A History of Nigeria Toyin Falola,Matthew M. Heaton,2008-04-24 Nigeria

is Africa's most populous country and the world's eighth largest oil producer but its success has been undermined in recent decades by ethnic and religious conflict, political instability, rampant official corruption and an ailing economy. Toyin Falola, a leading historian intimately acquainted with the region, and Matthew Heaton, who has worked extensively on African science and culture, combine their expertise to explain the context to Nigeria's recent troubles through an exploration of its pre-colonial and colonial past and its journey from independence to statehood. By examining key themes such as colonialism, religion, slavery, nationalism and the economy, the authors show how Nigeria's history has been swayed by the vicissitudes of the world around it and how Nigerians have adapted to meet these challenges. This book offers a unique portrayal of a resilient people living in a country with immense but unrealized potential.

Colonialism, Slavery, Reparations and Trade
 Fernne Brennan, John Packer, 2012-03-12 Colonialism, Slavery, Reparations and Trade: Remediating the Past addresses how reparations might be obtained for the legacy of the Transatlantic slave trade. This collection lends weight to the argument that liability is not extinguished on the death of the plaintiffs or perpetrators. Arguing that the impact of the slave trade is continuing and therefore contemporary, it maintains that this trans-generational debt remains and must be addressed. Bringing together leading scholars, practitioners, diplomats and activists, Colonialism, Slavery, Reparations and Trade provides a powerful and challenging exploration of the variety of available legal relief, type, economic based and multi-level strategies and apparent barriers to achieving reparations for slavery.

The European Colonial Empires H. L. Wesseling, 2015-10-23 The nineteenth century was Europe's colonial century. At the beginning of the period the only colonial empire that existed was the British Empire. By the end of the century the situation was completely different and Europe's colonial possessions had come to constitute a large part of the world. The French had acquired an immense colonial empire and the Dutch had extended their control over Indonesia. Germany and Italy unified only in the latter half of the century had claimed their place under the sun. Even the tiny Kingdom of Belgium had acquired a huge colonial territory in Africa, the Belgian Congo. This is the first book to describe the whole process of colonization from conquest to pacification and to analyze it in the light of administrative, cultural and economic developments. The European Colonial Empires discusses a uniquely long period instead of merely focussing on the shorter accepted age of classical imperialism. Wesseling argues that European colonial expansion can be understood only by putting it into this long term perspective and by comparing the differences between the colonies in Africa, Asia, Oceania and the Caribbean. This book redresses the balance that privileges the British colonial and imperial experience. It emphasizes the continental European experience while relating developments to the British enterprise.

Wars Of Imperial Conquest Bruce Vandervort, 2015-01-28. First Published in 1998. The aim of this book is to examine the origins and conduct of colonial warfare in Africa in the late nineteenth century as far as possible from the perspectives both of the European invaders and the African resisters and in the process to demonstrate the impact both immediate and long term of these wars upon the societies, political structures and military theory and practice of both victors and vanquished. Vandervort has written this book with the student and general reader in mind. Scholarly apparatus has been kept to a minimum. The book which follows takes as its point of departure the belief that we have now reached a point in our understanding of the military history of the partition of Africa where it is possible to begin to draw some meaningful general conclusions.
