorating old debates and generating brand new ones The Video Game Debate 2 draws from the latest research findings from the top scholars of digital games research to address these concerns The book explores key developments such as virtual and augmented reality the use of micro transactions the integration of loot boxes and the growth of mobile gaming and games for change serious games Furthermore several new chapters explore contemporary debates around e sports gamification sex and gender discrimination in games and the use of games in therapy This book offers students and scholars of games studies and digital media as well as policymakers the essential information they need to participate in the debate The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory Lisa Disch,Mary Hawkesworth,2018-02-01 The Oxford Handbook of Feminist Theory provides a rich overview of the analytical frameworks and theoretical concepts that feminist theorists have developed to analyze the known world Featuring leading feminist theorists from diverse regions of the globe this collection delves into forty nine subject areas demonstrating the complexity of feminist challenges to established knowledge while also engaging areas of contestation within feminist theory Demonstrating the interdisciplinary nature of feminist theory the chapters offer innovative analyses of topics central to social and political science cultural studies and humanities discourses associated with medicine and science and issues in contemporary critical theory that have been transformed through feminist theorization The handbook identifies limitations of key epistemic assumptions that inform traditional scholarship and shows how theorizing from women s and men s lives has profound effects on the conceptualization of central categories whether the field of analysis is aesthetics biology cultural studies development economics film studies health history literature politics religion science studies sexualities violence or war Routledge International Handbook of Masculinity Studies Lucas Gottzén,Ulf Mellström,Tamara Shefer,2019-11-20 The Routledge International Handbook of Masculinity Studies provides a contemporary critical and scholarly overview of theorizing and research on masculinities as well as emerging ideas and areas of study that are likely to shape research and understanding of gender and men in the future The forty eight chapters of the handbook take an interdisciplinary approach to a range of topics on men and masculinities related to identity sex sexuality culture aesthetics technology and pressing social issues The handbook s transnational lens acknowledges both the localities and global character of masculinity A clear message in the book is the need for intersectional theorizing in dialogue with feminist queer and sexuality studies in making sense of men and masculinities Written in a clear and direct style the handbook will appeal to students teachers and researchers in the social sciences and humanities as well as professionals practitioners and activists (Un)covering Men Melissa Meyer,Helen Struthers,2012 Between 2009 and 2011 journalism fellows of the HIV AIDS Media Project undertook in depth research looking to write about men masculinity and HIV in a new way and the result is this compendium of articles blogs and photo essays It showcases a diversity of men each facing a unique context and dealing with sexual health and relationships differently The book is structured around four central themes men as lovers men as partners and fathers men who have sex with men and men s relationship to traditional and medical male circumcision and brings men s varied roles in the HIV epidemic to the fore Debates and Issues in Feminist Research and Pedagogy Janet Holland,Maud Blair,Sue Sheldon,1995 The articles in this book engage with practical issues relating to teaching and research The way in which gender and education is theorized is currently in a period of profound change and this presents a major challenge to feminist teachers who want to translate explanations for gender relations into transformative action in the classroom Several of the authors in this collection consider the possibilities and practicalities of transformative feminist pedagogies identifying the pedagogic moments into which challenge and change can be introduced without distorting or denying the students experience Another section contains articles which present the results of classroom research dealing with issues of class gender race and sexuality We can see from the results of these recent studies that class race and gender continue to position students differently throughout the whole school and the entire curriculum Research on teacher education reported here indicates that gender differences are produced and reproduced in that context A final section of the book deals with the ongoing and lively debate on feminist methodology and epistemology indicating the variety of approaches and positions that are being taken up in this area
