Conducting Research In Conservation Social Science Methods And Practice:

Conducting Research in Conservation Helen Newing, 2010-10-18 Conducting Research in Conservation is the first textbook on social science research methods written specifically for use in the expanding and increasingly multidisciplinary field of environmental conservation. The first section on planning a research project includes chapters on the need for social science research in conservation, defining a research topic, methodology and sampling. Section two focuses on practical issues in carrying out fieldwork with local communities, from fieldwork preparation and data collection to the relationships between the researcher and the study community. Section three provides an in-depth focus on a range of social science methods, including standard qualitative and quantitative methods such as participant observation, interviewing and questionnaires, and more advanced methods such as ethnobiological methods for documenting local environmental knowledge and change, and participatory methods such as the PRA toolbox. Section four then demonstrates how to analyze social science data, qualitatively and quantitatively, and the final section outlines the writing up process and what should happen after the end of the formal research project. This book is a comprehensive and accessible guide to social science research methods for students of conservation-related subjects and practitioners trained in the natural sciences. It features practical, worldwide examples of conservation-related research in different ecosystems such as forests, grasslands, marine and riverine systems, and farmland. Boxes provide definitions of key terms, practical tips, and brief narratives from students and practitioners describe the practical issues that they have faced in the field.

Conducting Research in Conservation Colin Watson, 2010 This is a textbook on social science research methods for use in the multidisciplinary field of environmental conservation. It is divided into five useful sections and illustrated throughout with practical examples of conservation-related research from different parts of the world.

Conducting Research in Conservation Helen Newing, 2010-10-18 This is the first textbook on social science research methods for use in the expanding and increasingly multidisciplinary field of environmental conservation. It is divided into five useful sections and illustrated throughout with practical examples of conservation-related research from different parts of the world: Europe, the Americas, Africa, Asia, Australia, and different ecosystems: forests, grasslands, desert, marine and riverine systems, as well as farmland and home gardens. It will be an invaluable tool in the training of the next generation of conservation professionals.

Fieldwork for Social Research Richard Phillips, Jennifer Johns, 2023-11-08 A step-by-step introduction to successful fieldwork, this guide will help you to plan, design, conduct and share your research. Packed with practical tools and real-world examples, it includes field-tested checklists for each stage of your research, a glossary with key highlighted terms, postcards from fieldwork experts providing global case studies, further reading that expands social theory into applied research, advice on effective virtual research within digital and hybrid settings, as well as face-to-face fieldwork. Clear, pragmatic and multidisciplinary, this is the perfect book to open your eyes, ears and minds to the world of fieldwork.

The Routledge Handbook of Research Methods for Social-Ecological

Systems Reinette Biggs, Alta de Vos, Rika Preiser, Hayley Clements, Kristine Maciejewski, Maja Schlüter, 2021-07-29 The Routledge Handbook of Research Methods for Social Ecological Systems provides a synthetic guide to the range of methods that can be employed in social ecological systems SES research The book is primarily targeted at graduate students lecturers and researchers working on SES and has been written in a style that is accessible to readers entering the field from a variety of different disciplinary backgrounds Each chapter discusses the types of SES questions to which the particular methods are suited and the potential resources and skills required for their implementation and provides practical examples of the application of the methods In addition the book contains a conceptual and practical introduction to SES research a discussion of key gaps and frontiers in SES research methods and a glossary of key terms in SES research Contributions from 97 different authors situated at SES research hubs in 16 countries around the world including South Africa Sweden Germany and Australia bring a wealth of expertise and experience to this book The first book to provide a guide and introduction specifically focused on methods for studying SES this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of sustainability science environmental management global environmental change studies and environmental governance The book will also be of interest to upper level undergraduates and professionals working at the science policy interface in the environmental arena Carbon dioxide removal: Perspectives from the social sciences and humanities Anders Hansson, Mathias

Fridahl, Miranda Boettcher, Shinichiro Asayama, 2024-07-09 Carbon dioxide removal CDR approaches are becoming increasingly central to visions of decarbonizing national economies The past few years have seen an increasing number of countries committed to net zero targets preceded by a surge of modelled 1.5°C scenarios envisioning large scale future CDR deployment The prospect of CDR deployment raises new complex socio ecological challenges and presents new deep uncertainties These complexities challenges and uncertainties cannot be investigated using solely the techno economic modelling and environmental risk assessment methods that currently dominate the construction of policy relevant knowledge on CDR Social sciences and the humanities perspectives on CDR are often restricted to instrumental tasks such as investigating public acceptance overcoming social resistance or supporting the development of integrated assessment models There is a need for more diverse investigations of CDR which include not only environmental and techno economic dimensions but also explore key societal complexities challenges and uncertainties Against this backdrop we call for submissions on CDR stemming from perspectives within the social sciences and humanities We encourage novel empirical and theoretical contributions on CDR related policy design or analyses of recent policy developments at sub national national and international levels of governance e.g. in context of climate targets and strategies climate tipping points mitigation deterrence or societal transformations Quantitative Studies in Green and Conservation Criminology Michael J. Lynch, Stephen F. Pires, 2019-07-17 During the early development and throughout the short history of green conservation criminology limited attention has been directed toward quantitative analyses of relevant environmental crime law and justice concerns While recognizing the importance of establishing a theory and terminology in the early stages of development this book redresses this imbalance The work features contributions that undertake empirical quantitative studies of green conservation crime and justice issues by both conservation and green criminologists The collection highlights the shared concerns of these groups within important forms of ecological crime and victimization and illustrates the ways in which these approaches can be undertaken quantitatively It includes quantitative conservation green criminological studies that represent the work of both well established scholars in these fields along with studies by scholars whose works are less well known and who are also contributing to shaping this area of research The book presents a valuable contribution to the areas of Green and Conservation Criminology It will appeal to academics and students working in these areas

Bats in the Anthropocene: Conservation of Bats in a Changing World Christian C. Voigt, Tigga Kingston, 2015-12-07 This book focuses on central themes related to the conservation of bats It details their response to land use change and management practices intensified urbanization and roost disturbance and loss Increasing interactions between humans and bats as a result of hunting disease relationships occupation of human dwellings and conflict over fruit crops are explored in depth Finally contributors highlight the roles that taxonomy conservation networks and conservation psychology have to play in conserving this imperilled but vital taxon With over 1300 species bats are the second largest order of mammals yet as the Anthropocene dawns bat populations around the world are in decline Greater understanding of the anthropogenic drivers of this decline and exploration of possible mitigation measures are urgently needed if we are to retain global bat diversity in the coming decades This book brings together teams of international experts to provide a global review of current understanding and recommend directions for future research and mitigation

Conservation Clive Hambler, Susan M. Canney, 2013-01-03 The importance of conservation is growing each year with increasing concerns over the destruction of biodiversity and the rising awareness of ecosystem services generating new debates on the human nature relationship This compact overview integrates the process theory and practice of conservation for a broad readership from non specialists to students and practitioners Taking a global perspective it uses examples from around the world to illustrate general themes and show how problems arise from the impact of societal trends on ecological communities A significant practical component will be particularly valuable for environmental professionals outlining the requirements for rigorous surveys biodiversity valuation the assessment of impact and its mitigation Thoroughly revised and updated this second edition reflects trends towards embracing multiple disciplines considering the links between ecology and the social sciences and bringing conservation to the heart of sustainability and environmental policy

Social Insecurity among the Vulnerable Groups in Tanzania Dr David Henry Kanyumi, 2024-10-28 Dr David Henry Kanyumi author of Social Insecurity among the Vulnerable Groups in Tanzania speaks from an authentic point of view to engage and inform readers of Tanzania s current social problems and how they can be fixed Here he provides a unique insight into the lives of everyone from street orphans to battered women as drawn from research and interviews Standing alone as his first book it takes readers into a country's seldom discussed areas Nature and Culture Sarah Pilgrim, Jules N. Pretty, 2010-09-23 There is a growing recognition that the diversity of life comprises both biological and cultural diversity But this division is not universal and in many cases has been deepened by the common disciplinary divide between the natural and social sciences and our apparent need to manage and control nature This book goes beyond divisive definitions and investigates the bridges linking biological and cultural diversity The international team of authors explore the common drivers of loss and argue that policy responses should target both forms of diversity in a novel integrative approach to conservation thus reducing the gap between science policy and practice While conserving nature alongside human cultures presents unique challenges this book forcefully shows that any hope for saving biological diversity is predicated on a concomitant effort to appreciate and protect cultural diversity Knowing our lands and resources Roué, Marie, Molnar, Zsolt, 2017-04-03 Integrating Traditional Ecological Knowledge into Ecology, Evolution, and Conservation Thiago Gonçalves-Souza, Rômulo Romeu Nóbrega Alves, Ulysses Paulino Albuquerque, Washington Soares Ferreira Júnior, 2022-10-05 What Anthropologists Do Veronica Strang, 2021-05-10 Why should you study anthropology How will it enable you to understand human behaviour And what will you learn that will equip you to enter working life This book describes what studying anthropology actually means in practice and explores the many career options available to those trained in anthropology Anthropology gets under the surface of social and cultural diversity to understand people's beliefs and values and how these guide the different lifeways that these create This accessible book presents a lively introduction to the ways in which anthropology's unique research methods and conceptual frameworks can be employed in a very wide range of fields from environmental concerns to human rights through business social policy museums and marketing This updated edition includes an additional chapter on anthropology and interdisciplinarity This is an essential primer for undergraduates studying introductory courses to anthropology and any reader who wants to know what anthropology is about Sacred Forests of Asia Chris Coggins, Bixia Chen, 2022-05-30 Presenting a thorough examination of the sacred forests of Asia this volume engages with dynamic new scholarly dialogues on the nature of sacred space place landscape and ecology in the context of the sharply contested ideas of the Anthropocene Given the vast geographic range of sacred groves in Asia this volume discusses the diversity of associated cosmologies ecologies traditional local resource management practices and environmental governance systems developed during the pre colonial colonial and post colonial periods Adopting theoretical perspectives from political ecology the book views ecology and polity as constitutive elements interacting within local regional and global networks Readers will find the very first systematic comparative analysis of sacred forests that include the karchall mabhuy of the Katu people of Central Vietnam the leuweng kolot of the Baduy people of West Java the fengshui forests of southern China the groves to the goddess Sarna Mata worshiped by the Oraon people of Jharkhand India the maelsoop and bibosoop of Korea and many more Comprising in depth field based case studies each chapter shows how the forest's sacrality must not be conceptually delinked from its roles in common property regimes resource security spiritual matters of ultimate concern and cultural identity This volume will be of great interest to students and scholars of indigenous studies environmental anthropology political ecology geography religion and heritage nature conservation environmental protection and Asian studies Human dimensions of animal translocations Carlos R. Ruiz-Miranda, Adriana Consorte-McCrea, 2023-03-28 Evolution, Ecology and Conservation of Lorises and Pottos K. A. I. Nekaris, Anne M. Burrows, 2020-03-19 The first book to present the latest discoveries on the behaviour ecology and evolutionary biology of lorises and pottos Reckoning and Framing Balázs Borsos, Fruzsina Cseh, Csaba Mészáros, 2023 It is necessary for every discipline to take stock of its own current state every 20-30 years Such review helps determine the discipline's path and tasks for the coming decades and it also facilitates reflection upon the changes and challenges of the scientific and non scientific world around it For this purpose the Committee of Ethnography of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences organized a series of conferences on the current state and the future of ethnography between 2018 and 2020 Those papers of international interest have been translated and are presented in this volume The first section discusses the dilemmas of ethnography ethnology as an independent discipline Articles in the second section provide a fresh perspective on the intrinsic interrelatedness of agriculture livelihood environmental perception and traditional ecological knowledge studied by Hungarian ethnographers The subsequent section scrutinizes research into and management of cultural heritage in Hungary and the role of ethnographic scholarship in safeguarding intangible heritage The volume closes with insightful case studies on when ethnographic situations experiences can be translated into meaningful social actions Stewardship of Future Drylands and Climate Change in the Global South Simone Lucatello, Elisabeth Huber-Sannwald, Ileana Espejel, Natalia Martínez-Tagüña, 2019-10-10 This volume integrates a conceptual framework with participatory methodologies to understand the complexities of dryland socio ecological systems and to address challenges and opportunities for stewardship of future drylands and climate change in the global south Through several case studies the book offers a transdisciplinary and participatory approach to understand the complexity of socio ecological systems to co produce accurate resource management plans for sustained stewardship and to drive social learning and polycentric governance This systemic framework permits the study of human nature interrelationships through time and in particular contexts with a focus on achieving progress in accordance with the 2030 United Nations Agenda for Sustainable Development The book is divided into four main sections 1 drylands and socio ecological systems 2 transdisciplinarity in drylands 3 interculturality in drylands and 4 the governance of drylands Expert contributors address topics such as pastoralism and the characteristics of successful agricultural lands the sustainable development goals and drylands dryland modernization and arid land governance with a focus on Mexico The volume will be of interest to dryland researchers sustainable development practitioners and policymakers Biodiversity and Health Serge Morand, Claire Lajaunie, 2017-11-27 There is a gap between the ecology of health and the concepts supported by international initiatives such as EcoHealth One Health or Planetary Health a gap which this book aims to fill Global change is accelerated by problems of growing population industrialization and geopolitics and the world's biodiversity is suffering as a result which impacts both humans and animals However Biodiversity and Health offers the unique opportunity to demonstrate how ecological environmental medical and social sciences can contribute to the improvement of human health and wellbeing through the conservation of biodiversity and the services it brings to societies This book gives an expansive and integrated overview of the scientific disciplines that contribute to the connection between health and biodiversity from the evolutionary ecology of infectious and non infectious diseases to ethics law and politics Presents the first book to give a broad and integrated overview of the scientific disciplines that contribute to health From evolutionary ecology to laws and policies this book explores the links between health and biodiversity Demonstrates how ecological sciences environmental sciences medical sciences and social sciences may contribute to improve human health
