Experiences for Positive Youth Development Marina Umaschi Bers,2012-03-02 Based on over a decade and a half of research this title aims to guide readers in the design of digital technologies to promote positive behaviours in children and teenagers Hearings United States. Congress. House,1946 Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations,1947 Why Youth Vote Bobbi Gentry,2017-12-01 This book examines the reasons why young people vote Viewing political behavior through a psychological lens this book uses psychological developmental models to test the theory of political identity development and explain how and why young people vote Rather than studying why young people do not vote as the majority of the literature does the book discusses the mechanisms and purpose behind youth voting Themes of the text include identifying how political identities develop in young people how leaders can contribute to identity development and how we can explain differences between young Independents who will vote and those who will not The first chapter engages the reader with the background for each theoretical element of the book and develops the argument for the book as a whole Three major substantive chapters discuss and test the theories of political identity development political leadership as identity role models and how we misunderstand political independence by not taking into account why young people might choose to identify as an Independent The final chapter discusses implications for upcoming elections and how this research might better inform people and institutions interested in increasing youth turnout to reformulate their approach An overarching discussion of identity and the political components of identity development this book will be of interest to political scientists studying public opinion and voting behavior campaigns and elections and political psychology as well as practitioners such as civic engagement and youth voting groups who wish to engage young people in the political process

The New Deal and American Youth Richard A. Reiman,2010-06-01 When President Franklin Roosevelt formed the National Youth Administration NYA in June 1935 he declared that it would address the most pressing and immediate needs of American young people In this book Richard A Reiman explores the various and sometimes conflicting ways in which the NYA planners and administrators defined those needs and attempted to answer them As Reiman notes the NYA was established to assist the millions of youth who during the Depression years were out of school out of work and ineligible for the New Deal s own Civilian Conservation Corps Contrary to popular belief he argues New Dealers did not envision the NYA primarily as a junior WPA a trigger for civil rights reform or a springboard for the careers of liberal administrators Rather its designers saw it as a reform agency that would advance and protect democracy by countering totalitarian appeals to young people and by equalizing educational opportunities for rich and poor Woven into the successive drafts establishing the NYA these twin purposes united the programs of planners as disparate as Aubrey W Williams Mary McLeod Bethune John Studebaker Eleanor Roosevelt Charles Taussig and FDR himself Like their separate agendas Reiman shows the planners shared concerns for democratic values were the products of thinking that had arisen during the Progressive Era a time when an awareness of the social effects of child development first occurred During the 1930s fears of fascism and totalitarianism added fuel to these concerns and shaped much of the nature of the NYA s prewar appeal Based on a wide range of sources including NYA related documents at the National Archives and at the Franklin D Roosevelt Library The New Deal and American Youth is the first full length study of this important agency By showing how the NYA served as an instrument for realizing so many New Deal ambitions it offers rich insights into both the NYA and the New Deal

Dramatic Global Population Growth Embraces the Growing Older Population Edward A McKinney,2018-11-16 The world is witnessing a dramatic demographic population growth explosion across all age groups that had it beginning around the early 1800s when the first billion people in population was recorded Most importantly has been an increasing growth in the older population Does population aging matter in the twenty first century Yes it matters because as research has pointed out the increasing older population globally will have a significant impact on all essential societal systems the family pensions and retirement and financial institutions as well as medical health and social systems This growth explosion or phenomenon will affect all continents countries and regions regardless of economic political and military power Causative factors for this global growth in population have come about primarily as a result of medical advances innovations agricultural development and the industrial revolution especially the development of railways seaways and highways A major emphasis of the book focuses on several very important factors the growing older population as aforementioned especially its impact on all of essential societal systems and the subject of ageism Ageism becomes extremely important considering that the growing older population the silver tsunami represents the new majority This new majority will no longer be ignored Gerontologists for years have attempted to call attention to the fact Expectations for old people are based on negative age stereotypes Members of American society generally expect and even encourage the aged to be asexual intellectually rigid unproductive ineffective and disengaged Seniors are supposed to stay out of the way sit in their rocking chairs and enjoy the golden years They are expected to be inactive invisible but happy Levin J and Levin W Ageism Prejudice and Discrimination Against the Elderly California Wadsworth Publishing 1941 pp 97 98 Speaking of being ignored why aren t more members of the older population involved at the decision making tables in shaping a society for all ages After all they would bring years of experiences skills knowledge and values for creating a society for all ages in the twenty first century with justice and human rights for all Currently there is a global movement with a goal of the eradication of ageism in all of its forms Some will recall from several decades ago the Grey Panther Movement in America with a similar mission of the eradication of all injustices at the time being experienced by the older population The current movement says The time is now not later One major social injustice being experienced by the growing old population globally is the lack of income security in old age including the lack of access to other essential services such as medical health and social including long term care More than 50 percent 51 percent of older persons globally do not have basic income security or a social pension in retirement A more alarming statistic is that in Sub Saharan Africa forty seven countries eight two percent 82.5 of retirees do not have a social pension Yes for the older population the new majority the time is now for correcting the aforementioned injustices Maybe what is needed is a human seismic force comprising the new majority to initiate a social movement with a goal of the eradication of all forms of ageism and ensuring that the growing older population will live in dignity and respect in later life including social protection pensions

The Future of Youth Violence Prevention Paul Boxer, Raphael Travis, Jr., 2024-12-13 The Future of Youth Violence Prevention A Mixtape for Practice Policy and Research focuses on innovative approaches to youth violence prevention that utilize consistent principles found within existing best practices but are dynamic and adaptable across settings and the sociohistorical and cultural realities of those settings This book features scholars anchored in applied practices who can ground these forward thinking strategies in the substantive base of research and theory that has produced successful interventions across multiple disciplines The scholarship and cutting edge thinking assembled in this volume could produce new era youth violence prevention coordinators prepared to serve in any setting including community outreach programs therapeutic group homes day reporting centers juvenile probation offices schools or clinics These coordinators will be able to cocreate intervention techniques using core prevention elements drawing from a range of ideas and a multitude of disciplines while embracing the assets and resources already in place

Globalization, Social Justice, and the Helping Professions William Roth, Katharine Briar-Lawson, 2011-04-28 This landmark book brings together the reality of globalization and the imperative for social justice for helping professionals and students Helping professions such as social work counseling and community building in non profit agencies NGOs and government and the people and needs they serve can no longer be understood outside a global framework While the very notion of helping professions entails a social justice perspective the relationship between the effects of globalization and the requirements of social justice have been missing from the literature education and practice of these fields This book provides an understanding of the economic and social dimensions of globalization how globalization increases the interdependence of nations the particular risks and opportunities it presents and how some aspects of globalization can exacerbate oppression and marginalization There are particular explorations of the challenges globalization presents in Africa and South America and a consideration of the special needs of children and families in the global context This is a necessary volume Its distinguished contributors have various perspectives on globalization but all write to inform and assist the work of those whose vocation is to help others
