The productivity frontier and best practice (p41)

Productivity frontier: an economic concept that represents the current level of best practice

Defined as 'maximum value a company can deliver at a given cost, given the best available technology, units and management techniques' by Porter

If an organization is efficient – it sits at or on the efficient frontier. However, most organizations sit below the frontier and strive to improve their performance to improve efficiency and effectiveness of what they do with their resources. It is necessary to adopt new practices and technology that are available to competitors in the industry

Differentiating strategy from tactics (p42)

	Overview	Example
Tactics	Operational effectiveness is improving the performance of activities  Short-term improvement	A car insurer that improves its customer claims process saves the customer time and the organisation money, which results in an overall business improvement  Risks: would expect competitors to then take the same steps
Strategy	Competitive strategy is transforming the activities performed, so that they differ from rivals or are completed in a different manner to standard practice in the market.  Long-term improvement	A strategic move would be for the car insurer to start offering health insurance as well  This involves the car insurer entering into a new market and differentiating itself from other traditional car insurers  Strategy is about 'thinking outside the box' and expanding into new products and markets
