Public Lands Conflict and Resolution Julia M. Wondolleck, 2013-06-29 The United States Forest Service perhaps more than any other federal agency has made great strides during the past two decades revolutionizing its public involvement efforts and reshaping its profile through the hiring of professionals in many disciplinary areas long absent in the agency In fact to a large extent the agency has been doing precisely what everyone has been clamoring for it to do involving the public more in its decisions hiring more wildlife biologists recreation specialists sociologists planners and individuals with people skills and furthermore taking a more comprehensive and long term view in planning the future of the national forests The result has been significant in some ways monumental changes in the agency and its land management practices There are provisions for public input in almost all aspects of national forest management today The professional disciplines represented throughout the agency's ranks are markedly more diverse than they have ever been Moreover no stone is left unturned in the agency's current forest planning effort undoubtedly the most comprehensive interdisciplinary planning effort ever undertaken by a resource agency in the United States Regardless of the dramatic change that has occurred in the U S Forest Service since the early 1970s the agency is still plagued by conflicts arising from dissatisfaction with how it is doing business Economics David A. Dieterle, 2017-03-27 A comprehensive four volume resource that explains more than 800 topics within the foundations of economics macroeconomics microeconomics and global economics all presented in an easy to read format As the global economy becomes increasingly complex interconnected and therefore relevant to each individual in every country it becomes more important to be economically literate to gain an understanding of how things work beyond the microcosm of the economic needs of a single individual or family unit This expansive reference set serves to establish basic economic literacy of students and researchers providing more than 800 objective and factually driven entries on all the major themes and topics in economics Written by leading scholars and practitioners the set provides readers with a framework for understanding economics as mentioned and debated in the public forum and media Each of the volumes includes coverage of important events throughout economic history biographies of the major economists who have shaped the world of economics and highlights of the legislative acts that have shaped the U S economy throughout history The extensive explanations of major economic concepts combined with selected key historical primary source documents and a glossary will endow readers with a fuller comprehension of our economic world

Trade-Off Analysis for Environmental Projects: An Annotated Bibliography , A Guide to identifying priorities and indicators for restoration monitoring Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2019-09-25 This guide walks practitioners through seven questions to help them make decisions regarding restoration monitoring First practitioners are asked to determine their restoration goals land use and barriers to sustainability These choices are filtered by constraints and priorities so the practitioner will develop the indicators needed to setup their monitoring framework It provides a framework for identifying indicators Indicators are value laden measures of development performance designed to measure and calibrate progress Environmental indicators are used to provide synthesized knowledge on environmental issues and to highlight the extent of environmental trends They also help to reduce complexity provide important links between science and policy and help decision makers to provide guidance on environmental governance An indicator framework can provide a management tool to help countries develop implementation strategies and allocate resources accordingly to reach restoration goals Tracking progress with indicators can act as a report card to measure progress towards restoration and help ensure the accountability of all stakeholders for achieving the goals The guide uses country case studies to show how a practitioner could answer the questions offering a menu of potential indicators for measuring progress that other monitoring practitioners might find useful Next it highlights the different types of data that can feed into creating an indicator framework depending on resource constraints and information needs Some restoration programs may require fewer cost effective indicators that are collected locally Other programs may be able to integrate small locally collected data with big data from satellite imagery and social media applications with chapters devoted to medical decision making decision making and the law consumer behavior and more Addresses controversial topics from multiple perspectives such as choice from description versus choice from experience and contrasts between empirical methodologies employed in behavioral economics and psychology Brings together a multi disciplinary group of contributors from across the social sciences including psychology economics marketing finance public policy sociology and philosophy 2 Volumes Incommensurability and Commensuration Fred Agostino,2018-10-24 This title was published in 2003 This volume presents a detailed examination of incommensurability in the value theoretical sense Exploring how choosers deal with problems and constraints of choice the author draws on work in cognitive psychology in sociology in jurisprudence in economics and in the theory of value to show how choosers learn to make trade offs when there is potential incommensurability among the options they are considering The analysis is also informed by recent work in the tradition of Michel Foucault With so many modern devices and ideals of government dependent on the comparability of options this book is timely and can inform public debate about de regulation user pays accountability and the substitution of market mechanisms for government regulation and supply Human Systems Management: Integrating Knowledge, Management And Systems Milan Zeleny,2005-09-01 Human Systems Management is an important work that integrates knowledge management and systems into a unified world of thinking and action in business decision making and economics It presents a modern synthesis of the fields of knowledge management systems science and human organization A biological rather than mechanistic perspective pervades the text New and original ideas and approaches are presented with the simplicity and clarity typical of the well known author Political Psychology Mr. Rohit Manglik,2024-02-10 EduGorilla Publication is a trusted name in the education sector committed to empowering learners with high quality study materials and resources Specializing in competitive exams and academic support EduGorilla provides comprehensive and well structured content tailored to meet the needs of students across various streams and levels Administration Ethics Joseph Byrne,2017-05-15 There are few industries in which decisions are so intently scrutinized by millions of Canadians as the healthcare industry Each day important decisions concerning the funding and delivery of healthcare are made far from the patient s bed in the offices of administrators and policy makers These decisions can have considerable impact on the lives of patients and the practice of healthcare professionals Whether you are a seasoned executive or an entry level manager Administration Ethics is intended to assist you in rendering effective and ethical decisions Brimming with engaging examples this text provides a practical guide to understanding the essential but often challenging areas of ethics theories principles codes and rights and insightfully illustrates how these concepts are integrated Administration Ethics goes beyond academic debate and enters the daily practice of health administration It examines the psychology of decision making revealing how we sometimes make well intentioned but unethical decisions Each chapter includes illustrative cases pertinent to the ethical management and policy decisions required of healthcare administrators Featuring a new user friendly decision model and designed specifically with the Canadian healthcare system in mind this volume will be an indispensable resource for both current and future healthcare administrators in Canada NUREG/CR. U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission,1981 The neurobiology of emotion-cognition interactions Hadas Okon-Singer, Luiz Pessoa, Alexander J. Shackman,2015-06-12 There is increasing interest in understanding the interplay of emotional and cognitive processes The objective of the Research Topic was to provide an interdisciplinary survey of cutting edge neuroscientific research on the interaction and integration of emotion and cognition in the brain The following original empirical reports commentaries and theoretical reviews provide a comprehensive survey on recent advances in understanding how emotional and cognitive processes interact how they are integrated in the brain and what their implications for understanding the mind and its disorders are These works encompasses a broad spectrum of populations and showcases a wide variety of paradigms measures analytic strategies and conceptual approaches The aim of the Topic was to begin to address several key questions about the interplay of cognitive and emotional processes in the brain including what is the impact of emotional states anxiety and stress on various cognitive functions How are emotion and cognition integrated in the brain Do individual differences in affective dimensions of temperament and personality alter cognitive performance and how is this realized in the brain Are there individual differences that increase vulnerability to the impact of affect on cognition who is vulnerable and who resilient How plastic is the interplay of cognition and emotion Taken together these works demonstrate that emotion and cognition are deeply interwoven in the fabric of the brain suggesting that widely held beliefs about the key constituents of the emotional brain and the cognitive brain are fundamentally flawed Developing a deeper understanding of the emotional cognitive brain is important not just for understanding the mind but also for elucidating the root causes of its many debilitating disorders

Toward a Unified View of the Speed-Accuracy Trade-Off: Behaviour, Neurophysiology and Modelling Dominic Standage, Da-Hui Wang, Richard P. Heitz, Patrick Simen, 2016-02-18 Everyone is familiar with the speed accuracy trade off SAT To make good choices we need to balance the conflicting demands of fast and accurate decision making After all hasty decisions often lead to poor choices but accurate decisions may be useless if they take too long This notion is intuitive because it reflects a fundamental aspect of cognition not only do we deliberate over the evidence for decisions but we can control that deliberative process This control raises many questions for the study of choice behaviour and executive function For example how do we figure out the appropriate balance between speed and accuracy on a given task How do we impose that balance on our decisions and what is its neural basis Researchers have addressed these and related questions for decades using a variety of methods and offering answers at different levels of abstraction Given this diverse methodology our aim is to provide a unified view of the SAT Extensive analysis of choice behaviour suggests that we make decisions by accumulating evidence until some criterion is reached Thus adjusting the criterion controls how long we accumulate evidence and therefore the speed and accuracy of decisions This simple framework provides the platform for our unified view

In the pages that follow leading experts in decision neuroscience consider the history of SAT research strategies for determining the optimal balance between speed and accuracy conditions under which this seemingly ubiquitous phenomenon breaks down and the neural mechanisms that may implement the computations of our unifying framework     The Why of Consumption Cynthia Huffman, David Glen Mick, S. Ratneshwar, 2003-09-02 This book brings together an international collection of authors from a variety of disciplines who offer new and critical perspectives summarize key findings and provide important theoretical frameworks to guide the reader through the why of consumption The book answers questions such as What is the nature of motives goals and desires that prompt consumption behaviours Why do consumers buy and consume particular products brands and services from the multitude of alternatives afforded by their environments How do consumers think and feel about their cravings Unique in focus and with multifaceted approach which anyone interested in consumption and consumer research will find fascinating this topical book provides an excellent overview of current research and imparts key insights to illuminate the subject for both academics and practitioners alike     The GAO Review ,1980
