A Handbook on Low-Energy Buildings and District-Energy Systems L.D. Danny Harvey, 2012-08-21 Winner of Choice Magazine Outstanding Academic Titles for 2007 Buildings account for over one third of global energy use and associated greenhouse gas emissions worldwide Reducing energy use by buildings is therefore an essential part of any strategy to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and thereby lessen the likelihood of potentially catastrophic climate change Bringing together a wealth of hard to obtain information on energy use and energy efficiency in buildings at a level which can be easily digested and applied Danny Harvey offers a comprehensive objective and critical sourcebook on low energy buildings Topics covered include thermal envelopes heating cooling heat pumps HVAC systems hot water lighting solar energy appliances and office equipment embodied energy buildings as systems and community integrated energy systems cogeneration district heating and district cooling The book includes exemplary buildings and techniques from North America Europe and Asia and combines a broad holistic perspective with technical detail in an accessible and insightful manner

Global Street Design Guide Global Designing Cities Initiative, National Association of City Transportation Officials, 2016-10-13 The Global Street Design Guide is a timely resource that sets a global baseline for designing streets and public spaces and redefines the role of streets in a rapidly urbanizing world The guide will broaden how to measure the success of urban streets to include access safety mobility for all users environmental quality economic benefit public health and overall quality of life The first ever worldwide standards for designing city streets and prioritizing safety pedestrians transit and sustainable mobility are presented in the guide Participating experts from global cities have helped to develop the principles that organize the guide The Global Street Design Guide builds off the successful tools and tactics defined in NACTO's Urban Street Design Guide and Urban Bikeway Design Guide while addressing a variety of street typologies and design elements found in various contexts around the world

District Heating and Cooling Networks Antonio Colmenar Santos, David Borge Diez, Enrique Rosales Asensio, 2020-05-12 Conventional thermal power generating plants reject a large amount of energy every year If this rejected heat were to be used through district heating networks given prior energy valorisation there would be a noticeable decrease in the amount of fossil fuels imported for heating As a consequence benefits would be experienced in the form of an increase in energy efficiency an improvement in energy security and a minimisation of emitted greenhouse gases Given that heat demand is not expected to decrease significantly in the medium term district heating networks show the greatest potential for the development of cogeneration Due to their cost competitiveness flexibility in terms of the ability to use renewable energy resources such as geothermal or solar thermal and fossil fuels more specifically the residual heat from combustion and the fact that in some cases losses to a country region's energy balance can be easily integrated into district heating networks which would not be the case in a fully electric future district heating and cooling networks and cogeneration could become a key element for a future with greater energy security while being more sustainable if appropriate measures were implemented This book therefore seeks to propose an energy strategy for a number of cities regions countries by proposing appropriate measures supported by detailed case studies Energy Research Abstracts, 1990
