Communicative Practices in Workplaces and the Professions Mark Zachry,Charlotte Thralls,2017-03-02 Bringing together prominent scholars from a variety of disciplines Communicative Practices in Workplaces and the Professions Cultural Perspectives on the Regulation of Discourse and Organizations offers readers an engaging set of essays on the complicated relationship between discourse and the many institutions within which people act Each author brings a unique theoretical perspective to conceptualizing how discourse is regulated and how it regulates when human activity is organized for such purposes as work or belonging to a profession Together the contributors to this collection offer a provocatively complex picture of what regulation means and the means of regulation

Unsustainable Jessica Restaino,Laurie J. C. Cella,2013 Unsustainable Re imagining Community Literacy Public Writing Service Learning and the University edited by Jessica Restaino and Laurie Cella explores short lived university community writing projects in an effort to rethink the long held gold standard of long term sustainability in community writing work Contributors examine their own efforts in order to provide alternate models for understanding assessing and enacting university community writing projects that for a range of reasons fall outside of traditional practice This collection considers what has become an increasingly unified call for praxis where scholar practitioners explore a specific project that fell short of theorized best practice sustainability in order to determine not only the nature of what remains how and why we might find value in a community based writing project that lacks long term sustainability for example but also how or why we might rethink redefine and reevaluate best practice ideals in the first place In so doing the contributors are at once responding to what has been an increasing acknowledgment in the field that for a variety of reasons many community based writing projects do not go as initially planned and also applying in praxis a framework for thinking about and studying such projects Unsustainable represents the kind of scholarly work that some of the most recognizable names in the field have been calling for over the past five years This book affirms that unpredictability is an indispensable factor in the field and argues that such unpredictability presents in fact demands a theoretical approach that takes these practical experiences as its base

Critical Power Tools J. Blake Scott ,Bernadette Longo ,Katherine V. Wills,2007-06-01 Winner of the 2007 National Council of Teachers of English NCTE Award for Best Collection of Essays on Technical and Scientific Communication The first book to focus on the intersection of cultural studies and technical communication Critical Power Tools draws on various traditions of cultural studies to develop new or expanded theoretical methodological and pedagogical approaches to technical communication Offered as a sourcebook for the field the book is organized into three parts The first section emphasizing theory building reconceptualizes key concepts or practices such as usability through a cultural studies lens The second section illustrates alternative research methods through several case studies The third section offers critical and productive pedagogical approaches including specific assignments applicable to both undergraduate and graduate courses

Crossing Borders, Drawing Boundaries Barbara Couture,Patti Wojahn,2016-03-01 With growing anxiety about American identity fueling debates about the nation s borders ethnicities and languages Crossing Borders Drawing Boundaries provides a timely and important rhetorical exploration of divisionary bounds that divide an Us from a Them The concept of border calls for attention and the authors in this collection respond by describing it challenging it confounding it and at times erasing it Motivating us to see anew the many lines that unite divide and define us the essays in this volume highlight how discourse at borders and boundaries can create or thwart conditions for establishing identity and admitting difference Each chapter analyzes how public discourse at the site of physical or metaphorical borders presents or confounds these conditions and consequently effective participation a key criterion for a modern democracy The settings are various encompassing vast public spaces such as cities and areas within them the rhetorical spaces of history books museum displays activist events and media outlets and the intimate settings of community and classroom conversations Crossing Borders Drawing Boundaries shows how rich communication can be when diverse cultures intersect and create new opportunities for human connection even while different populations cultures age groups and political parties adopt irreconcilable positions It will be of interest to scholars in rhetoric and literacy studies and students in rhetorical analysis and public discourse Contributors include Andrea Alden Cori Brewster Robert Brooke Randolph Cauthen Jennifer Clifton Barbara Couture Vanessa Cozza Anita C Hernandez Roberta J Herter Judy Holiday Elenore Long Jos A Montelongo Karen P Peirce Jonathan P Rossing Susan A Schiller Christopher Schroeder Tricia C Serviss M nica Torres Kathryn Valentine Victor Villanueva and Patti Wojahn

Civic

Engagement and Technical Communication James M. Dubinsky, J. Harrison Carpenter, 2023-04-14 This special issue on civic engagement and technical communication focuses on the ways educators can help students become actively engaged members of society particularly a rhetorical democracy The first essay examines the concept of community as a locus for civic engagement and question some of the definitions of community seen embedded in current pedagogical practices The next article seeks to shape understanding of practice The tension of developing students civic awareness and engagement is the topic of the third paper The fourth article helps students gain skills and organization awareness and improves the perceived relevance of the work The final two essays approach the issue of civic engagement from slightly different angles one examining the role of teacher as both rhetor and instructor and the other looking to the past for possible solutions for the future By continuing the conversation about the relationship between technical communication and the public good and focusing specifically on pedagogical strategies and their theoretical and historical underpinnings the authors in this special issue clarify roles that technical communication and technical communicators play in civil society as well as ways curricula can be shaped to prepare students to fill those roles

Peripheral Visions for Writing Centers Jackie Grutsch McKinney, 2013-04-15 Peripheral Visions for Writing Centers aims to inspire a re conception and re envisioning of the boundaries of writing center work Moving beyond the grand narrative of the writing center that it is a solely comfortable yet iconoclastic place where all students go to get one on one tutoring on their writing Grutsch McKinney shines light on other representations of writing center work Grutsch McKinney argues that this grand narrative neglects the extent to which writing center work is theoretically and pedagogically complex with ever changing work and conditions and results in a straitjacket for writing center scholars practitioners students and outsiders alike Peripheral Visions for Writing Centers makes the case for a broader narrative of writing center work that recognizes and theorizes the various spaces of writing center labor allows for professionalization of administrators and sees tutoring as just one way to perform writing center work Grutsch McKinney explores possibilities that lie outside the grand narrative allowing scholars and practitioners to open the field to a fuller richer and more realistic representation of their material labor and intellectual work

Environmental Preservation and the Grey Cliffs Conflict Kristin D. Pickering, 2024-02-15
Based on a qualitative ethnographic observational case study approach Environmental Preservation and the Grey Cliffs Conflict presents an analysis of the conflict negotiation between the U S Army Corps of Engineers and a local community that struggled to address a deteriorating Corps managed recreational lake area in Tennessee known as Grey Cliffs Viewing the dispute from the perspective of a new member of the community and a specialist in technical communication and professional writing Kristin Pickering provides a unique perspective on this communication process Though environmental degradation and unauthorized use threatened the Grey Cliffs recreational lake area to the point that the Corps considered closure community members valued it highly and wanted to keep it open The community near this damaged and crime ridden area needed help rejuvenating its landscape and image but the Corps and community were sharply divided on how to maintain this beloved geographic space because of the stakeholders different cultural backgrounds and values as well as the narratives used to discuss them By co constructing and aligning narratives values and ethos over time a difficult and lengthy process the Corps and community succeeded and Grey Cliffs remains open to all Focusing on field notes participant interviews and analysis of various texts created throughout the conflict Pickering applies rhetorical analysis and a grounded theory approach to regulation identity sustainability and community values to analyze this communication process Illustrating the positive change that can occur when governmental organizations and rural communities work together to construct shared values and engage in a rhetoric of relationship that preserves the environment Environmental Preservation and the Grey Cliffs Conflict provides key recommendations for resolving environmental conflicts within local communities especially for those working in technical and professional communication organizational communication environmental science and public policy
