L.C Araújo, Rachel P. Riechmann, 2018-04-16 This book introduces and discusses the most important aspects of clinical research methods and biostatistics for oncologists pursuing a tailor made and practical approach Evidence based medicine EBM has been in vogue in the last few decades particularly in rapidly advancing fields such as oncology This approach has been used to support decision making processes worldwide sparking new clinical research and guidelines on clinical and surgical oncology Clinical oncology research has many peculiarities including specific study endpoints a special focus on survival analyses and a unique perspective on EBM However during medical studies and in general practice these topics are barely taught Moreover even when EBM and clinical cancer research are discussed they are presented in a theoretical fashion mostly focused on formulas and numbers rather than on clinical application for a proper literature appraisal Addressing that gap this book discusses more practical aspects of clinical research and biostatistics in oncology instead of relying only on mathematical formulas and theoretical considerations Methods and Biostatistics in Oncology will help readers develop the skills they need to understand the use of research on everyday oncology clinical practice for study design and interpretation as well to demystify the use of EBM in oncology Neuro-Oncology Compendium for the Boards and Clinical Practice Maciej M. Predatory Publishing Jingfeng Xia,2021-12-24 Predatory Publishing introduces and examines many forms of unethical and unprofessional publishing whilst also analyzing its tactics and impact on scholarly communication Covering all aspects of predatory publishing including topics such as predatory journals hijacked publications alternative metrics and fraudulent conferences the book considers the sociocultural geopolitical and technical impact of predatory behaviors Demonstrating that predatory publishing has taken advantage of the open access movement the author highlights the negative impact such publishing practices have had on science discovery and dissemination around the world Efforts to counter unethical and destructive conduct such as journal blacklists peer review sting operations the implementation of the strict journal selection criteria by the Directory of Open Access Journals and government regulations in some countries are also fully described Predatory Publishing is a useful resource for every researcher practitioner and student in the global scholarly community Individuals can expect to get a whole picture of the practice by reading this book and decision makers will find it informative to support their decisions This book will be of interest to those studying and working in the fields of publishing library and information science communication science economics and higher education People in other fields particularly biomedical sciences will also find it useful House of Commons - Science and Technology Committee: Clinical Trials - HC 104 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Science and Technology Committee,2013-09-17 Many of the trials taking place today are unregistered and unpublished meaning that the information that they generate remains invisible to both the scientific community and the public This undermines public trust slowing the pace of medical advancement and potentially putting patients at risk All trials conducted on NHS treatments and all other trials receiving public funding should be prospectively registered and their results published in a scientific journal While the focus should be on implementing this change for future trials the Government must also do what it can to ensure that historic trials are registered and published particularly where they have been publically funded The Government should also take steps to facilitate greater sharing of the raw data generated during a trial in a responsible and controlled way with the knowledge and consent of patients The report also draws attention to the recent fall in the number of trials taking place in the UK It finds that the need for multiple governance approvals from participating NHS organisations remained the biggest barrier to setting up a UK trial but that lack of public awareness was also a key issue Recruiting participants can also be a challenge The report calls on the Government to take its recommendations into account in ongoing discussions regarding the revision of European clinical trials legislation and in its response to the European Medicines Agency s consultation on the release of clinical trial data which closes at the end of this month
