Constructions Photographed Frédéric Chaubin, Storefront Gallery for Art and Architecture, 2007 Picturing Socialism J. R. Jenkins, 2020-12-24 This vibrant history of the former German Democratic Republic's public art reveals a barely known but visually and theoretically rich cultural legacy Picturing Socialism shows how works of art and design in the urban spaces of East Germany were the site of a sustained struggle between practitioners critics and political leaders This was not the oft assumed conflict between artistic freedom and political dogma at stake was the self identity of the republic as socialist Art and its relationship to architecture functioned as the testing ground for East Germany's relationship to socialist realism and modernism against the backdrop of Cold War competition from the neighbouring Federal Republic Picturing Socialism makes a timely contribution to the recent groundswell of interest in the legacy of East Germany's art and architecture illuminating and elucidating the public art which has been lost or remains under threat since unification in 1990 What We Are Fighting For Federico Campagna, Emanuele Campiglio, 2012-09-06 Shortlisted for the Bread and Roses Prize 2013 From the pens of major figures of the anti austerity movement comes the first radical collective manifesto of the new decade From participatory democracy to media reform from direct action to communal living What Are We Fighting For is a bold look at alternatives to the economic social and political travesty of contemporary capitalism Chapters from Owen Jones David Graeber John Holloway Nina Power Mark Fisher Franco Berardi Bifo and Marina Sitrin show a multifaceted but collective desire for a better world Anarchists communists feminists and autonomists come together to inspire us to think beyond neoliberalism Landscapes of Communism Owen Hatherley, 2016-03-01 When communism took power in Eastern Europe it remade cities in its own image transforming everyday life and creating sweeping boulevards and vast epic housing estates in an emphatic declaration of a noncapitalist idea The regimes that built them are now dead and long gone but from Warsaw to Berlin Moscow to postrevolutionary Kiev the buildings remain often populated by people whose lives were scattered by the collapse of communism Landscapes of Communism is a journey of historical discovery plunging us into the lost world of socialist architecture Owen Hatherley a brilliant witty young urban critic shows how power was wielded in these societies by tracing the sharp sudden zigzags of official communist architectural style the superstitious despotic rococo of high Stalinism with its jingoistic memorials palaces and secret policemen's castles East Germany's obsession with prefabricated concrete panels and the metro systems of Moscow and Prague a spectacular vindication of public space that went further than any avant garde ever dared Throughout his journeys across the former Soviet empire Hatherley asks what if anything can be reclaimed from the ruins of Communism what residue can inform our contemporary ideas of urban life Second World Postmodernisms Vladimir Kulic,2019-02-21 If postmodernism is indeed the cultural logic of late capitalism why did typical postmodernist themes like ornament colour history and identity find their application in the architecture of the socialist Second World How do we explain the retreat into paper architecture and theoretical discussion in societies still nominally devoted to socialist modernization Exploring the intersection of two areas of growing scholarly interest postmodernism and the architecture of the former socialist world this edited collection stakes out new ground in charting architecture s various transformations in the 1970s and 80s Fourteen essays together explore the question of whether or not architectural postmodernism had a specific Second World variant The collection demonstrates both the unique nature of Second World architectural phenomena and also assesses connections with western postmodernism The case studies cover the vast geographical scope from Eastern Europe to China and Cuba They address a wealth of aesthetic discursive and practical phenomena interpreting them in the broader socio political context of the last decades of the Cold War The result provides a greatly expanded map of recent architectural history which redefines postmodernist architecture in a more theoretically comprehensive and global way The Largest Art Brent D. Ryan,2017-10-27 Why urban design is larger than architecture the foundational qualities of urban design examples and practitioners Urban design in practice is incremental but architects imagine it as scaled up architecture large ready to build pop up cities This paradox of urban design is rarely addressed indeed urban design as a discipline lacks a theoretical foundation In The Largest Art Brent Ryan argues that urban design encompasses more than architecture and he provides a foundational theory of urban design beyond the architectural scale In a declaration of independence for urban design Ryan describes urban design as the largest of the building arts with qualities of its own Ryan distinguishes urban design from its sister arts by its pluralism plural scale ranging from an alleyway to a region plural time because it is deeply enmeshed in both history and the present plural property with many owners plural agents with many makers and plural form with a distributed quality that allows it to coexist with diverse elements of the city Ryan looks at three well known urban design projects through the lens of pluralism a Brancusi sculptural ensemble in Romania a Bronx housing project and a formally and spatially diverse grouping of projects in Ljubljana Slovenia He revisits the thought of three plural urbanists working between 1960 and 1980 David Crane Edmund Bacon and Kevin Lynch And he tells three design stories for the future imaginary scenarios of plural urbanism in locations around the world Ryan concludes his manifesto with three signal considerations urban designers must acknowledge eternal change inevitable incompleteness and flexible fidelity Cities are ceaselessly active perpetually changing It is the urban designer s task to make art with aesthetic qualities that can survive perpetual change Beyond Market Dystopia: New Ways of Living Greg Albo,Leo

Panitch,2019-12-23 Essays which aim to create a world of agency and justice How can we build a future with better health and homes respecting people and the environment The 2020 edition of the Socialist Register Beyond Market Dystopia contains a wealth of incisive essays that entice readers to do just that to wake up to the cynical implicitly market driven concept of human society we have come to accept as everyday reality Intellectuals and activists such as Michelle Chin Nancy Fraser Arun Gupta and Jeremy Brecher connect with and go beyond classical socialist themes to combine an analysis of how we are living now with visions and plans for new strategic programmatic manifesto oriented alternative ways of living

Described as cultural crossroads or mosaic powder keg border bridge or Europe s Other the region comprising former Yugoslavia has over time conjured up ambiguous imaginaries associated with political unrest national contest and ethnic divide Since the disintegration of Yugoslavia and the succeeding Yugoslav Wars of the 1990s both the geography and historiography of the region have been thoroughly reconfigured which has impacted the ways in which heritage is interpreted and used at local regional and national levels In this ongoing process of heritage re interpretation tourism is more than just a dark spectacle While it can be seen as a catalyst through which to filter or normalise dissonant memories it can also be utilised as a powerful ideological tool which enables the narrative reinvention of contested traditions and divisive myths Drawing on case studies from Bosnia Herzegovina Croatia and Kosovo this volume generates new and fascinating insights into the contested terrain of heritage tourism in former Yugoslavia It explores the manifold ways in which tourism stakeholders engage with capitalise on and make sense of sites and events marked by conflict and trauma Unlike many previous studies this book features contributions by emerging early career scholars emanating from within the region and working across disciplines such as anthropology art history geography and political studies This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Tourism and Cultural Change

Modern Architecture: A Very Short Introduction Adam Sharr, 2018-11-15 Somewhere between 1910 and 1970 architecture changed Now that modern architecture has become familiar sometimes celebrated sometimes vilified it's hard to imagine how novel it once seemed Expensive buildings were transformed from ornamental fancies which referred to the classical and medieval pasts into strikingly plain reflections of novel materials functions and technologies Modern architecture promised the transformation of cities from overcrowded conurbations characterised by packed slums and dirty industries to spacious realms of generous housing and clean mechanised production set in parkland At certain times and in certain cultures it stood for the liberation of the future from the past This Very Short Introduction explores the technical innovations that opened up the cultural and intellectual opportunities for modern architecture to happen Adam Sharr shows how the invention of steel and reinforced concrete radically altered possibilities for shaping buildings transforming what architects were able to imagine as did new systems for air conditioning and lighting While architects weren't responsible for these innovations they were among the first to appreciate how they could make the world look and feel different in connection with imagery from other spheres like modern art and industrial design Focusing on a selection of modern buildings that also symbolize bigger cultural ideas Sharr discusses what modern architecture was like why it was like that and how it was imagined Considering the work of some of the historians and critics who helped to shape modern architecture he demonstrates how the field owes as much to its storytellers as to its buildings

ABOUT THE SERIES The Very Short Introductions series from Oxford University Press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area These pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly Our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable

Secularist, Religious and Scientific Socialism Stefan Arvidsson, 2025-05-30 This book explores the various ways in which socialists have understood the relationship between their political beliefs and different religious and philosophical traditions Considering the rise of secularism and the view that politics and life stances are two very different spheres it moves to examine the thought of those who believed that faith and politics are as separate as night and day those who on the contrary believed that socialism rests firmly on a religious foundation and those who have argued that socialism's foundations are solidly scientific and therefore atheist. An examination of a range of perspectives on socialism as a political ideology, a deep conviction and even a form of faith. Secularist, Religious and Scientific Socialism explores the aesthetic, ethical and existential ideals that have ignited the hearts of socialists, describing in detail how these ideals have been expressed in political activism, cultural forms and ways of living. It will therefore appeal to scholars of intellectual history, political theory, political philosophy and cultural history with interests in socialism and religion.

Sanctioning Modernism
Vladimir Kulic, Timothy Parker, Monica Penick, 2014-06-01

In the decades following World War II, modern architecture spread around the globe alongside increased modernization, urbanization and postwar reconstruction, and it eventually won widespread acceptance. But as the limitations of conventional conceptions of modernism became apparent, modern architecture has come under increasing criticism. In this collection of essays, experienced and emerging scholars take a fresh look at postwar modern architecture by asking what it meant to be modern, what role modern architecture played in constructing modern identities and who sanctioned or was sanctioned by modernism in architecture. This volume presents focused case studies of modern architecture in three realms: political, religious and domestic, that address our very essence as human beings. Several essays explore developments in Czechoslovakia, Romania and Yugoslavia and document a modernist design culture that crossed political barriers such as the Iron Curtain more readily than previously imagined. Other essays investigate various efforts to reconcile the concerns of modernist architects with the traditions of the Roman Catholic Church and other Christian institutions. And a final group of essays looks at postwar homebuilding in the United States and demonstrates how malleable and contested the image of the American home was in the mid twentieth century. These inquiries show the limits of canonical views of modern architecture and reveal instead how civic institutions, ecclesiastical traditions, individual consumers and others sought to sanction the forms and ideas of modern architecture in the service of their respective claims or desires to be modern.

Between Solidarity and Economic Constraints
Christoph Bernhardt, Andreas Butter, Monika Motylinska, 2023-04-27

Until the end of the Cold War in 1990, building projects and architectural icons played an important role in the self-portrayal of the competing systems. However, as the current research shows, we also find a large variety of forms of cooperation between the East, the South and the West, not to forget the manifold cross-border entanglements within the South or the East. This book explores the intersection of two strands of research. On the one hand, interaction in the field of architecture and construction between actors from socialist countries and from countries of the Global South have increasingly won interest amongst historians of architecture and planning. On the other hand, in the context of the strongly emerging Cold War Studies, scholars have explored cooperation and circulation across the Iron Curtain with a focus on economic and research planning. This book connects perspectives of planning, construction and architectural design with those on economic interests and conflicts in projects and networks. Furthermore, it opens the view to the hubs of communication and exchange and on patterns of long-term transformation and appropriation of architecture      The Child in Cinema Karen Lury, 2022-08-25 This book brings together a host of internationally recognised scholars to provide an interdisciplinary perspective on the representation of the child in cinema Individual chapters examine how children appear across a broad range of films including Badlands 1973 Ratcatcher 1999 Boyhood 2014 My Neighbour Totoro 1988 and Howl's Moving Castle 2004 They also consider the depiction of children in non fiction and non theatrical films including the documentaries tre et Avoir 2002 and Capturing the Friedmans 2003 art installations and public information films Through a close analysis of these films contributors examine the spaces and places children inhabit and imagine a concern for children's rights and agency the affective power of the child as a locus for memory and history and the complexity and ambiguity of the child figure itself The essays also argue the global reach of cinema featuring children including analyses of films from the former Yugoslavia Brazil and India as well as exploring the labour of the child both in front of and behind the camera as actors and filmmakers In doing so the book provides an in depth look into the nature of child performance on screen across a diverse range of cinemas and film making practices      Modern Architecture Adam Sharr, 2018 Adam Sharr tells the story of how modern architecture developed and produced its powerful cultural images Considering the new building materials and techniques which shaped the movement such as innovations in steel and concrete and the advent of air conditioning he concludes by asking whether contemporary architecture remains modern at heart
