The Ohio State University's EcoCAR 3 vehicle has a plug-in hybrid architecture with operation in series and parallel power flows. The architecture features a 5-speed manual transmission that was automated by the team to retain the efficiency of a manual transmission while providing the convenience of an automatic transmission. The team developed controllers to manage the clutch and shift actuators to provide supervisory control of the automated manual transmission. The simplicity and efficiency of a manual transmission combined with the advantages provided by the hybrid architecture make it a good candidate for an HEV. This thesis provides an overview of the modeling, component testing, and controls development for the
