100 Years of Conference Interpreting Kilian G. Seeber, 2021-04-20. When Woodrow Wilson, David Lloyd George, Vittorio Emanuele Orlando and Georges Clemenceau met in Versailles in January 1919, they ushered in the modern era of multilateral diplomacy and perhaps inadvertently laid the foundation for a new profession. Indeed, communication among these statesmen was only possible thanks to the first conference interpreters. For the following 100 years, these interpreters would become a permanent fixture at all international multilateral conferences. As we celebrate one century of conference interpreting, this volume takes stock of some of the most important milestones throughout the history of this exceptional profession and looks at its future at a time when the global COVID 19 pandemic has transformed the world of international meetings. Thanks to its refreshingly interactive format, this volume gives a voice to different stakeholders in the world of conference interpreting today, including practitioners, managers, researchers and trainers. The result is a surprisingly candid and critical discussion of some of the most hotly debated topics in the world of conference interpreting.

Interpreter Training in Context Jie Liu, 2020-10-07 This book addresses an important yet under researched domain in interpreting education how theoretical training models should be responsive to context To do so it applies the linguistic concept of context to interpreting studies by investigating practices in representative conference interpreting training programmes in Europe and China After presenting an overview of interpreter training programmes the author describes the need to reassess the applicability of the well established and widely accepted model of interpreting from the Paris School ESIT AIIC model to the Chinese interpreting training scene Building on the theoretical study of context in foreign language classrooms suggested by linguists like Halliday and Hasan 1993 Kramsch 1993 and others the author subsequently constructs a new curriculum comprising a four step approach to consecutive interpreting courses in the Chinese context The rationale for such an approach is justified in accordance with the overall design of context taking into account the four dimensions in a teaching learning environment This book is intended for scholars and graduate students who are interested in translation and interpreting applied linguistics as well as foreign language education It also serves as a
