perspectives and topics related to the general theme Women and Death from different periods and parts of Europe as well as the Middle East and Asia i.e. areas where through the ages there have been a constant interaction and discourse between a variety of people often with different ethnic backgrounds. The studies illustrate many parallels between the various societies and religious groupings despite of many differences both in time and space. The theme death is mostly seen from what have been regarded as the geographical margins of society as well as concerning the people involved women. Thus the articles most of them presenting original material from areas which are not very known for English readers offer new perspectives on the processes of cultural changes. The collection has important ramification for current research surrounding the shaping of a European identity the marketing of regional and national heritages. In connection with the present day aim of connecting the various European heritages and developing a vision of Europe and its constituent elements that is both global and rooted the work has great relevance. One may also mention the new international initiative on intangible heritage spearheaded by UNESCO.

Aggression in Pornography focusses on the issue of violence in mainstream pornography and examines what we know what we think we know and what are some surprising research findings and insights about the place of violence within pornography today. The authors first review the modern pornography industry theoretical claims about pornography as violence and the ways in which aggression has been defined and measured in previous research. Next they review the findings of empirical research on violent content in pornographic materials and the potential effects of such content on audiences. The main part of the book relies on systematically collected empirical data as the authors analyze the content of hundreds of pornographic videos as well as more than a hundred interviews with men and women who regularly watch pornography. These analyses provide surprising insights regarding the prevalence of and trends in violent content within mainstream pornography the popularity of violent and non violent content among viewers and variations in aggression by race and sexual orientation. As such Aggression in Pornography will be of interest to students and researchers in sociology gender and sexuality studies and media and film studies as well as to wider audiences who are interested in today's pornography industry and to policymakers looking to devise empirically driven policies regarding this industry and its potential effects.
