Novel Images Peter Reynolds, 2013-07-18 Written specifically with the student in mind and focusing on a number of well known texts including Les Liaisons Dangereuses Nicholas Nickleby Nice Work and The Color Purple the contributions in this book demonstrate how we can look critically at literary adaptations and learn to distinguish between mythical images and the reality of the process that constructed them They argue that adaptations should not be seen as secondary or marginal because through them we can enter into an exciting debate with the literary text itself Originally published in 1993

Discorrelated Images Shane Denson, 2020-09-18 In Discorrelated Images Shane Denson examines how computer generated digital images displace and transform the traditional spatial and temporal relationships that viewers had with conventional analog forms of cinema Denson analyzes works ranging from the Transformers series and Blade Runner 2049 to videogames and multimedia installations to show how what he calls discorrelated images images that do not correlate with the abilities and limits of human perception produce new subjectivities affects and potentials for perception and action Denson's theorization suggests that new media theory and its focus on technological development must now be inseparable from film and cinema theory There's more at stake in understanding discorrelated images Denson contends than just a reshaping of cinema the development of new technical imaging processes and the evolution of film and media studies discorrelated images herald a transformation of subjectivity itself and are essential to our ability to comprehend nonhuman agency

Images of Dictatorship Rosalind Marsh, 2017-04-21 Originally published in 1989 this book presented the first study of the image of Stalin in literature Analysing the literary presentation of historical character and the treatment of 20th Century tyrants in European prose fiction the book draws a comparison between the depiction of Hitler in German literature and Stalin in Russian literature It explores the way in which Stalin has been portrayed by Soviet emigr Russian and European writers including Orwell Nabokov Mandelstam Pasternak and Solzhenitsyn It examines in detail two important novels which had hitherto received little critical attention the revised 1978 version of Solzhenitsyn's The First Circle and Anatoly Rybakov's Children of the Arbat This book will be of interest to students of Soviet Russian literature history and politics and those interested in the relationship between history and fiction in the 20th Century

The Images of Time Robin Le Poidevin, 2007-09-27 The Images of Time presents a philosophical investigation of the nature of time and the mind's ways of representing it Robin Le Poidevin examines how we perceive time and change the means by which memory links us with the past the attempt to represent change and movement in art and the nature of fictional time These apparently disparate questions all concern the ways in which we represent aspects of time in thought experience art and fiction They also raise fundamental problems for our philosophical understanding both of mental representation and of the nature of time itself Le Poidevin brings together issues in philosophy psychology aesthetics and literary theory in examining the mechanisms underlying our representation of time in various media and brings these to bear on metaphysical debates over the real nature of time These debates concern which aspects of time are genuinely part of time's intrinsic nature and which in some sense are mind dependent Arguably the most important debate concerns time's passage does time pass in reality or is the division of events into past present and future simply a reflection of our temporal perspective a result of the interaction between a static world and minds capable of representing it Le Poidevin argues that contrary to what perception and memory lead us to suppose time does not really pass and this surprising conclusion can be reconciled with the characteristic features of temporal experience

Terrorizing Images Charles Ivan Armstrong, Unni Langas, 2020-09-07 It is broadly accepted that terrorizing images are often instrumentalized in periods of conflict to serve political interests This volume proposes that paying attention to how images of trauma and conflict are described in literary texts i e to the rhetorical practice known as ekphrasis is crucial to our understanding of how such images work The volume's contributors discuss verbal images of trauma and terror in literary texts both from a contemporary perspective and as historical artefacts in order to illuminate the many different functions of ekphrasis in literature The articles in this volume reflect the vast developments in the field of trauma studies since the 1990s a field that has recently broadened to include genres beyond the memoir and testimony and that lends itself well to new postcolonial feminist and multimedia approaches By expanding the scholarly understanding of how images of trauma are described interpreted and acted out in literary texts this collected volume makes a significant contribution to both trauma and memory studies as well as more broadly to cultural studies

Images and Identities Asela Rodriguez de Laguna, 2017-09-29 This book represents the vitality diversity and distinctiveness of contemporary Puerto Rican letters and writers It is concerned with the image and identity of the Puerto Rican as it is reflected in literature

Inadvertent Images Peter Geimer, 2018-03-14 As an artistic medium photography is uniquely subject to accidents or disruptions that can occur in the making of an artwork Though rarely considered seriously those accidents can offer fascinating insights about the nature of the medium and how it works With Inadvertent Images Peter Geimer explores all kinds of photographic irritation from throughout the history of the medium as well as accidental images that occur through photo like means such as the image of Christ on the Shroud of Turin brought into high resolution through photography Geimer's investigations complement the history of photographic images by cataloging a corresponding history of their symptoms their precarious visibility and the disruptions threatened by image noise Interwoven with the familiar history of photography is a secret history of photographic artifacts spots and hazes that historians have typically dismissed as spurious phenomena parasites or enemies of the photographer With such photographs it is virtually impossible to tell where a picture has been disrupted where the representation ends and the image noise begins We must Geimer argues seek to keep both in sight the technical making and the necessary unpredictability of what is made the intentional and the accidental aspects representation and its potential disruption
